ROOSEVELT GUEST OF BELGIAN KING

PRAISES HOST'S COUNTRY.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

BRUSSELS, April 28.—Theodore Roosevelt was the guest of Belgium today. The former president of the United States met King Albert, and they exchanged cordial greetings, later driving together from the Brussels exposition to Laaken palace and spending an hour in the gardens.

The Belgian people gave Col. and Mrs. Roosevelt and their children a warm welcome on their arrival from Paris at noon. After luncheon at the American embassy and a reception for the American colony Col. Roosevelt visited the exposition.

The king had insisted upon an arrangement whereby he could drive alone with his American guest from the exposition to Laaken palace. They were recognized and cheered all along the route, a distance of about seven miles.

Brussels flutters with flags from one end to the other and wears a thoroughly festal air in honor of its whirlwind visitor.

"Sound of Revelry by Night."

Mr. Roosevelt finished his busy day by attending the burgomaster's reception at the hotel de ville. The beautiful salons of the hotel, with their rich treasures of paintings, tapestries, and carvings, were thronged with the burgomaster's guests. Not far from here was the scene of Byron's famous lines:

There was a sound of revelry by night,
And Belgium's capital had gathered then
Her beauty and her chivalry, and bright
men.

The burgomaster had collected the fair and the brave of Brussels. The band played and a gay throng strolled through the beautifully decorated old chambers. Many of the women and practically all of the men wore evening dress. Roosevelt, returning from the royal dinner party at Laaken, arrived at 10:10. He was received by the burgomaster and conducted around the salons by four servants. He left at 10:20.

Luncheon a Chaotic Rush.

The legation luncheon and reception were an unpunctual, chaotic rush.

Mr. Roosevelt often complains that people writing him on this trip forget there are only twenty-four hours in a day. He seems to overlook the fact himself, occasionally, when drafting a day's program. The luncheon today was timed to begin at 1:30, but Roosevelt did not arrive until 2:15, and the reception guests began streaming in at 2:30 sharp. All Brussels was there, including the members of the American colony and diplomatic corps.

He was attired in deepest mourning, wearing a black suit, tie, and overcoat with a mourning band around his hat to within an inch of the top. This was because the court still is in mourning for King Leopold.

The exhibition, which still is incomplete, was well filled for the first time since it opened. In the big, bare hall where the reception took place about 3,000 people jostled each other uncomfortably after a severe fight to get in. Crowds of ticket holders were turned away from the various entrances.

Calls Him "Mister President."

A large crowd outside gave Roosevelt a hearty cheer as he entered the hall, in which was a large platform filled with notabilities of Brussels, members of the American legation, and the municipal authorities. The mayor made the usual glowing speech of welcome, addressing Roosevelt as has been the case everywhere as "Mister President."

Roosevelt found out this morning that he had been announced to deliver a regular set speech. He was forced to send word to the mayor that nothing of the kind was ready, and he could only say a few words, speaking in English. Still when he stood up, after making his usual explanation in French that his knowledge of that language was so bad he was obliged to speak in English, he managed to talk for forty minutes without apparent effort.

Predicts Greater Future.

After a short glance at Belgian history from the days of the middle ages, Roosevelt fell back on his Sorbonne lecture, giving the Belgians extracts from it, for the most part dealing with the duties and virtues of the average citizen. He concluded with a glance at the Belgium of today, when it is one of the great commercial powers of the world, and he prophesied a still greater future, dating from the exposition and the new reign.

Incidentally, referring to the exhibition directors, who were responsible for the reception there, Roosevelt said:

"Any nation, including my own, which has not supported it has made a great mistake."

All this time the king had been invisible to the greater part of the audience, but when Roosevelt sat down the king's tall form was seen ascending the platform from the front. He wore a plain, dark blue uniform, with small gold epaulettes. He wore no orders of any kind. He held his hat in his hand and shook hands warmly with Roosevelt. He talked animatedly for a short time on the platform, then took Roosevelt through a private entrance at the back of the platform to an automobile, the two walking arm in arm.

Compares Roosevelt to Evangel.

PARIS, April 28.—French panegyrics of Mr. Roosevelt increase. A feature in a morning newspaper is a laudatory article by Pastor Charles Wagner, in which he compares Mr. Roosevelt's Sorbonne speech with the preaching of the evangel.

Mr. Wagner points out that the phrase, "Property was made for man, and not man for property," is only a paraphrase of the dictum that "the Sabbath—that is, religion—was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath."

Mr. Wagner goes on to show that the inspiration for the entire speech came from the gospels, and that, in the words of Jesus, "Whosoever will be chief among you, let him be your servant," Mr. Roosevelt found the stimulating influence for his great oration on the duties of a citizen in a republic.

Truth

is still stranger than fiction—as much so today as when the saying was given to the world.

No vivid, breathless romance ever invented was half so fascinating as the true stories you may read every day between the lines of Tribune want ads.

When you lay aside a stirring romantic novel, "Oh, if such things only came true in everyday life!" you sigh. When you read the human interest stories that throb between the lines of The Tribune's little want ads, you know that the half has not been told.

Newspaper readers everywhere are waking up to the pleasure—and profit—to be found daily in The Tribune's classified columns.

BRINGS ON A NEAR-RIOT.

New York, April 28.—[Special.]—The joint banquet committee of the Associated Press and the American Newspaper Publishers' association in their invitation to Mayor Gaynor to be the guest of honor at their annual dinner tonight at the Waldorf-Astoria told the mayor they wanted him to speak freely and unrestrainedly. He went to the dinner with a carefully prepared speech in which he said William R. Hearst was guilty of two felonies, forgery and falsification of a public record. He charged the proprietor of the New York Journal and American with printing on April 15 a photograph of a draft for $48,000 drawn to the order of Daniel F. Cohalon of Tammany hall, the date of which had been left off with the idea of discrediting the Gaynor administration.

The instant the mayor concluded his slow, emphatic reading of one of the most savage speeches ever fired off in the grand ballroom of the Waldorf and resumed his seat, impassive and tight lipped as usual, Thomas T. Williams, publisher of the Evening Journal and a close personal friend of Hearst's, jumped up on the table.

Pale with rage and swinging his fists within three feet of Mayor Gaynor's nose, Williams demanded to be heard in defense of Hearst.

Outburst Changes Scene.

There were 700 men in the banquet room, editors and publishers from all over the United States. The balcony boxes bloomed like a flower garden with the brilliant gowns of women guests. Before Tom Williams exploded out of his chair, the dinner had been serene, with the calm broken only by the popping of champagne corks or by the laughter that followed the jokes of Nat Wright of Cleveland, the toastmaster. With the uprising of the big angry Williams the whole scene changed.

Angry, indignant, excited, or merely curious, half the 700 shoved forward for the trouble center, while in the boxes the women were shivering with excitement. There was a steady roar of voices, over which Williams' shouts rose high. The banqueters tried to yell him down. Toastmaster Wright pleaded with him. Melville E. Stone consulted with Mayor Gaynor, who shook his head, showing no more emotion than a stone man. Oscar, manager of the hotel, was sent for. House detectives flocked in. There were cries for the police. Williams couldn't be budged.

Faces Storm of Yells.

For half an hour Williams faced a storm of yells and threats, standing in front of the guest table, or on a chair directly in front of the mayor. The management of the hotel was in a quandary. They tried to get permission to put Williams out, but neither the toastmaster nor anybody in authority in the two associations would say the word.

The turmoil was unceasing. Finally Adolph S. Ochs, proprietor of the New York Times, got Williams's consent to speak for him. Not half a hundred persons heard Ochs say that since Hearst wasn't present to speak for himself, and since Mayor Gaynor was a guest of the associations, the mayor couldn't be answered at that time, but that Mr. Hearst would reply to him later.

Nobody had a hint of what the mayor had brought in the acceptance of the invitation to cut loose, no matter what happened or who was whacked. There was no suggestion in Mr. Gaynor's manner that he had a torpedo in his inside breast pocket. It was noticed he did not laugh, even when Nat Wright freed some of the newest jokes in the middle west, jests that always have got a hand. He sat stern and stiff backed and conversed little.

The mayor was introduced as "If not the next standard bearer of the Democratic party, at least a splendid executive and a charming gentleman."

Mayor Starts His Speech.

"You have given me the subject 'The Press in Its Relation to Public Officials' and told me to speak plainly and freely; that that is what you want; that your object in associating together is to improve the press," said Mayor Gaynor. "Those having power should exercise it justly, kindly, and moderately. That makes their acts all the more effective. I measure my words in saying your power for good is immense.

"Your power for evil is not as great as some may think. That is especially so when any of you deliberately try to do evil by falsehood or mere scandal. The public official who tries his best to do right and who knows how to do right (for both of these essential things do not always exist in the same public official) cannot be hurt by you. Some may abuse him, even lie and forge about him, but they are powerless to hurt him. You can neither make nor unmake an honest and competent official.

"The press, as a whole, is just to public officials. When the election is over its wholesome wish is to see that the one who is elected gives good government and to help him to do so. In that just frame of mind you often forbear much. This is true of all honest and unselfish publishers and editors.

"Disgrace Upon Journalism."

"But if a publisher or editor be himself a perennial officeseeker he may desire to assassinate every one whom he thinks in his way, and then, alas, what a disgrace he brings upon journalism. It is painful to mention such exceptions and to speak of their acts, but we should not shrink from doing it in a kindly spirit and for the sake of good.

"You expect me to be plain and not abate a jot or a tittle. A newspaper proprietor or editor who is simply bent on cutting throats is an awful spectacle. In no nook or corner of his head or heart is there the slightest sense of truth or justice. We may pity him, but cannot in the interests of public morality and decency remain silent about him.

"Let me illustrate by mentioning one thing out of many. As late as April 15 W. R. Hearst printed in his principal newspaper here the facsimile of a draft on the treasury of this city for $48,000 with headlines and an

PATTEN FACES COTTON DELUGE

200,000 BALES ARE READY.

Sellers Can Deliver $14,000,000 Worth All at Once for Cash.

It can be stated authoritatively that Mr. Patten obtained the larger proportion of the money necessary to finance his cotton deal from England and Germany.

This explains his recent trip across the ocean, which became necessary when he learned that at least two banks in New York could not see the situation from his point of view.

Mr. Patten has all the money necessary to pay for all the cotton he has bought. The only course left open to him is to merchandise it, and this he is prepared to do.

New York, April 28.—This is the eve of the greatest test, perhaps, that bull operators in cotton have ever faced. Tomorrow is the first notice day for May contracts, and it is estimated that 200,000 bales of cotton, representing a money value of $14,000,000, are piled up in New York and vicinity ready for delivery to the bull leaders.

Most prominent among these are James A. Patten of Chicago, Eugene Scales of Texas, and Messrs. Hayne and Brown of New Orleans, whose operations have been made the subject of federal inquiry.

Mr. Patten is personally on the ground and, in his own words, "is ready to take all the cotton tendered—and pay cash for it."

With the approach of notice day it had been expected by many that an unprotected short interest would be discovered, thereby causing a sharp advance. But during today's trading there was nothing to indicate the existence of any important interest in May which was not prepared to deliver cotton some time between now and the end of that month.

Market Shows Nervousness.

In consequence the market showed considerable nervousness on the part of the smaller May longs, who had been holding on to their contracts in the hope of an advance on covering by speculative shorts, and the market during the day experienced a break as a result of liquidation.

There are few in the trade, apparently, who doubt the ability of the bulls to take all cotton tendered them on notices, but it is doubtful, of course, if all the cotton brought here will be delivered at once.

100,000 Bales Delivered in 1909.

A year ago last January the entire local stock changed hands, but only about 100,000 bales were involved, and the money value was nowhere near so great as that represented by the present deal.

Patten said this afternoon:

"I am ready to take all the cotton that is tendered to me and pay for it. What Scales and Brown are going to do I don't know. It is none of my business. I am here to attend to my own business. They bought cotton and I bought cotton, and we never have had any agreement to work together. I have not the least idea how much cotton is going to be tendered to me, and I don't say how much I have bought. I don't look, however, for any excitement in the market."

Artist Leavitt Threatens Trouble for Divorced Wife.

WANTS HIS TWO CHILDREN.

Says He Will Stop Nuptials if No Other Course Is Open.

Columbus, O., April 28.—"I want those children, and if there is any law in God's world to help me get them, I will have them. I do not want the woman, but if no other means will avail, I will take legal steps and invoke the aid of the court to prevent the marriage of Ruth Bryan Leavitt to Reginald Owen."

So said William Homer Leavitt tonight. The notice in the newspapers of the approaching marriage of his former wife came as a complete surprise to him. He said tonight the only information he ever had had of a divorce was such as he had seen in the public prints.

May Go to Fairview.

Mr. Leavitt declares in case he receives no direct word from Nebraska he will leave here in time to reach Fairview before the ceremony can take place. He declares he will not hesitate to stop the ceremony if that proves the only way for him to gain possession of the children.

"The publication of the impending marriage is, I think, a miscarriage of the Bryan plans," said Mr. Leavitt. "I have seen it printed that William Jennings Bryan offered me $20,000 not to contest any suit that might be brought. I will say that Mr. Bryan or no member of his family ever gave me a cent or ever had cause to do so.

Thought Children Were in Germany.

"We had two children. Since I have been in Columbus Mrs. Leavitt has sent word that she and the children were comfortably settled in Hanover, Germany, and that the children were in kindergarten."

Mr. Leavitt said of his marital unhappiness:

"It started in Denver, which was our home after we were married. She met there the man whom it is said she is now about to marry. She is of a peculiar mentality and nervous disposition. When I thought that wrong influences were reaching her we moved. Then she wanted me to give my written consent for her to spend a year in a sanitarium for nervous treatment."

As soon as the intruder left the room she called to other members of the family and the man fled through a rear door. A diamond brooch, diamond ring, and several articles were taken.

FALLS VICTIM TO RESEARCH

WENT TO STUDY DISEASE.

Chicago University Professor Wins Scientific Renown.

Dr. Howard L. Ricketts of the University of Chicago is dangerously ill in Mexico City of typhus fever, a disease he went south to study. His wife is at his bedside. She made the trip hurriedly on hearing a week ago his illness was critical.

At the American hospital, Mexico, last night it was stated that the condition of Prof. Ricketts was as favorable as could be expected, although he was not out of danger.

Dr. Ricketts went to Mexico last December to study typhus fever following successful investigations made a year ago of Rocky mountain spotted fever. He returned to his Chicago residence early in March satisfied with the results of his experimentation and spent a few weeks here.

Returns and Falls Victim.

Hardly had Dr. Ricketts returned to his work when he was taken ill. His situation became so serious last week that his wife was summoned.

Dr. Ricketts has been a member of the University of Chicago faculty since 1902. He was graduated from the Northwestern university medical school in 1897, and was made fellow in cutaneous pathology at Rush Medical college, and in 1899 entered the department of dermatology.

His study of the Rocky mountain spotted fever first attracted attention in the scientific world. The success of these researches came to the notice of the University of Pennsylvania which offered him a full professorship at that institution.

Insists on Continuing Study.

Dr. Ricketts accepted with the condition he be permitted to continue his investigation of fevers until next fall. He already had begun his study of the Mexican typhus fever and he wished to prosecute his research to its conclusion.

At the Ricketts residence, 1360 East Fifty-eighth street, a member of the family said the scientist took great precaution against the fever. Though the disease marked the opening of a new field to him, he had made a long study of it before actual contact with it.

It was said his caution might have relaxed on his second trip to the southwest after escaping contagion the first time.

Stiebing was a bookkeeper and lived at 115 Elm street. He was 25 years old. His father, Henry Stiebing, lives at 4015 North Ridgeway avenue.

USE C. & W. I. GRAFT IN LOBBY BRIBES?

ATTORNEY FIELD'S REPORT.

RECALL LEGALIZING OF BONDS.

Did a portion of the "graft" taken from the coffers of the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad go to influence legislation in the Illinois general assembly and the Chicago city council?

In a bill for injunction which was filed late yesterday afternoon by John C. Fetzer in the Superior court against the railroad company, Benjamin Thomas, and Charles R. Kappes, there was precipitated a situation which may involve questions of bribery in both the council and the legislature.

The bill, which was drawn by the law firm of Mayer, Meyer, Austrian & Platt, asks that the railroad be enjoined from the collection—from Fetzer—of the $525,000 which Fetzer and his associates were ordered on March 18 to return to the company by ex-Judge E. C. Field, vice president and general solicitor for the railroad.

Charges Flaw in Decision.

Mr. Field's decision was in connection with the fraud charged against Fetzer, Thomas, and Kappes in the $850,000 real estate scandal which has been submitted to the railroad's solicitor for arbitration.

Now Mr. Fetzer has made Messrs. Thomas and Kappes parties to his injunction suit on the ground that Mr. Field, in a finding which is made public for the first time in the form of an exhibit appended to Mr. Fetzer's bill, failed to apportion the amounts that each should pay.

The Field finding, which practically puts it up to Fetzer, Thomas, and Kappes to explain what became of $212,000, contains strongly worded intimations of fraud.

It refers to an alleged defense made by Messrs. Fetzer, Thomas, and Kappes to the effect that portions of the money were used for securing the passage of house bill 777, which crept through the legislature in 1907 and which had for its object the validation of the $50,000,000 bond issue of the road.

Blocking of Kensington Act.

Upon outside information to the effect that allegations had been made involving claims that money was used in connection with the blocking of a city ordinance in connection with the Kensington and Eastern Illinois railroad (the Illinois Central) at Hegewisch, and in connection with the yards of the Western Indiana at Fifty-first street, these yards occupying and using a portion of Fifty-first street, a reporter for THE TRIBUNE at night asked Mr. Field what he knew about it.

The response of the road's solicitor was that the matters in question had been mentioned in the course of the inquiry as to the conduct of Messrs. Fetzer, Thomas, and Kappes. He said, however, that he never heard any names of lawmakers mentioned, and that he refused to pursue the matter of a "slush fund" on the grounds that inasmuch as confession was made of the use of money for purposes "which no law would tolerate," he concluded simply that the expenditures of money by Messrs. Fetzer, Thomas, and Kappes were without legal warrant, being unauthorized by the board of directors, or by the directors as individuals.

Arbiter Field in his report mentions three items of credit aggregating $212,000, of which Mr. Thomas is said to have disbursed $122,000, Mr. Fetzer $60,000, and Mr. Henley $30,000.

Quotes Letter from Delano.

In his bill for injunction, Mr. Fetzer refers to F. A. Delano, one of the directors of the railroad, in connection with having house bill 777 introduced into the legislature and pressed for passage. Mr. Fetzer's bill quotes the following "confidential" letter to which is appended Mr. Delano's name:

> Confidential. March 1, 1907.
> Mr. B. Thomas, President and General Manager C. & W. I. R. R., Chicago—Dear Sir:
>
> I inclose herewith a letter from Mr. C. N. Travous, which explains itself.
>
> This is written as a result of a conference Mr. Travous had with Judge Henley at the time we sold our notes to the Boston parties. I believe we should, in a quiet way, get the legislation which Judge Henley and our counsel concluded is desirable. It is a bad thing to have something of this kind brought up by the bankers every time we do any negotiating for the sale of securities. It might give us very serious trouble.
>
> We had a case on the Burlington where a rather unscrupulous lawyer got hold of a technicality of this kind and gave us a great deal of trouble. Yours very truly, F. A. DELANO.

Strange History of Bill.

House bill No. 777, to which reference is made in connection with the expenditures of the Thomas-Fetzer crowd, was drawn by former President Wm. J. Healy and introduced at the close of a day's session in 1907. It escaped notice for twenty-four hours, and after it was found it was fully two days before its purport was even dimly understood. It then was discovered to have some connection with the validating of Western Indiana bonds, the amount of the bonds at stake not being definitely understood.

No announcement concerning the real purpose of the bill was made until investigation in the secretary of state's office narrowed the number of railroads which possibly could benefit from it down to two, of which the Chicago and Western Indiana was one.

It was then admitted that the latter road was the one involved and it was explained that a defect in the bond issue which was purely technical was preventing the sale. At this time it was discovered the bill was put in at the request of Speaker Shurtleff.

The speaker asserted that the bill simply was for the purpose of validating bonds which had been issued in consideration of the merger of three Chicago railroads in 1882. The bonds were said to be owned by the Illinois Trust and Savings bank.

Before the passage of the bill the discovery was made that the measure had been drawn by Mr. Henley, at that time general counsel for the Western Indiana. It also was discovered that the measure validated the $50,000,000 bond issue.

With these disclosures Mr. Henley came to the front in support of the bill. He said the purpose of validating the bonds was to get money to rebuild terminals and hinted at the erection of a $25,000,000 passenger station.

Reason for Secrecy.

When the bill and the interest behind it had been pretty well identified the reason for the secrecy with which it had been invested at first was explained as arising from a desire to prevent "the misuse of an opportunity by unscrupulous members of the assembly, if there were any such in that session. Mr. Shurtleff assured the passage of the bill in the house by his personal connection with it.

When it was on second reading he gave the gavel to Representative Charles Allen and took the floor to assure the members that the persons asking for the passage of the bill asked merely for an act of justice and that, although the circumstances were such as did not warrant detailed discussion, he could give the house his personal word that the bill had nothing in it which could not stand the most rigid scrutiny, and that it was an act of plain, everyday duty on the part of the house to give the relief sought.

There were some protests, but not many, and the bill was passed. Its course through the senate was comparatively smooth.

Ordinance Had Close Shave.

The Kensington and Eastern ordinance, which also is brought to notice now by the Field ruling and the Fetzer bill, had as narrow escape from final defeat on the floor of the council as any franchise that has been up for action in recent years. The Western Indiana interest would appear to have been to defeat this ordinance. It was put to a vote three times in the spring of 1909 before it finally was passed. Informal charges were made by represetatives of the Illinois that the "gray wolves" opposed it because they had not been "seen."

Finally the measure was adopted by the following vote:

Denies He Was Interested.

Mr. Fetzer, in his bill, declares that in no way was he interested, financially or otherwise, in the passage of house bill 777, and took no part in the attempt to have the tracks eliminated. Mr. Fetzer denies having disbursed money for legislative purposes, under the direction of Mr. Thomas or otherwise. Mr. Fetzer states that he had no right to, nor did he inquire for what purposes such disbursements were made, and that if disbursements were made for unlawful acts, he (Fetzer) cannot be held responsible.

Mr. Fetzer further declares that the finding against him by Mr. Field in reference to the alleged unwarranted expenditures was not warranted by any evidence given to Mr. Field at the hearing of March 12, 1909. Mr. Fetzer declares that Mr. Field's findings were made upon evidence submitted to him privately concerning other expenditures for similar purposes made by the railroad.

Mr. Fetzer says that he was not an agent of the road, but was under an agreement to secure pieces of land desired by the road and to sell it to the road at a price, including his profit. The road was not under obligation to buy the land after he had secured control of it unless it desired to do so.

Delano as Kappes' Patron.

Mr. Kappes, according to Mr. Fetzer, was in the employ of the road under Mr. Delano. Mr. Delano introduced Mr. Kappes to Mr. Fetzer as being worthy of hire by Mr. Fetzer because of peculiar knowledge as to the needs of the road, the stipulation being that Mr. Kappes' remuneration should come from Mr. Fetzer.

Mr. Fetzer complains that Mr. Field was an unfit arbiter on account of his close connection with the road. In reply to this charge and in the course of a general interview on the subject Mr. Field at night said:

"I didn't want to be the arbitrator, but I was pressed to do so. I accepted the office of arbitrator reluctantly. This bill is a surprise to me. I thought the affair was settled."

"Were excuses offered to the effect that money was used politically in connection with the Kensington and Eastern Illinois, the Western Indiana yards at Fifty-first street, house bill 777, and the Plymouth court matter?" asked the reporter.

"All of them were mentioned, but I didn't go into the political part of it, and I didn't hear the names of any legislators or councilmen mentioned. I would have gone into it had I not been certain that there was no authority from the directors, and, consequently, no legal authority, to spend the money the way Thomas Fetzer and Kappes did. Personally I don't believe there was any bribing of legislators or aldermen."

Opinion Traces Alleged Plot.

Arbiter Field's findings, brought to light as an "exhibit" in the Fetzer bill, though themselves hitting squarely at Fetzer, trace the whole of the alleged plot between Thomas, Fetzer, and Kappes. The Field opinion, which awards the railroad $525,000 in payment of its claims against the three defendants, deals at length with the details of the real estate transactions—nearly 150 in all—to show how the alleged frauds were accomplished, and sustains the allegations made in the original bill for an accounting. The language is unsparing in its condemnation of the three defendants and equally so in its characterization of the methods by which the $212,000 is said to have been expended for "a confessedly unlawful purpose."

The opinion sets forth at the start that an agreement was entered into between the defendants and the railroad whereby the sums in dispute was reduced to $425,000 plus the difference between what Fetzer paid for the title and leasehold of the so-called Corkery property and $700,000. This difference is found by the arbiter to have been $100,000, and is therefore added to the $425,000 to make up the amount of the award.

Alleged Method in "Kiting" Land.

One of the principal methods by which Fetzer is alleged to have "kited" the price of lands purchased by him, through "dummy" mortgages, is as follows:

"I shall deal with some of the transactions, but few of them, as illustrative of Mr. Fetzer's conduct in substantially all of the transactions. Thus the Keller-Hafer case: In this Mr. Fetzer receipted a voucher for $275,000. A check was given him for this amount, which he cashed on April 26, 1907, two days after the check was given. Mr. Keller deeded his coal yard to Mr. Peters, a partner of Mr. Fetzer. On the same day Hafer also conveyed his coal yard to Mr. Peters. Afterward, in May, Peters conveyed the property acquired from Keller and Hafer to the Western Indiana company. Mr. Fetzer returned to that company Keller's receipt for $200,000, of date May 8, with a letter in which he said, 'the balance is held in escrow and I will send you receipt as soon as the deal is closed.'

"On May 8 Mr. Fetzer writes: 'Inclosed herewith find receipt of Henry Hafer for $75,000, which, with the receipt of Mr. Keller sent you yesterday, accounts in full for the voucher of $275,000.'

"On this same day Mr. Fetzer makes a written report showing that Mr. Peters, his partner, has put three mortgages on the property, aggregating $325,000, and that the property was purchased subject to said mortgages. The record shows that these mortgages were executed April 27, 1907, one day after the title passed to him from Keller and Hafer. It will be noted that here Mr. Fetzer was mistaken when he wrote of the date May 8 'the balance ($75,000) is held in escrow and I will send you receipt as soon as the deal is closed.'

"It is clear that this deal had been closed twelve days when this letter was written, and the deed had been in his partner's hands for that length of time. In accordance with the provisions of the mortgage the Western Indiana was given an option to satisfy the mortgages in Western Indiana bonds.

"The mortgages were satisfied on June 5, 1907, by the delivery of $325,000 of Western Indiana bonds. It is in evidence that these bonds were, in January, 1910, in the possession of Mr. Thomas. The coupons thereof were deposited to his own credit and the deposit slips with his name upon them were turned into the trustee under the mortgage.

What Became of Bonds.

"I do not deem it material as to what became of these bonds, nor whether Mr. Thomas held them or not, as the evidence indicates, except as this evidence may indicate collusion between Messrs. Fetzer and Thomas.

"The pivotal question is how did it come that Mr. Peters, after the deal had been closed with Keller and Hafer, and they had received their money and given their receipt therefor, that Mr. Peters, a naked trustee of the Western Indiana company, could after he had thus become invested with an unencumbered title at his own will put $325,000 mortgages on this property and then convey to the Western Indiana company subject to said mortgage liens.

"Under the law Peters was absolutely without authority in that behalf and that act was a glaring fraud. Can it be expected that such culpability can be accounted for in any way except as the act of a dishonest agent?

"Such practices are appalling and can find no lodgment in the judgment or conscience of any honest man. This transaction evinces a disposition and purpose on the part of Mr. Fetzer to outrage and defraud the Western Indiana company. The same disposition and purpose runs through practicaly all the deals I have considered."

Rakes Them Fore and Aft.

One scathing paragraph in Mr. Field's summing up, in reference to acts by Edward H. Peters, Mr. Fetzer's partner, says:

"Under the law Peters was absolutely without authority in that behalf, and that act was a glaring fraud. Such practices are appalling and find no lodgment in the judgment or conscience of any honest man. This transaction evinces a disposition and purpose on the part of Mr. Fetzer to outrage and defraud the Western Indiana company. The same disposition and purpose runs through practically all the deals I have considered. The Cobb, the Hegewisch deal, and the Corkery deal (a transaction in which bribery was charged by Mr. Field) furnish the same marked evidence of his infidelity."

Rules There Was a Conspiracy.

In conclusion Arbiter Field says:

"I am, from these considerations and others that might well be discussed, forced to conclude that in fraudulently obtaining the sum of $525,000 heretofore found there was a conspiracy existing between Benjamin Thomas, John C. Fetzer, and G. R. Kappes, parties hereto, and that on these facts and under the law they are jointly liable for the payment of said sum to the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad company.

"I have already fully indicated my conviction that there was complicity and combination existing between Mr. Thomas and Mr. Fetzer for the purpose of defrauding the Western Indiana company in these real estate purchases. I deem it without merit to extend the discussion as to that issue. I am clearly convinced that both are jointly liable. Both under the facts presented and the law there can be no fair escape from this conclusion.

"I have no hesitation in holding that Mr. Fetzer was throughout these different transactions the agent of the Western Indiana company, and I so find."

By the terms of the award the amount was to have been paid by the deposit of securities with George M. Reynolds, president of the Continental National bank of Chicago, within ten days from the date of the award, March 18.

Mr. Thomas is living in his country place at Midlothian, near the Midlothian Country club, but refused to be seen at night.

FIELD'S REPORT FINDS:

Such practices (as those he says he has found in the Fetzer-Thomas deals) are appalling, and find no lodgement in the judgment or conscience of any honest man. This transaction (the Hafer-Keller purchase) evinces a disposition and purpose on the part of Mr. Fetzer to outrage and defraud the Western Indiana company. The same disposition and purpose runs through practically all the deals.

"Dummy" mortgages were placed on property purchased for the railroad.

The company's own money was used to destroy the usefulness of the company's trusted agent, that his "perception was obscured, his alertness paralyzed, and his ability rendered inoperative by the munificent amount of money paid him by Mr. Fetzer during the period of his fraudulent transactions, with money which was not Mr. Fetzer's money, but that of the Western Indiana."

"I (Field) am forced to conclude that in fraudulently obtaining the sum of $525,000 heretofore found, there was a conspiracy existing between Benjamin Thomas, John C. Fetzer, and G. R. Kappes, parties hereto, and that on these facts and under the law, they are jointly liable for the payment of said sum to the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad company.

J. C. FETZER'S CHARGES:

1. Attorney Field's decision accusing Fetzer of forgery and fraud in the $850,000 real estate scandal followed false testimony. That Field was prejudicially influenced, and that Field's finding was illegal.

2. Field was disqualified to arbitrate differences in claims because of his close connection with the railroad.

3. Field wrongfully charged him (Fetzer) with being an agent of the road, while in reality he, Fetzer, was merely selling land to the railroad as an independent dealer.

4. Field wrongfully decided that he, Fetzer, should return to the railroad money alleged to have been used in illegal expenditures to secure the passage of house bill 777 and "similar matters." The "similar matters" develop as allegations that money was used to secure aldermanic and legislative favors in connection with the blocking of the Kensington and Eastern Illinois railroad at Hegewisch, the attempted elimination of the General Electric railway tracks in Plymouth court, and the yards of the Chicago and Western Indiana at Fifty-first street.

5. F. A. Delano, president of the Wabash railroad and a director of the Western Indiana, in a "confidential letter," suggested that the passage of house bill 777 be obtained "quietly," and was instrumental in having the bill introduced and pressed for passage.

ROOT TALKS OF NATIONS' LAWS

New York Senator Declares Even Criminals Have Rights.

ALL PERSECUTIONS TO END.

Topic Interests Because of Central American Cases.

Washington, D. C., April 28.—No violation of law can deprive a citizen in a foreign country of the right to protection from the government of his own country, declared Senator Root tonight in delivering his annual address to the American Society of International Law, of which he is president.

"One is always entitled to insist," he continued, "that he shall not be punished except in accordance with law, or without such a hearing as the universally accepted principles of justice demand. If that right be denied to the most desperate criminal in a foreign country his own government can and ought to protect him against the wrong.

Peoples Get to Better Understanding.

"Happily, the same causes which are making questions of alien protection so frequent are at the same time bringing about among all civilized peoples a better understanding of the rights and obligations created by the presence of the alien in a foreign country.

"Discussions between governments upon complaints of wrong to their citizens tend more and more to relate to questions of fact, upon the determination of which accepted and settled rules readily can be applied. And in all nations the wisdom and sound policy of equal protection and impartial justice to the alien are steadily gaining acceptance in the remotest parts and throughout even the least instructed communities."

Topic Holds Unusual Interest.

The topic was of peculiar interest in view of the energetic attitude assumed by the state department under his administration as secretary and since, under Secretary Knox, in asserting the right to protect Americans not only in their lives, but in property and business rights in Central America.

BOY IN KNICKERS HOLDS SENATORS

OPPOSED TO DEPEW BILL.

Graybeards Listen Respectfully to Juvenile Juggler of Large Words.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., April 28.—[Special.]—Grave, gray bearded members of the senate committee on commerce listened today with respectful attention to the arguments of a 13 year old boy in knickerbockers whose head barely topped the table which separated him and his dignified auditors.

The youthful orator was William E. D. Stokes Jr. of New York, and his theme was wireless telegraphy and telephony. He is president of the Junior Wireless Club of America, Ltd., and he is opposed to certain features of the Depew bill, which provides for government regulation of wireless telegraphy.

Master Stokes said the members of his organization were amateur wireless telegraphers, all of tender years. He told the committee that the boys favored a nominal license fee for wireless operators, the license to be revocable for "malpractice."

Boy Juggles Big Words Well.

The boy lobbyist's voice was youthful, but his words were those of a grown man and a scientist and his hearers smiled broadly at hearing him roll fluently from his tongue the polysyllabic technical branches of his craft. However, they paid respectful attention to his arguments and appeared impressed by what he said.

When he had finished his argument against the bill the boy turned prophet. He said that in ten years it would be possible for persons on land to communicate with distant points by wireless.

"If a man has an automobile breakdown twenty-five miles from home, ten years from now," he said, "all he will have to do will be to take out his wireless kit, call up his butler, and tell him he will not be home to dinner."

Says Foreigners Lead U. S.

Master Stokes also informed the members of the committee that foreign nations were far ahead of the United States in the development of wireless telegraphy, and blamed the era of wireless stock exploitation this country has experienced. He said there were between 25,000 and 40,000 boys in the United States interested in wireless telegraphy and expressed the belief that their experiments would prove of great value to the nation in the future.

Young Stokes is the son of the proprietor of the Ansonia apartment hotel in New York, and will be remembered as the first person to devise a receiving box for the interception of wireless telephone and telegraph messages.

This device was perfected in September, 1906, on the roof of his father's hotel. It was the result of long and secret experiments in which the boy was unaided. When his invention was examined by wireless experts they pronounced him an electrical prodigy.

BOY ENDS LIFE TO ESCAPE MOB

Rutherford, N. J., April 28.—To prevent capture after a vicious attack on Miss Anna Kipp, 17 year old daughter of a bank cashier, Clarence Wood, 19 years old, barricaded himself in the Rutherford Boat club today and for five hours fought off a posse of police and deputy sheriffs. With his stronghold surrounded and riddled with bullets and surrender the only alternative, Wood ended the struggle by firing a bullet into his temple, dying almost instantly.

During the fusillade Charles Smith, chief of police of Carlstadt, N. J., was shot three times and was reported dying tonight. The girl was painfully, though not seriously, hurt.

During the fight 1,500 persons were attracted to the scene and several barely escaped injury by bullets from Woods' rifle.

Think Youth Became Insane.

Wood, a member of a good family, always had borne an excellent reputation, and his outbreak is to be explained only on the theory that he became suddenly deranged.

Wood and Miss Kipp had an engagement to join a boating party today. They were the first to arrive at the boat club and while waiting for the others Wood suddenly attacked the girl with a club. She managed to escape, although painfully beaten, and spread an alarm.

When Chief Smith and several officers reached the club the youth had barricaded the place and armed himself with a repeating rifle. Smith fell at the first exchange of shots, with bullets in his arm, shoulder, and hip. Quickly a posse was organized and laid siege to the clubhouse, but Wood held it at bay.

Dies as Deputies Start Rush.

A force of deputies with a boat finally managed to gain a point of vantage in the rear of the club, which made Woods' position untenable. But as they started a rush a shot within the house told that the battle was over.

Inside the boat club the officers found a scene of wreckage. More than fifty bullets had penetrated the walls, every window had been shattered, while Wood had added to the destruction by demolishing all the canoes, boats, and furnishings of the place with an ax.

Village Must Keep Off Property.

Judge Walker in the Circuit court yesterday granted an injunction restraining the authorities of the village of Winnetka from entering the grounds about the residence of Edward B. Burling. Burling stated that the authorities had threatened to lay a street across a portion of his property.

Enjoy Your Meals

By Simply Eating A Little Pleasant Tablet After Each of Them.

A Tablet Digests a Meal. Trial Package Free.

When digestion is perfect the fluids necessary to this process come naturally to the aid of the stomach. They are of right proportion and do their work speedily and well. When indigestion and dyspepsia are prevalent, these same juices come slowly if at all, are weak and insufficient or are filled with strong acids and alkalies.

When such a condition exists each meal is a hardship upon the digestive organs. The meal should strengthen the juices, but on the contrary it weakens them, so that man by the very act of eating causes conditions to arise which of themselves bring him pain and loathing for the next meal.

By eating one of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets you mix the tablet with your saliva and it goes into your stomach a strong, vigorous fluid, many times more powerful than the natural digestive juices. These tablets are made up from natural vegetable and fruit essences and are composed from Hydrastis, Golden Seal, Lactose, Nux, Aseptic Pepsin and Jamaica Ginger. There is the formula and one grain of it will digest 3,000 grains of food in any stomach. Besides digesting the food it will give the blood the power to enrich the digestive fluids so after a time nature will take care of itself. Though you have no stomach trouble one of these tablets after each meal is a powerful assistance to nature and is an excellent habit to make.

Go to any druggist and ask his opinion of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. We will abide his answer if he be an honest man. They sell for 50c per package. Send us your name and address and we will send you a trial package by mail free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 150 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

CHARGE BIG LOSS IN COPPER STOCK

$2,000,000 PUT UP HERE.

Western Men Accused of "Rigging" Company Say They Are Innocent.

Chicagoans who bought stock and bonds to the amount of more than $2,000,000 were instigators of an intervening petition for a receivership of the Penn-Wyoming Copper company filed in the United States District court at Cheyenne on Wednesday, in which a $10,000,000 fraud was charged. For two years the Investors' association of the Penn-Wyoming company has been investigating the corporation's tangled affairs.

It is asserted by some of the local investors that Gov. B. B. Brooks of Wyoming has promised that the state's machinery will be set to work to aid them because of the black eye the commonwealth has been given by the manipulations, which are alleged to have included an extensive stock rigging campaign.

Among those in the Investors' association resident in Chicago are Taylor A. Snow, 60 South Central avenue, Austin; George Hutchison, 882 North Forty-first court; D. M. Provan, 716 Milwaukee avenue, the latter two being among the complainants, and Fred A. Nichols, 2036 Jackson boulevard, and John Schafer, 482 North Pine avenue.

All the charges of irregularity are denied by men prominent in the company living in the west.

Result of Two Years' Work.

The petition represents the two years' labor of Attorney Willard A. White of Chicago for the Investors' association, involving many trips to Wyoming, and was precipitated by the act of the promoters, who, it is charged, transferred all holdings, including eleven subsidiary companies, to a new corporation, the United Smelters, Railway, and Copper company, and then threw the latter into a receivership, Isaac N. Pennock of Cleveland being appointed on petition of A. L. Hawse of Clarksburg, W. Va.

Chicago, according to Attorney White, was the chief marketing point for stock, although persons in every section of the United States and many residents of England were purchasers. The headquarters here were at [illegible] Washington street and 834 Monadnock building, and the total sales were estimated at $20,000,000. Some of the issues were sold as low as 30 cents a share and as high as $1.25, but the average was about 90 cents.

The receiver was appointed on Jan. 25 last on a claim that the United company's indebtedness was $1,057,146.12, while the investors' petition asserts it was not more than $150,000.

The men charged with "rigging" the Penn-Wyoming company are Hawse, Pennock, the receiver; Frank B. Draper, a New York attorney formerly of Chicago; Eugene N. Cobb of Pennsylvania, E. A. Norton, Cripple Creek, Colo.; Willis George Emerson, known in Chicago, Denver, and Los Angeles as promoter and author; Joseph Seep of the Standard Oil company, John S. Carey, a mining machinery manufacturer of Denver, and many others. The last three named, it is said, have not been active in the company for several years.

History of the Company.

The Penn-Wyoming company was the successor to the North American Copper company, and the complaint states Cobb, Norton, and Draper in November, 1904, organized the Equitable Securities company under the laws of Illinois, and, being the executive committee as well of the copper company, they made the contract whereby the Penn-Wyoming should sell to the new company 4,000,000 shares of stock at 30 cents a share. It is asserted that nearly 2,500,000 shares were taken and sold by the securities company at prices ranging from 50 cents to $1.25 a share.

Further fraud is charged in the purchase of the Ferris-Haggarty, or Rudefeha mine, one of the most noted copper properties in Wyoming. It is claimed in the petition that the price paid was $300,000 but that the nominal consideration was $1,000,000 and that the difference was "wholly fictitious and a secret profit to the board of trustees of the Penn-Wyoming Copper company and those associated with them."

In January, 1909, it is averred, the company issued first mortgage bonds to the amount of $2,500,000, secured by mortgages and bonds of the subsidiary companies, and it is believed the American Trust and Savings bank of Chicago still holds a large part of them.

Charges Made in Petition.

The executive committee and its members are charged with having "managed and mismanaged its and their affairs for the ultimate and primary purpose of selling stock of Penn-Wyoming copper through the Equitable Securities company, for their own wrongful profit and advantage."

They are charged with declaring dividends of one-half of 1 per cent a month when no dividends were earned, as the properties are shut down during each winter, being, the petition states, "fraudulently and wrongfully paid for the purpose of leading the public to believe that said Penn-Wyoming company was earning large sums of money over and above its expenses."

In the autumn of 1908, the petition states, the public ceased to buy Penn-Wyoming stock and false circulars were issued about the company's properties in vain, and so in February of the following year the United Smelters Railway and Copper company was organized by residents of Grand Encampment, Wyo., site of the smelters.

They later transferred the concern to Norton, Cobb et al. The smelter concern had a capital stock of $10,000,000, with a preferred issue of $2,500,000. That same month the Penn-Wyoming company held its annual meeting at Grand Encampment and by their own stock and "proxies fraudulently obtained," it is alleged, conveyed all the properties of the concern to the United.

URGES INDUSTRIAL INSURANCE.

Prof. C. R. Henderson Points Need of Protection for Workmen in Address to Rotary Club.

"When you starve the mother and her babe you are taking away the energy the business man needs in the manufacture of goods. Capital power rises or falls with industrial ability."

That was the keynote of an address on the "Employers' Liability Law" delivered by Prof. C. R. Henderson before the Rotary club in the rooms of the Press club last night. Prof. Henderson urged that something be done in the way of industrial insurance for the crises in the workingman's life.

The present liability law, he said, made it a pure case of gamble with the workingman on a lawsuit.

ROCKFORD TO "WHIP" CHICAGO.

Charge Is Made Voters Sent from Here Made City Wet and Residents Want Revenge.

Charges that "the big, wicked city of Chicago" sent to Rockford many of the voters who voted the place wet at the last election were made last night by Frank S. Regan, former state representative from Rockford, at the closing session of the Cook County W. C. T. U. institute in Moody church. Because of this, Rockford, he said, intends to seek revenge and "will whip Chicago," and will start a fight throughout the state to vote the saloons out of this city. He prophesied that Chicagoans some time will be ashamed to register from here when they go away.

Fasting has gained such sway at Lake Forest university that girl students, as well as boys, are giving their stomachs vacations. Laura Cowley is one of the young women to abstain. After completing a five days' fast yesterday, she said:

"With the exception of extreme weakness I have suffered no inconvenience. I advise fat women, who want to reduce to fast a few days at a time. It is great and most effective."

Bentley Barbour is the boy who fasted in order to save money with which to buy a grand opera ticket. A friend, who contributed $3, relieved him of the necessity of further abstinence.

Baer fasted five days, ending Wednesday, and declared himself greatly benefited. He weighed 240 pounds when he started and weighs only 208 pounds now.

YOUNG PREACHERS END STUDY

DIPLOMAS ARE GIVEN TO 28.

J. A. McDonald of Toronto Addresses the Ministers.

Theological discussions from the pulpit on knotty doctrinal problems are not what men wish to hear from ministers of the gospel. This was one of the conclusions stated by J. A. McDonald, member of the Canadian parliament and editor of the Toronto Globe, in an address to graduates of the McCormick Theological seminary last night.

The exercises were held in the Church of the Covenant and twenty-eight graduates received diplomas. The subject of Mr. McDonald's address was "The Place of the Prophets in the Reign of the People."

"There is no place in the world for the man without a message and without power," said Mr. McDonald. "It is not higher criticism of the Bible and learned dissertations on the knotty theological problems, which have occupied hours of study, that the people want. It is the real heart message they want and need.

"When I think that with one drop of ink a thought may be printed and that that thought will be read by thousands, I become serious in asking, 'Has the press supplanted the preacher?' It has not. As democracy has supplanted monarchy and aristocracy, so the preacher must come to be a power and a force.

Message of the Preacher.

"We laymen may understand that after grappling with questions of politics and economics, the preacher has a message for us from a higher power, a heart message that it is his function to give."

Dr. J. G. K. McClure, president of McCormick seminary, presided at the exercises, and Dr. Samuel J. Nichols, president of the board of directors, gave a brief address. The winners of prizes for the year were announced as follows:

F. W. SOLON ADMITS HE DRANK.

But Suspended Assistant Street Chief Says There Were Extenuating Circumstances.

An admission that there was basis for some of the charges against him was made by Frank W. Solon, the suspended first assistant superintendent of streets, through his attorney, Edgar B. Tolman, before the civil service commission yesterday.

"Mr. Solon will admit," said the lawyer, "that he was irritated and made a fool of himself by drinking some whisky, but we shall show there were extenuating circumstances."

The principal testimony of the day was given by Supt. Frank W. Fowler, who related the manner in which the efficiency bureau had shown that the street cleaners under Solon's supervision were loafers and then told how his subordinate attacked him after his suspension. The hearing will be resumed on Monday.

NEW BANKS SOON TO OPEN

Date for Lorimer Institutions May Be Announced Tonight.

SENATOR MAY HEAD BOTH.

List of Stockholders Not Yet Filed with Authorities.

Officers and the opening date of Senator William Lorimer's new banks—the La Salle Street National and the La Salle Street Trust company—are scheduled to be announced tonight after a meeting of the directors. It is understood in local financial circles that the senator will be president of both institutions, although there has been no official information. Directors, one of the vice presidents, and the cashier already have been named.

The opening was intended for next Monday, but may be delayed a week, so that the staff may be familiarized with their duties. Part of the checks and other printed matter was received yesterday. The list of stockholders has not been filed, neither for the trust company with the state auditor at Springfield, nor for the national bank with the controller of the currency at Washington.

Each of the banks has a capital of $1,000,000, subscribed at $125 for each share of $100 par, so that each will have a surplus of $250,000. They will occupy the quarters in the Rookery building, where formerly was the Corn Exchange bank.

DR. E. G. HIRSCH GOING ABROAD.

Will Speak to New London Congregation and on Continent—Sinai Temple Building Plans.

Dr. Emil G. Hirsch of Sinai temple yesterday announced that he is about to leave for Europe to fill lecture engagements.

"On May 8 I expect to be in London to deliver a lecture," said Dr. Hirsch. "An independent Jewish congregation similar to Sinai temple is being organized there and I have been asked to go over. Next I am to deliver lectures in Berlin, Germany, upon the subject of Jews in America. My plans provide for about six weeks' absence unless the time is extended."

Building permits for Sinai congregation's new structures at Forty-sixth street and Grand boulevard were taken out at the city hall during the day. These call for a three story brick church to cost $200,000 and a gymnasium to cost $100,000.

MISS HESLER EXPECTS FIANCE.

Dr. Robnett, Ordered to Cedar Rapids, Ia., May Stop Off in Chicago.

Mrs. Frederick Hesler of Evanston and her daughter, Dorothy, are anticipating a visit from Surgeon A. S. Robnett of the United States navy when he passes through Chicago on his way to Cedar Rapids, Ia., where he is to act as a recruiting officer.

"We would be pleased to have Dr. Robnett visit us," Mrs. Hesler said.

WANTS CITY TO SAVE TREES

AUTHORITIES FAVORABLE.

Matter Will Be Referred to Committee of Council.

R. R. McCormick, president of the sanitary district, yesterday appealed to the city council special parks commission to aid in a movement to make a park district of Jefferson park in order that Peterson's woods, which he greatly admires, may be preserved as a natural beauty spot.

The commission received the suggestion favorably and will send the communication to the city council with a recommendation that it be referred to the committee on state legislation with the purpose of obtaining the passage of a bill necessary for the addition of another park district to Chicago's preserves.

Made Request in Letter.

After mentioning the manner in which the woods had attracted his attention during the surveys of the course of the north shore channel through their midst, Mr. McCormick wrote:

"These are the only natural woods left in Chicago. Because of the natural beauty of this place we have removed the excavations from the channel and have left no spoil banks. The land is fairly low, so there will be only from seven to ten feet of bank above the water's edge. It appears that this land should be set aside for park purposes, and, indeed, that the rest of the old woods should be incorporated in a district with it."

Makeup of the Commission.

The commission announced its organization for the coming year with the committee chairmen as follows:

Finance—A. W. Beilfuss.
Playground—George L. Pfeiffer.
Parks—Jens Jensen.
Bathing beaches—A. M. Liebling.
Metropolitan parks—Fred Greeley.
City plan—Francis T. Simmons.
Donations—Clarence Buckingham.
Coöperation with board of education—Alfred Urion.
Street planting—Theodore K. Long.

In his desired action, according to Mr. McCormick's letter, the council will have the support of both the Lincoln park and the West park boards, either one of which would have taken the initiative in the matter had it not been believed that the territory was outside both jurisdictions.

PUT CASUALTY PROSECUTION UP TO CITY AND GOVERNMENT.

West Virginia Lawyer Will Report to Attorney General on Consolidated—Illinois Not Interested.

Prosecution of former officers of the Consolidated Casualty company on charges of extravagance following the disclosures by the state insurance department of West Virginia may be started shortly both in Chicago and Washington, according to information received last evening from Charleston, W. Va., and Springfield, Ill.

Attorney General Wickersham will be put into possession today of the facts concerning the administration of Robt. B. Armstrong of Chicago as president, and A. S. Mitchell of Chicago as secretary of the company. John S. Darst, ex-officio insurance commissioner of West Virginia, will take to Washington reports bearing upon the investigation of the Consolidated.

The decision to present the evidence to the Washington authorities came after the West Virginia attorney general gave an opinion in which he held that prosecution proceedings would lie with federal or Illinois officials.

Superintendent of Insurance Potter said in Springfield he had no jurisdiction in the matter of prosecution. The company, he said, never had a charter in Illinois. He said it would be within the jurisdiction of the Cook county authorities to start prosecution.

REPUBLICANS SEE A CRISIS IN PARTY

Peace or War in Balance at Close of State Leaders' Conferences.

DENEEN SEES FRIENDS.

Lorimer Says He Wants Harmony; C. H. Harrison to Run Independent?

"War or peace" hung in the Republican balance last night after a day of conferences in which Gov. Deneen and United States Senator Lorimer were centers, without coming in touch with each other. The governor received his friends at the Union League club. The senator spent most of the day at the offices of his new La Salle Street National bank in the Rookery building.

"A possibility of peace, but a probability of war," was the conclusion of an onlooker at the close of the day's proceedings. The uncertainty, it was noted, was due to the legislative situation, where Gov. Deneen stands by his Springfield speech to the editors in convention and will insist upon the election of lawmakers pledged to go into party caucuses and to abide by the results. Both Senator Lorimer and Speaker Shurtleff were elected by a combination of Republican and Democratic votes in a legislature that was Republican in both branches.

Hurburgh Calls on Governor.

Among the governor's callers was State Senator Charles F. Hurburgh of Galesburg, who with Senator W. Clyde Jones of Chicago—if the latter decides not to run for congress against James R. Mann in the Second district—will be prominent in organizing the senate at Springfield, provided a majority is with the state executive. It was stated that the task of downstate fence building was lined out.

Gov. Deneen declined to explain how he intended to carry out his demands for the election of noninsurgent Republicans who would stand by caucus decisions at Springfield. Some of those who "bolted" and aided in the election of Speaker Shurtleff in spite of the Republican caucus choice of Representative E. J. King were Representatives Hope and Nelson from Busse territory on the north side and Representatives Beck, Troyer, and Erickson from the northwest side.

Lorimer Wants United Party.

"There will be no fight if I can help it," said Senator Lorimer after reading "war" stories in the afternoon papers. "The Republicans of Cook county have too severe a contest ahead of them with the Democrats to permit a split because of factional differences. Where does all this talk of 'war' come from?

"When I say I am for peace I have in mind the entire Cook county situation—the legislative offices as well as the county. Yes, I recollect Gov. Deneen's Springfield speech to the editors, but I do not understand that therein he meant to declare his opposition to all Republican legislators who voted for me. His address is susceptible of more than one interpretation."

State Senator Frank H. Funk of Bloomington was in the city, and it was said an announcement of his candidacy for congress to oppose Congressman John A. Sterling at the Republican primaries in the Seventeenth district probably would be announced in a few days. Mr. Sterling has been a pro-Cannon "standpat" lawmaker and Mr. Funk would make his appeal as a progressive.

Ask Ap Madoc to Oppose Mann.

State Representative W. Tudor ApMadoc received several delegations of constituents, who urged him to run against Congressman Mann in the Second district primaries. He gave no answer, but it is probable he will enter the race if Senator Jones decides to retain his seat at Springfield.

Among Democrats there was heard gossip of the possibility that Carter H. Harrison would decline to go into the Democratic primaries next spring, so that he may be an independent candidate for mayor. Several of his lieutenants fear he cannot secure a "square deal" in the primaries. The Democratic county committee will meet next Tuesday evening and first steps may be taken toward framing a slate for county offices.

OPPOSES CITY PARDON BOARD.

Brundage Says Plan Would Be Costly and Favors the Present Scheme.

Corporation Counsel Brundage yesterday criticised the recommendation of the Municipal court for the creation of a city board of pardons instead of leaving bridewell releases in the hands of the mayor.

"Such a board would have to be a continuous body," he said, "and regular sessions would have to be held every day.

"I am confident all the releases in the last year have been deserved. A police and court report is obtained and, when necessary, a special investigation is made. It is the best plan."

FIVE "L" PLANS SUBMITTED

Ways by Which Problem May Be Solved Offered by Commission.

WORK SIMMERED DOWN.

Only Engineering Feature Thus Far Considered.

Detailed plans—to the number of five—for settlement of the elevated loop difficulties were laid before the city officials and the directorates of the elevated roads yesterday by the commission appointed by Mayor Busse to consider the subject.

No agreement or individual expression on the advantages of any one plan over the others could be found, but in the fact that the hazy ideas presented by the numerous informal discussions of the last few years had been boiled down so that they could be shown in five blue prints the first advance toward a final settlement of the old congestion trouble was seen.

Five Plans in Outline.

In outline the five plans are:

1. Through routing Northwestern and South Side elevated trains while looping the trains of the Metropolitan and Oak Park lines.
2. Through routing Northwestern and South Side trains, looping the trains of the Metropolitan and Oak Park lines, but routing a portion of the Metropolitan trains on the Humboldt Park and Logan Square branches so as to enter the loop via Lake street.
3. Through routing the Northwestern and South Side trains, and the Metropolitan and Oak Park trains. To facilitate this operation a connection between the Metropolitan and Oak Park lines at Paulina or Market street is proposed. Part of the Metropolitan trains on the Humboldt Park and Logan Square branches would enter the loop via Lake street.
4. Loop operation of all roads with separation of grades.
5. Through routing Northwestern and South Side trains over a new structure to be built in State street from Chicago avenue to Twelfth street, or over the present structure in Fifth avenue. The Oak Park and Metropolitan trains would continue to loop.

Both Sides Are Represented.

Those present at the meeting of the commission in the offices of the board of supervising engineers were Mayor Busse, Ald. Milton J. Foreman, chairman of the council committee on local transportation; Bion J. Arnold, chief engineer of the supervising board; George Weston, the city's representative on the board; and the presidents and chief engineers of the elevated roads.

NAB MORE MURDER SUSPECTS.

Police Believe Patrolman Melia Was the Victim of Freight Car Thieves.

Three more suspects were arrested yesterday for complicity in the killing of Policeman Patrick Melia, who was slain Wednesday at West Sixty-ninth street and Lawndale avenue. The impression grows that Melia was the victim of a gang of freight car thieves.

GAYNOR CHARGES HEARST FORGERY

NEAR-RIOT AT BANQUET.

article attributing such draft and the expenditure to the present mayor. The headlines and article assert that I fixed the award and amount and paid it, and the draft on the treasury is printed to prove it. But when you look at the draft as given in the article (but how few people scrutinized it that closely!) you perceive that the date of it is left blank.

Gaynor Charges Forgery.

"I have brought it here as printed in this newspaper to show it to you, and here it is. When you look at the original draft, which I have also brought here for you to see, you see the date of it at the top in large letters and figures is 'Dec. 31, 1909,' which is before the present city government came in. When you examine the said original further you see that it also bears plainly the date when the audited voucher, which established the claim as a legal liability of the city, was recorded in the controller's office, namely, 'Dec. 29, 1909.' This date is also omitted in the newspaper copy, as you perceive.

"In plain words, two state prison felonies, namely, forgery and falsification of a public document, were committed in the eagerness of this publisher and editor to wrong the mayor of the city of New York.

"In a day or two afterward, when he had heard rumors that members of the grand jury were taking notice of the matter, he published as an excuse that the dates were so faint in the original draft that the photograph did not reproduce them. Now just look at this original draft again. The date at the top, as you see, is in larger and more pronounced letters and figures than any other part of the draft.

Photographed as a Test.

"I had the draft photographed as a test that the dates would take like all the rest, and here is the photograph. You see that shows the dates as plainly, to say the least, as any other part of the draft. But if it were true that Mr. Hearst's photographic apparatus would not reproduce the dates, why should he print the draft without the dates? Why did he not put them in in some way?

"The truth is, I am assured, that the dates weer actually cut out of the plate with a routing machine. An inspection of the draft as falsely printed also shows that to be the case, as you see in respect of the date of Dec. [illegible].

"Now, I do not call your attention to this low crime because it annoyed or embittered me in any way. A public official has to be patient. The newspapers of this man had done as bad or worse to me and others, but it was borne in silence, except that I spoke on the criminal aspect of such things before the bench and bar at the dinner they gave me in December last, because I thought it due that some one should do so for the sake of society and of the decent and honest newspaper.

Shows Omission's Purpose.

"I need not say to you that the indebtedness for which this draft was drawn was incurred during several years before the present members of the city government were elected, and that it was audited and made a fixed and legal obligation of the city before we took office, instead of any of us 'fixing the award,' as this article says.

"Probably I never would have seen the publication of this draft had not an official brought it to me last Friday and pointed out the crime to me. I mention the matter to you because right here is where it should be mentioned. And let me add that it concerns you, the publishers and editors of the decent newspapers, far more than it concerns me.

"If you can stand such things in your great profession the rest of us can stand it, or will try to stand it, until the hour arrives when we shall make up our minds to utterly destroy it, and take effective measures to that end.

"It is high time that these forgers and libelers were in states prison and the time is not far distant when some of them will be there. And just think of a man who is capable of doing things like this, being possessed of the notion that he is fit to hold any office from mayor to president of the United States. Morally speaking, his mind must be a howling wilderness. Never will the voters anywhere put such a man in office.

Appeals to "Respectable" Editors.

"Now I feel that I am entirely right in mentioning this matter to you and that it will promote a proper understanding and do good. We have stood it here in New York city for a long time, and the respectable editors and publishers of this city want of all things to get rid of it. They know the perpetuity of our institutions depends more on a free and honest press than on all else combined.

"The relation of public officials and the press should be one of good will on both sides. Public officials can attest that the press of the country is in the hands of gentlemen of education and discretion of the highest order.

"I feel averse to entering upon any suggestion or advice. I might say, nevertheless, that some of us think that journalism has gone much astray in recent years in some fundamental respects. Instead of confining themselves to mere statements of fact, those who write the news color the narrative with their conclusions and expressions of opinion. Would it not be better that all expressions of opinion and conclusions should be left to the editorial columns?

"I feel certain that a return to a lean statement of the facts in the news columns, without adjectives or statements of conclusions, would be gratifying to all intelligent readers. Of some looseness and exaggeration which has grown up in recent years following a pernicious example, no one needs to speak, for unless all signs fail it has reached its limit. The day now seems to be right ahead and in sight when the well written and truthful, but nevertheless animated and sprightly newspaper will be the one in demand."

Ade on "Helping the Editor."

George Ade, who was another speaker of the evening, talked on "Helping the Editor."

"The A. P. is a great institution," he said. "Around a newspaper office we always felt easy in our minds if we knew that the A. P. was on the job. My out of town assignment was usually given to me in the following words: 'Send in a good story; the A. P. will cover the facts.'

"I respect the A. P. because it has nothing to do with the Sunday supplement. The A. P. never sent in a heavy editorial at 10 p. m. and marked it 'must.' It never ordered pictures to go with the stuff and it never came around the next day to inquire why he had not been played up. When there is a grand jubilee, father and the A. P. are behind the potted palms with the orchestra checking up the expenses.

"Joblot of Capitals."

"I am glad to be here for several reasons. Now that you may have forgotten what you paid for it, I am willing to meet the gentlemen who bought my merchandise. I sold you an assortment of capital letters and a joblot of Chicago vernacular, and you thought you were getting a new brand of humor. Often I would weaken when it came time to sign the vouchers. Then I would read some of the other syndicate stuff and take courage.

"When I went to Chicago to help uplift a community that did not want to be uplifted, I noticed every day, in going to the roof garden, a large and well lighted apartment in which a number of nobby gentlemen were seated at roll top desks talking about circulation. Most of them were smoking, and the more they smoked the more enthusiastic they became about the circulation. I learned that these aristocrats of our profession were what is known as the business end of the paper.

Recalls "Old Time" Editor.

"The oldtime editor, the one we read about, who stamped his individuality on every issue of his paper and didn't bother about the presswork, do you remember what he called a man if he didn't care much for him? He didn't call him a mollycoddle, or an insurgent, or a malefactor, or an undesirable. He said that the man was a poltroon, a hell hound, a pusillanimous liar, an unmitigated horse thief, a jackal, a marplot, a caitiff, a reptile, a viper, a cur, and a whelp. It is different now.

"The newspapers of today are criticised because they are kind to the big advertisers. I think newspapers are somewhat under the domination of the big advertiser. In fact, the big advertiser has got them so worked up that many of them want to run him for a third term."

An interesting feature of the joint banquet was the receipt in the banquet room at the Waldorf-Astoria of twenty-five or thirty cablegrams of congratulations from all parts of the world.

CHICAGO ASKS MANY TROOPS.

Committee on Sane Fourth Petitions Congress for Large Additions to Maneuvers Body.

Washington, D. C., April 28.—[Special.]—A plea for the assignment of additional United States troops to the military tournament, to be held at Chicago as part of the Sane Fourth celebration, reached congress today from the Chicago committee in charge of the affair.

Every member of the Illinois delegation and every member of the military affairs committee received an appeal for aid in obtaining the detail of the following organizations:

Twenty-eighth infantry, headquarters band, and three battalions from Fort Snelling, Minn.

Eleventh cavalry, headquarters band, and one squadron from Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., or the

The Chicago committee says the maneuvers will be held on the lake front, where 40,000 free seats will be provided for spectators. At least $60,000 is being spent on the celebration.

BALLINGER TAKES THE STAND TODAY

ON HAND WITH COUNSEL.

Committee Refuses to Go Into the Allegations Involving Wickersham.

Washington, D. C., April 28.—[Special.]—Richard A. Ballinger, secretary of the interior, will go on the stand tomorrow to give his version of his conservation controversy with Gifford Pinchot, which resulted in the ousting of the latter as chief forester.

The secretary's testimony will mark the beginning of the end of the long congressional inquiry into the conflict between the interior department and the forest service.

Mr. Ballinger appeared unexpectedly today near the close of the session ready to take the stand. Attorney Pepper, counsel for Mr. Pinchot, was cross examining Director George Otis Smith of the geological survey in regard to withdrawals of water power sites under Secretary Garfield and also under Ballinger.

Arrival Stirs Interest.

When Mr. Ballinger appeared in the wake of his attorney, Mr. Vertrees, there was an immediate revival of interest. The secretary took his seat beside his lawyer and listened.

Mr. Pepper soon abandoned his examination of Director Smith and it was whispered that the secretary was about to take the stand. This was his intention, but several of the committee members wanted to ask Mr. Smith questions, and when the last had been put the committee had been in session beyond its usual adjourning time.

Attorney Vertrees had announced that he expected to finish his case by the end of next week.

At the beginning of the session Chairman Belson announced the committee had voted to refuse the request of Attorney Brandeis, counsel for L. R. Glavis, for full information bearing on the preparation of Attorney General Wickersham's summary of the Glavis charges which he prepared for the president.

Mr. Brandeis aimed to prove his contention that Mr. Wickersham prepared the summary in December last, but dated it Sept. 11 so as to make it appear that the president had based his letter of Sept. 13, exonerating Ballinger on the charges, on that report.

Division in Committee.

The committee's attitude was that the attorney general was not under investigation, and that, as he had declined to have anything to say on the subject, it was not within the province of the committee to delve into the matter. This was the view of only the regular Republican members, however. The Democrats, supported by Representative Madison, the "insurgent" Republican on the committee, voted to grant Mr. Brandeis' request.

CHICAGO'S MOST POPULAR RESORT
Fox Lake is Chicago's nearest resort. Each season the increasing number of visitors to this resort can only show in a small way its increasing popularity. Every advantage is offered to the resorter here. Many hotels with accommodations for from 40 to 300 guests at prices that range from $7 to $15 a week. Here you will find three yacht clubs with memberships close to 500, composed mostly of prominent Chicago men, also a motor boat and automobile club. There is no better time to visit this section than in the early spring, and it will pay you to take a trip up here at least over Sunday to get an idea how you could locate for the summer season.
Many resorters like the bungalow plan rather than stopping at the hotel, and for this class of people there are many lots to be had on terms from $5 cash and $2 a month to $50 cash and $10 a month along the shores of the lake. Property values on Fox Lake are going up every year, and if you intend to have a summer home or make it your permanent residence it will pay you to investigate this nearby lake region before everything is taken.
Why not go to Fox Lake next Sunday? The train leaves at 7:25 in the morning, and returns about 6:50 P. M. A special rate can be had for Sunday of $2.50. This includes your railroad fare both ways and two meals at the lake.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 28.—Opening in rious discord and closing in enthusiastic harmony, the Indiana Democratic convention today adopted Gov. Marshall's proposition that it should indorse to next year's legislature a candidate for the United States senate, and named John W. Kern, who was the party's candidate for vice president in 1908.

The opposition made a grim fight, under the leadership of Thomas Taggart, former chairman of the Democratic national committee and himself a candidate for the nomination for senator, but in defeat it joined heartily with the element headed by Gov. Marshall and John E. Lamb of Terre Haute, vice chairman of the national committee, and another aspirant for the senatorship, in a shouted acclamation of Kern as the party's candidate.

Taggart Acknowledges Defeat.

"The Taggart machine is on the scrap heap," said Taggart to the convention, giving up the struggle with a broad smile. "I am going to say something most of you won't believe—but I would rather see Kern in the senate than to be there myself."

Taggart delivered the 188 votes of the Marion county delegation to Kern on the second ballot, though Kern had declared, in the course of the first ballot, that his name had been presented without warrant and that he was "in no sense a candidate."

The voting proceeded, Kern gaining more and more, apparently against his wishes, until the fourth ballot, when all the other candidates had withdrawn and he was nominated unanimously.

When Gov. Marshall, as temporary chairman, called the convention to order at 9:30 o'clock this morning, the floor and the galleries of the hall were packed and the rival factions, whose leaders had been in conference all night, were prepared for the decisive conflict. The governor resigned the gavel to Charles T. Jewett of New Albany, who presented the question whether or not the convention should indorse a candidate for the United States senate.

Uproar Drowns Out Speaker.

At once the uproar began, and it was with difficulty that the first debater in favor of the plan, J. E. McCullough of the Sixth district, could make himself heard. He argued that as the Democratic party advocated direct election of United States senators it could not consistently reject the plan that the people in this convention should nominate a candidate. He was followed by Samuel Ralston of Lebanon and United States Senator B. F. Shively for the opposition, who declared that the convention had not been chosen by the people to nominate a candidate for the senate and therefore had no authority in the case.

The crisis of tumult sprang up sharply when John E. Lamb arose to speak for the plan and declared that he was "eternally opposed to Taggartism." Hisses and groans filled the hall and drowned the cheers of his own Terre Haute and Vigo county delegation of sixty and his other supporters. Minute after minute he stood his ground against the fierce attack. When it had subsided he declared unflinchingly that the convention should nominate him "or some better man."

Fist Fight Stops Balloting.

The question was put in a storm of "yes, yes" and "no, no" from the standing, wildly gesticulating delegates. When the balloting reached Marion county and Indianapolis, Taggart's home, the delegation cast 180 votes against and 8 votes for the plan. There was a dispute and the negative voters arose to be counted.

A Lamb enthusiast pressed his way through the crowd to shake hands with the Indianapolis "insurgents," but was met with a blow in the face before he reached them. A general fight between the two delegations impended, but the police forced their way between them and partial order once more was restored.

When the count of the ballot, showing 888½ for to 888½ against the plan, was announced, it was received with a mighty cheer, which was redoubled when Gov. Marshall reappeared upon the stand to present the permanent chairman, United States Senator Shively. Only the Indianapolis delegation remained seated.

Senator Shively, after his speech, called for the report of the committee on resolutions, which was read and adopted as the platform.

The platform begins with a denunciation of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law, characterizing it as "a masterpiece of injustice, involving remorseless exactions from the many to enrich the few, through the trusts and monopolies which it fosters." The Republicans of Indiana also are scored for supporting the law.

The platform declares for the income tax and favors the conservation of national resources. It advocates increased local option in the state and winds up with a declaration for the election of United States senators by popular vote.

FRANK CUNEO — TOASTMASTER GARIBALDI

Several weeks ago Chicagoans had word that Cuneo, one of the most influential Italian business men in the city, had been knighted by the crown. Through the Italian consul of Chicago, Chevalier Guida Sabetti, the insignia of knighthood was presented to Cuneo in the presence of 200 prominent Italian citizens.

Among the guests seated near the new knight was Enrico Caruso, tenor of the Metropolitan Opera company. Caruso, knighted himself several years ago, was the recipient of honors at the hands of banquet guests. For THE TRIBUNE Caruso sketched Cuneo while the latter was in the act of delivering an address thanking the members of the Italian association for the honor conferred in the banquet.

Sitting near Caruso was Mme. Ciapparelli Viafore, soprano of the Metropolitan company, who posed for the tenor, and a trio of sketches was completed with a profile of Giovanni Garibaldi, chairman of the banquet committee.

PAXTON BORE HYDE NO SPITE

Swope Lawyer Hoped Him Innocent When Investigating.

POISON CAST INTO STREET.

Witness Tell of Finding Capsules Doctor Threw Away.

Kansas City, Mo., April 28.—It was with the hope that Dr. B. C. Hyde would be purged of all suspicion that John G. Paxton, as a personal representative of Mrs. Logan O. Swope, began the investigation of the Swope tragedies. So testified Paxton in the Criminal court today.

"I knew the terrible scandal another report regarding the inquiry would cause," he said. "When I employed Dr. Ludwig Hektoen to examine the visceras of Col. Thomas H. and Chrisman Swope, I told him I hoped he would return to me a finding of innocence on the part of every one."

Walsh and Paxton Clash.

Paxton and Attorney Walsh exchanged warm comments during the cross examination of the witness. Walsh was insistent upon knowing how much money the witness got for his work. Paxton charged Walsh with casting aspersions on his honesty.

Calling attention to the fact that the defense had served a subpœna duces tecum on Paxton ordering him to produce the papers which passed between him and the scientists who made the autopsy on Col. and Chrisman Swope, Walsh asked the court to force the witness to give them to Dr. Hyde's attorneys. Judge Latshaw refused the request.

Picked Up Capsules in Street.

Thomas H. Swope Jr. told today how he found capsules Dr. Hyde had thrown away on a street and recognized the odor they emitted as that of cyanide of potassium.

While working in a Nevada mine, said Swope, he becaume familiar with the poison and was positive he could not be mistaken about the peculiar odor of it. Cyanide, he said, smelled like burned almonds.

Dr. Hyde was about 300 feet from him when the capsules were thrown away, said Swope. The physician stamped them into the snow, testified the witness.

EARLE NOW HAS AFFINITY NO. 4

PARIS SCENE OF ROMANCE.

Pair Stroll About Latin Quarter and Luxembourg Gardens.

New York, April 28.—[Special.]—Just as the law was about to knock off the shackles of his second soul mate entanglement, the news comes from Paris that Ferdinand Pinney Earle has found a fourth affinity. The first one divorced him; for the second a decree annulling their mariage is imminent; the third cast him aside before they could reach the marriage stage.

Justice Fitzgerald in the Supreme court has had before him since Wednesday the report of James A. Foley as referee in the suit which Julia Kuttner Earle, second of the soul mates, began last February against the artist. Foley recommended that the marriage be annulled on the ground that at the time they were married the first wife's divorce had not become operative.

In the Quartier Latin of Paris Earle has entered once more upon his rôle of the dreamy, imaginative artist, musician, and poet. In his studio the unfinished head of a slender, dark eyed Frenchwoman stands on an easel. It is the portrait of the fourth affinity.

Earle could not be drawn to speak of his latest affinity, but dwellers in the quarter have noticed her a good deal, and the pair often can be seen strolling together through the Luxembourg gardens or along the Boulevard Raspail.

INSURGENTS WAR ON THE RAIL BILL

CLOSE VOTES IN HOUSE.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., April 28.—[Special.]—Attorney General Wickersham's attempt in his Chicago speech to whip the insurgent Republicans into line for administration legislation by reading them out of the party is likely to prove a boomerang, according to developments today in the course of consideration of railroad legislation by congress.

If the railroad bill fails to pass in the shape drafted by Mr. Wickersham the result will be traceable in a considerable degree to the attitude assumed by the attorney general.

Again today there was evidence in the senate and the hrouse of the deep resentment aroused among insurgents by Mr. Wickersham's official effort to put them outside the party pale. They now have been read out of the party by President Taft, Speaker Cannon, Senator Aldrich, and Mr. Wickersham, and they are getting fighting mad. The matter has come to such pass that many standpatters are wishing the guardians of the party precepts would let up on the insurgents.

Bitter Attack in House.

In the house the insurgents assailed the attorney general's bill with telling effect. They succeeded in amending important provisions and in the moves in which they failed the vote in the committee of the whole was so close that a decisive battle over the bill on the floor of the house is in prospect.

An unwillingness to trust the exercise of arbitrary power to the attorney general in prosecuting suits before the commerce court characterized the insurgent attack. Representatives Poindexter of Washington and Cooper of Wisconsin, both insurgents, were particularly suspicious of the sections granting broad powers to the attorney general. Apparently there was fear Mr. Wickersham might not always do all in his power to protect shippers from unfair rates imposed by railroads.

Mr. Poindexter in a vitriolic speech "viewed with alarm" the provision lodging in the department of justice the sole right to bring suits in the commerce court. He wanted shippers to have the right to institute suits if the attorney general should refuse. He was defeated on his amendment by a vote of 127 to 123, among the insurgents voting against the administration being Gronna, Hubbard, Nelson, and Cooper.

Pickett Wins a Victory.

Representative Pickett of Iowa, another insurgent, won a distinct victory when he obtained the adoption of an amendment removing counsel for shippers from subserviency to the attorney general in the conduct of railroad rate suits.

Then Mr. Cooper attempted to insert a provision that the attorney general must accept as lawful and proper any order of the interstate commerce commission. His point was that the official might otherwise disregard the commission's ruling in order to favor some railroad. This amendment failed by a close vote.

The insurgents supported Mr. Hitchcock's amendment to prevent a single judge of the commerce court from suspending a commission ruling and Mr. Gillespie's proposal to bind the attorney general to the commission's ruling as a finding of the facts, both of which were defeated.

Bristow Resumes Attack.

In the senate Mr. Bristow of Kansas, resumed his attack on the railroad bill. He entered upon a discussion of the rates on sugar, with the evident intention of demonstrating that by charging more for short than for long hauls the railroads were discriminating unfairly against many communities.

In explanation of the cause for the low transcontinental rates, Senator Elkins instanced the competition of the Canadian roads.

"That is a reflection on the American roads," promptly responded the Kansas senator, who asserted there would be no good reason why the foreign roads could operate more cheaply than the American roads.

When Mr. Elkins called attention to the connection of the Canadian government with the Canadian roads, Mr. Bristow declared the American government had built the Union Pacific road and presented it to its owners.

WOMAN 'HOSPITAL' HEAD HELD

DOCTORS ALSO INVOLVED.

Authorities Declare Prisoner Has Made Full Confession.

Rock Island, Ill., April 28.—[Special.]—Mrs. Ernestine Petersen, matron and superintendent of the Red Cross hospital, an institution she has conducted for a year in this city, was arrested today and locked up in default of $2,000 bond, on ten separate charges of violation of the laws governing medical practice.

The police declare they have the names of a score or more girl patients who have submitted to illegal operations there and of nearly as many physicians from Rock Island, Moline, Davenport and surrounding territory who have patronized the institution. Further arrests are expected.

The arrest of Mrs. Petersen followed a visit to this city of Charles Virden, state agent for the visitation of children, who was called here by Miss Dina Ramser, Rock Island's police matron. Virden, in the rôle of physician, it is said, gained access to the Petersen woman's record and obtained so much evidence before his true mission became known that Mrs. Petersen made a full confession in the presence of witnesses.

Handled Many Illegal Cases.

Speaking of his investigation today, Mr. Virden said:

"Mrs. Petersen said she handled all normal maternity cases herself and in other cases summoned physicians. She stated it had been her custom to receive girls into her home for treatment without making inquiry as to their names or parentage.

"She handled a large number of such patients, from three to five a month. She said a large number of girls had been brought from Iowa for treatment and admitted that many illegal operations had been performed at the institution with her knowledge and consent. Several different physicians performed the operations, Mrs. Petersen being present, at times taking part, using the instruments and in some instances administering the anæsthetic. She kept a complete record of the cases, with the names of the girls and physicians involved."

B. F. Schrive, attorney for the state board of health, said:

"I have evidence as to the physicians who performed these illegal operations and the names of several of the girls upon whom they were performed, but have not as yet given it to the state's attorney's office.

Rich Girl Paid Big Fees.

"There is one specific instance of a wealthy girl belonging to a fine family, who a short time ago had an illegal operation performed. She was at the hospital several weeks during the winter. Two Davenport physicians performed the operation. They extracted a big fee from the girl, who also paid the matron of the hospital for services rendered."

Mrs. Petersen kept regularly two or more old persons about the place as "patients," to avert suspicion. Children born normally, the authorities believe, were disposed of to foundlings' homes where the parents requested.

St. Ignatius Alumni Dine.

Judge Jesse Holdom, Senator William Lorimer, the Rev. Francis A. Purcell, president of Cathedral college, and others joined in complimentary toasts to St. Ignatius' college last evening at the annual dinner given at the Illinois Athletic club by the St. Ignatius Alumni association. Senator Lorimer pronounced the college a potent force in the development of Chicago and in his talk took occasion to deliver a further boost of the national deep waterway project.

"St. Ignatius is extensively represented in the business and professional life of Chicago," said the senator, "and, growing as it is, with its yearly output of graduates, the college has proven an important factor in the city's affairs."

The deep waterway, he said, should be left to the nation and national coöperation for it should be supported.

"In this university," said the Rev. Mr. Purcell, "we have an institution that will give the truth to the youthful seeker for scientific knowledge. It is a force against a danger that is here—that the teaching of scientific things in most of our universities has fallen to men who are antagonistic to religion."

BY GLENN DILLARD GUNN.

FRIENDS of German opera were reassured by the size and interest of the audience that assembled last night to witness a performance of "Die Walküre." After the apathy displayed toward "Tannhäuser" it was feared that the experience of previous seasons would be repeated and German opera would again suffer neglect. But that quality of independence which the public has thus far manifested was again in evidence.

Indeed, one cannot blame the casual music lover if he displays no great interest in "Tannhäuser," which is really a tedious affair with the exception of one or two familiar numbers like the overture and the bacchanal. "Die Walküre," on the other hand is full of dramatic interest as well as of vital musical ideas. The performance accorded it last night may not have been the most significant in the annals of opera in Chicago. But it was a capable and well balanced presentation. If no artist of superlative talents was engaged, so neither was any member of the cast unworthy.

The first act sufficed to demonstrate the talents and attainments of Mrs. Osborn-Hannah, in whose career we have a certain patriotic interest. The former Chicagoan gave an interpretation of the rôle of Sieglinde that had many things besides ample vocal means to recommend it. There was that fine and reliable quality of musicianship which is the first requirement of the singer who aspires to Wagnerian honors. This was evidenced not alone in that rhythmical and dynamic certainty that is so essential but in a variety of subtler contrasts that possessed distinct interpretative values.

The quality of the voice itself also impressed more favorably than when Mrs. Osborn-Hannah was heard here earlier in the season with the Boston company. The slight hardness then noticed seemed to have disappeared and in its place one discovered much warmth and sympathy.

Mr. Walter Hyde, the English tenor, who impressed negatively in a recent "Butterfly" performance, surprised his hearers by singing the Siegmund music creditably in the first act. The voice is by no means a heroic tenor. But the quality is agreeable, and, coupled with good interpretative intentions and a most praiseworthy fidelity in the vital matter of pitch, it sufficed to win him a considerable measure of success.

The most pleasurable surprise of the evening was Mr. Whitehill's interpretation of the difficult rôle of Wotan. The voice is particularly suited to this part by reason of its resonant virility, and Mr. Whitehill's fine stage presence and admirable talents as an actor added further to the impressiveness of his interpretation.

Mme. Gadski gave further evidence of her versatility by returning to one of her most impressive rôles, that of Brünhilde, with her fine dignity and poise unspoiled by her frequent excursions into the trivial paths of Italian opera. After all it must be child's play for a great Wagnerian singer to sing such a rôle as Santuzza or even Aïda. In any event it was evident that Mme. Gadski contributed greatly to the delight of her hearers last night, and it is further a pleasure to record the fact that her success was eminently deserved.

The dramatic declamation of Wagner is the music best suited to her voice, which gains warmth, variety, and resonance in reciting it. The spirit of this strange but moving story of old Norse mythology appeals to her imagination as that of no tale of Italian melodramatic turgidness has done, nor is it possible to regard her less on that account.

A worthy contrast to the Brünhilde of Mme. Gadski and the Wotan of Mr. Whitehill was offered by Mme. Homer's impersonation of Fricka. It is easy to regard this great artist as a goddess of song. The dignity and authority that she can infuse into even an unimportant part were magnified last night by her remarkable command of vocal and histrionic means, so that she succeeded in awakening a reluctant sympathy for Wotan's irate spouse.

Hertz was in his glory last night. At last he found a score that permitted, even demanded, that he abandon the stern restraint that he has imposed upon his abundant temperament and give full sway to his passion for tumultuous climaxes. To his credit be it said that he reserved his outbursts for those moments when the singers were not importantly engaged. The orchestra followed his intentions with splendid sympathy and responsiveness, and the beautiful score was unfolded with telling emphasis of its wealth of melodic eloquence.

Chicago's New Opera.

The opera company to be established in Chicago next fall, to all intents and purposes, will be an integral part of a national organization based on that now known as the Metropolitan Opera company, which is giving performances at the Auditorium theater. This fact and others of interest in connection with the promotion of Chicago opera became known yesterday following the resignation of Oscar Hammerstein as head of the Manhattan Opera company, hitherto the only rival of the Metropolitan forces.

Next season's opening of opera will see two great choruses with two orchestras assembled, one in New York and the other in Chicago. The opera stars—those singing now with the Metropolitan company and Hammerstein's singers who shortly are to be engaged by the Chicago managers—will alternate in the productions, singing now in the east and now in the west.

New York and Chicago will become the headquarters of the two branches of the Metropolitan company from which secondary companies will go out to other cities. The Chicago territory probably will reach Philadelphia on the east and San Francisco and the gulf on the west and south.

The majority of stock in the Chicago branch is to be held in New York. The minority portion already has been subscribed for.

Completion of the plan to organize as outlined is expected at a meeting to be held in New York next week. There John C. Shaffer and members of the Chicago executive committee will meet with Otto Kahn of New York, who has promoted the subscription of stock for the New York end of the Chicago company.

It is likely that the Hammerstein stars, Mary Garden, Tetrazzini, Dalmores, Gilbert, Renaud, John McCormick, and others will be engaged to head the Chicago company.

Mr. Shaffer said Chicago immediately would become the "Great mid-continent musical center."

"The colleges, teachers, and public performances of musical works here are in advance of those in many places," he said. "Students can come here now, counting upon hearing the best music of the world. They can secure just as good musical education in Chicago as in Berlin or Paris."

Hammerstein Talks in Paris.

PARIS, April 28.—Oscar Hammerstein, whose retirement from the field of grand opera was announced at New York yesterday, said today that it was with regret that he gave up the work in which he had been engaged, but he was influenced by the need of a rest and financial losses sustained, the latter amounting during the last season to more than $250,000. He believes the public will be the gainer in the end, as European stars will continue to sing in America despite a reduction in their salaries. The Metropolitan, which now will be in a position to make a profit, would not, he felt certain, permit the high standard set for the art in the United States to be lowered.

Mr. Carle in "The Echo."

BY PERCY HAMMOND.

AT THE outset of these remarks concerning "The Echo" the blunt and unqualified statement will be made that Mr. Richard Carle is a comic actor and one of the few musical comedians in whom one may find the inspiration for adult laughter. The assertion is flaunted thus early so that those who know it is not true may be warned that this thesis is not for them and they will be spared the annoyance of further perusal. But Mr. Carle is one of our canons and we insist on him. He is that unique thing in the theater—a comedian with a sense of humor plus a belief in the mental alertness of his audience. His capacity for keen burlesque is not excelled by any player in English, he has a definite power of characterization linked to an undisguisable personality, and he knows the grotesquerie of dance and attitude to its final point. He is dexterous in improvisation and he is able to sing a comic song so that it remains comic. He can be funny without a funny hat or a bulbous nose, and his discretion in matters of taste is usually admirable. In short, he is our notion of the polite clown in musical comedy.

Although left breathless by this eulogy—a vice to which we are not addicted—we pass on to another feature of "The Echo" which meets with our approval. This is Mr. Charles Dillingham, the producer. Mr. Dillingham is the smartest of our musical comedy entrepeneurs; he has the knack of doing things well. That is, the young women whom he employs as the pictorial adjuncts to his enterprises are invariably pretty, with a respectable sort of beauty, and they are always smartly dressed and of impeccable deportment. His scenery is never loud, and Mr. William Rock, the genius of his service who arranges the songs and dances, knows the meaning and value of grace and harmony as well, at least, as any one else active in that department of the theater. So "The Echo" has the material advantages of an amusing star and an effective production—two assets of lively importance to an entertainment of the kind.

But a passion for accuracy in such matters deters us from progressing indefinitely in this ecstatic strain about "The Echo." It is the maiden output of two students in the University of the City of New York—the Messrs. William Le Baron and Deems Taylor—and it reveals in its manufacture the uncertain hand of the novice. The idea is novel—a counterfeit, summer hotel echo—but it is so neglected that its appearance in the play is only intermittent. Mr. Carle's rôle is amusing—a soap manufacturer who flees to mountain solitudes in order to escape a popular song which he has composed and which confronts him in every phonograph and hurdy-gurdy he encounters. The first act songs are fetching, and Mr. Carle's comedy is here given considerable vent, but in the second both music and the drama sag woefully and at times threaten to sink altogether. The pretty girls are always at hand, however, and the dancing and movement are incessant. Now and then Mrs. Annie Yeamans appears as a pert stenographer and relieves the comparative desolation with her quaint comedy. Miss Flossie Hope, than whom there is no soubrette more agile and unaffected, also is about a good deal of the time, and Mr. George White, a dancer of striking ease and ingenuity, likewise aids in the work of rescuing Mr. Le Baron's anæmic book. There is a bizarre interpolation in the form of a Hawaiian quartet, which sings plaintively to the accompaniment of queer instruments, and Miss Toots Paka, one of its members, indulges in certain volcanic evolutions entitled, we believe, the Hula-Hula dance. After a few more performances enough of Mr. Carle's wit will doubtless find its way into the libretto, and then "The Echo" will be more worthy of its star, its producer, and its production. In its present form it has the color, the tunes, the action, and some of the fun which one associates with a successful summer show, and if one is content with that he will be content with "The Echo."

At the Actors' Fund Fair in New York Francis Wilson, the auctioneer, will sell a portrait by W. H. Crane, the painter, of Mrs. Fiske, the actress.

The Wide, Wide World.

Squalor Without Limit in Some Sicilian Homes.

[Copyright: 1910: By The Tribune Company.]

TERRANOVA, Sicily, Feb. 11.—Multiply 250 by 16 and you have the minimum of galantuomi, which means the sort of kid glove maffiosi and steamship agent whose business it is to persuade people to emigrate. I say minimum because each of the sixteen steamship companies having sailings from Palermo to New York employs, as a rule, at least that number of local agents. Some of them have as many as 300.

A good part of my time today has been spent in the offices of two such agents. We are tracing our way back to Palermo. Terranova is in the big wild province of Caltanisetta, the land of sulphur mines and brigands. Half the men I have seen today looked like brigands. You cannot see much of them, for they are enveloped in a long cloak and a hood which leaves only their eyes and nose exposed. It has been a cold, raw day, with sunshine chasing the rain and hail.

In the twenty miles between Vittoria and Terranova, we passed through, first, a rich country with lemon groves and well kept vineyards; then through a purely grazing country; then along the seacoast through a low, rolling country, nearly all of which is planted in beans or wheat.

The present city of Terranova, 22,000 inhabitants, was founded in the fourteenth century. Of the famous old Greek city of Gela, founded nearly 700 years B. C., scarcely a trace remains. It was destroyed by the Carthagenians and later by the Mamertines.

Modern City Solidly Built.

The modern city occupies a height overlooking the sea. The city is solidly built of two, three, and four story houses of dressed stone or of rough stone covered with a thin, whitewashed plaster. A few of the houses are colored pink, yellow, or blue, but the majority are of a brownish white. Near the center of the town is a great stone paved plaza, with an old church at one side. The streets are fairly regular, a few of them broad, but most of them narrow with no sidewalks. They are sloppy and dirty. Around the plaza are many little drinking places filled with men and boys, many of them gambling, for small stakes, at cards.

We found our agent in the second floor of a house set at the back of a short blind alley so foul that it may not be described. The agent himself looked as if he might be chief of the local Mafia. My guide admits that he is a villain and has given him trouble. When we went to him we took with us the agent of a rival company, a really respectable looking man, who keeps an 8 foot square dry goods store facing the plaza. It seems that the two had been cutting each other's throat in a business way and my guide desired to bring about a reconciliation.

The two agents talked for nearly two hours. At times the discussion was violent. One would rise from his chair, stand over the other man and use his hands and a wide variety of shrugs and humps to emphasize his talk, accusing the other of all the double-dealing known to ticket brokers. Next came the other man's turn. After they had talked it out, each having admitted finally that he had done everything in his power to destroy the other, they decided to be friends. My guide is endeavoring to find a way to drop his own man, without breaking something, and persuading the other man to accept the agency. Our man is too much of a villain to make friends with possible emigrants.

Two Hundred Families in America.

There are at least 200 families from Terranova in the United States. Of this 200 perhaps five owned land, the remainder were contadini, agricultural laborers, or bracchianti, men who do anything when occasion offers. They are neither farmers, artisans, or tradesmen, but general day laborers. This class furnishes the great majority of Sicilian emigrants. My guide admits that at first we got the best of this lot; now we are beginning to get the tailings.

I met a man, with blue eyes and black hair, who had worked in Albany, Troy, and other New York cities for three years as a bricklayer. He came home last December to see his wife and family. "What good did it do you to go to America?" "I have a little money now and can marry my daughter to better advantage." I have not mastered the system, but apparently one's position or social rank here is determined by whether he must sell his daughter or whether he is able to buy a husband for her.

"What are the chief differences between Terranova and Troy?" He named the following as points of merit for the American city: More money, by which he means better salary; more freedom, by which he means what he says; hours of work better respected, by which he means that a ten hour day is a ten hour day and not fourteen or sixteen; and more democratic. He explained that by "democratic" he meant that when he tried to get work in America he did not have to call on the boss ten or fifteen times and be treated like a beggar. He says that when a farmhand tries to get work here he is obliged to wait and wait and call and call again, before he can see the employer.

House Barred to Strangers.

This New York bricklayer looked like an intelligent man and acted like a reasonable man, up to the point where I asked him to show me his house. Then he refused point blank. He was as fertile in excuses as old Red Cloud said the white man was in cheating the Indians. They tell me it is difficult for a stranger to be admitted into a private house anywhere in the province of Caltanisetta or the adjoining one of Girgenti. They are not only afraid of strangers, but the old Mohammedan idea of secluding women prevails. Women do not hide their faces as they do in Mohammedan lands, but they do not show them in public unless there is real occasion for it.

As soon as I asked this man to take me home with him he became suspicious. He fairly shriveled up. He probably does not go so far as to think that I associate him in any way with Petrosino's murder, but the reason why a stranger should want to see his house passes his intelligence. And a Sicilian is as afraid of anything he does not understand as a true savage. He protects himself from the invisible by charms and from the evil eye by signs. He keeps harm out of his shop by hanging up cow horns on a nail at the side of the door.

There are 1,700 Terranovans in the United States. Many of them will return, for they have gone for the first time. They went over to get money to buy a house, build a boat, buy a cart and donkey, or a patch of land. Land about here is worth $40 to $50 an acre. I am informed that if no restraint is placed on emigration and if nothing alters the economic condition of the two countries, at least 5,000 people from this town will go to America before the movement begins to abate.

Inside a House at Last.

I had grown tired of seeing the inside of houses from the edge of a vile, muddy street. They did not look inviting, especially with a donkey occupying one corner. But I wanted to get inside and look out. With the help of an official I succeded. Two samples of what I saw will suffice. Passing through a little courtyard, vile and filthy, surrounded by plain, straight walls three stories high, I found myself in a room eight feet wide by fourteen long. In this room lives a widow, two sons, and a daughter. Another son is in New York.

It is a complete house. The four walls are dark with age and soot. The ceiling is of cane, still darker. Over the layers of cane is the earth floor of the dwelling above. The floor of the widow's house is of rough earth; it had not even been leveled. The walls on three sides are the walls of other houses. On the side facing the court the wall is pierced by a heavy wooden door. There are no windows. When the door is shut the room is as dark as a dungeon. No sunlight ever enters this house.

They cook on a little iron tripod, over a tiny fire in the corner of the room. When the smoke escapes it is through the open door. At the far end of the room is a single rough bed, handmade. On this the four sleep. The remaining furniture consists of a single chair, a decrepit table, and the remains of a 10 cent kerosene lamp. All the furniture in this home, when new, could not have cost more than $5. For this room the widow pays a rental of $6 a year.

From another court, just as vile, I entered a room occupied by a young man, his wife, and his mother-in-law. He let me in because, as he explained to my guide, he had heard that I was a foreigner, he knew all foreigners to be rich, and he thought that I would buy him a ticket to the United States. This young man has a brother-in-law in Brooklyn. If I do not buy him a ticket he thinks, his brother-in-law will. Chances are that he will be in the United States within a year.

Once Earned 40 Cents a Day.

He is a near-blonde. He has sharp eyes and his eagerness to get away from Terranova is commendable. I asked him what he did for a living. "Anything," he replied. In the summer time he works in the fields or on the road; in winter he works in a little shop. When he cannot get work in the shop he peddles notions through the streets. The most he ever made in any one day of his life was 40 cents. His wife is inferior. She says she is 20; she looks 30. She and her mother-in-law evidently resent the boy's hope of escape.

The house of this family is a single room, 12x20. Its walls and ceiling are like those of the house I have described. One of the walls, in bad state of repair, was covered with old newspapers. No one in the house can read. They all sleep in one bed, which looked comfortable and was covered with a white spread. There was a primitive table and three poor chairs. No other stick of furniture in the house except a piece of a small smoking lamp and what they call a stove. In reality the stove is an open fire on the top of a platform about three feet high. Above the fireplace is a wattled hood.

Some houses are a little larger, with two rooms. There are, of course, large houses in the city, those of rich landowners or members of the nobility. But houses such as I have described and others even worse, because they stable a donkey, are the prevailing type. There are no flowers, there is no grace, no taste, no sweetness in these houses. In the squalor of the outlook they rival the poor Jewish quarters of Jassy, Roumania. As compared with the houses of Bulgarian or Hungarian peasants they are as far from being homelike as they are from the mansions on the Lake Shore drive.

Briton Dodges Naval Inquiry.

LONDON, April 28.—The comparison of the respective cost of construction of American and British battleships, made by Rear Admiral Bowles U. S. N., retired, which showed that the former nation's vessels cost considerably less, formed the subject of a question put to Reginald McKenna, first lord of the admiralty, in the house of commons today. Mr. McKenna replied that he was unable to say why the cost was lower in the protected country than in free trade England, as he had no detailed information as to the exact proportions of the vessels and equipments included in the computation.

Pope to Issue Protest Today.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ROME, April 28.—The protest of the vatican against the visit of the Prince of Monaco to King Victor Emmanuel will be voiced in a diplomatic note which is to be sent out tomorrow to representatives of the holy see abroad.

This note will declare the visit does not create a precedent which other Catholic sovereigns are free to follow and does not imply that the pope has renounced his temporal rights in Rome.

The contents of the note are not yet published but are understood to be identical to a similar note which was issued after the visit of President Loubet of France in 1904.

Notes from Foreign Lands.

LONDON.—A dispatch to the Globe from Madrid says the correspondent at Teneriffe, Canary islands, states that Cipriano Castro, former president of Venezuela, has purchased the Grand hotel at Battenberg and proposes to transform it into a private residence, where he will spend his wealth in peace and enjoyment.

LONDON.—Lord Kitchener's future formed the subject of several questions in the house of commons. Secretary for War Haldane stated that Lord Kitchener would take up his duties as commander in chief of the Mediterranean forces at an early date. This is the appointment which the Duke of Connaught resigned because, according to popular belief, the post was purely an ornamental one.

Woman, Her Work and Interests

Just Between Us Girls.

BY SISTER MARY.

HE SEEMS attractive before marriage—the "good fellow." He has hosts of good friends and every one seems to like him and make a fuss over him and the girls who have brothers will tell her "Brother Tom thinks there's nobody like Will."

So during their courtship—and a "good fellow's" wooing is usually short and ardent—the girl of his choice thinks herself fortunate to be chosen by a man who is so popular.

But after marriage things do not go so well.

He isn't domestic, and he "can't understand why" his wife wants him to stay at home evenings. Why, the boys are going to play pool at the club and there's a stag party at Ben's apartment and Tony Jennings wants him to make a fourth at a quiet little poker game.

Every woman who marries a good fellow has heard these things and variations of them until she is heart sick.

Her husband never gets home in time for dinner because he stopped off with one of the boys or dropped in at the club or went over to the gymnasium to see the new swimming pool with a crowd of the fellows.

In the evening he finds it convenient to slip out on some excuse or other, and it is midnight when he gets home. "O, he just went to the theater with some of the boys and then they had a little supper." He can't understand why she feels hurt. Does he, he wants to know, ever put anything in the way of her going out? The trouble is the "good fellow" lacks a sense of responsibility. He is perfectly happy so long as his wife is complacent and smiling and his home is comfortable when he chooses to come into it.

It never occurs to his supreme selfishness that he is really doing less to be a companion and a comfort to his wife than the faithful dog that lies on the floor at her feet evening after evening and waits with her for the step of the so-called master of the house.

Too often the "good fellow's" evenings with the boys end in dissipation and debauchery. To his continued absences there is then this added shame and humiliation for his wife.

I never knew of but one woman who cured a husband of being a good fellow—and her hair turned white in the process. She surrounded him with friends at their home, she made social obligations which they were obliged to pay together, she went with him everywhere she could, and she kept herself and her home as attractive as possible.

Today he is a devoted husband and their home life is perfect, but it is owing to her strength of purpose and her never ending resourcefulness. And the price of thought and anxiety and hard work that this woman has paid for her happiness makes the message more clear to her sister woman.

"Don't, don't, don't marry a good fellow."

Sarcastic Don'ts.

Do not hesitate to remind your husband every few days that you have nothing decent to wear—never have had since you were married.

Ask him, as often as possible: "Why is it we never have anything like other people—never go anywhere?"

Do not fail to tell him now and then that he has been hard up for money ever since you were married.

Do not forget to twit him with the fact that he took you out of a comfortable home, and buried you in an obscure, out-of-the-way place, and that he never has time to go anywhere with you.

Do not forget to remind your husband often that your children do not dress as other children do; that the girls should take music lessons, from the best teachers, and that they should have a first class piano, and other things to correspond.

Do not encourage your children to wear their clothes a long time, and never try to alter them so that they may last longer. When a garment begins to show wear, to get a little out of date, just cast it aside and get a new one. New clothes look so much fresher and smarter than old ones, and one feels so much better in them.

Health and Beauty.

BY MARIAN MARTINEAU.

Care of Children.

SOME mothers pamper their children, making hothouse plants of them; every change in temperature or exposure to wind or rain brings on a cold. Equally unwise is an attempt to toughen or harden a child by clothing it too scantily. A cold is a simple thing in the beginning, but it should be checked immediately, as repeated attacks frequently pave the way for more serious trouble. As soon as the first symptoms appear the child should be given a hot mustard foot bath. While the foot bath is being taken a hot drink should be made of water, lemon, and sugar, adding a stick or two of slippery elm, or a dash of nutmeg. A pint should be sipped as hot as it can be taken.

The patient must be well but lightly covered throughout the night so that perspiration will be freely induced, and by morning the cold will be "broken." A laxative should be given a half hour before breakfast; milk of magnesia, citrate of magnesia, stewed prunes with senna, or castor oil. A bath followed by a cool shower, or if that is not possible, gradually lowering the temperature of the water until it is quite cool, followed by a brisk rubdown, will restore tone to the skin and close the pores, which would otherwise invite further trouble.

Acquiring Shapely Hands.

While the shape of the hands cannot be changed to any great extent after one has attained maturity, still the shape of the nails and the care of the hands will help to make them shapely and beautiful.

The nails should be almond shaped, and it is considered a beauty if at the base of each nail a little white half moon shows. Some possess these moons naturally, and they will show no matter how the nails are neglected. In others they can be seen only when the skin is pushed back properly at the base, while in many the half moons, once neglected, are buried too deep for resurrection. If the flesh which surrounds the nail is not kept loose, hangnails will come. These are made by stripping away tiny bits of flesh around the nail, and frequently become painful and sore. Hangnails can be avoided if one keeps the skin around the nails loose with an orangewood stick or the blunt point of a cleaner.

Plumping Arms.

Cocoa butter will make the arms plump. Soften and warm the flesh with cloths wrung out of hot water and then rub from shoulder to wrist with a circular motion with cocoa butter warmed slightly. Cocoa butter may be had at any drug store in small cakes; it is hard and must be warmed before using. Unless the flesh is clean and warm it will not absorb.

Oily Skin.

The girl with the oily skin should have a bottle of the following lotion on her dressing table and use it several times a day, washing over the face with a piece of gauze or old linen saturated in the lotion: One ounce of pulverized borax, two ounces of pure glycerin, and two quarts of camphor water.

Inflammation of the Eyelids.

Any one suffering with inflammation of the eyelids can greatly help the eyes by using an eye cup, in which is salt and water or a solution of boric acid. Ten grains of the boric acid to the ounce of distilled water gives a good eyewash. Use this night and morning. After using the eye cup apply vaseline carefully, being careful that none enters the eye.

Forty Cent Menu—IV.

THE following menu was submitted by a Chicago woman who made five attempts to get up a dinner for forty cents before she served this one to her family. Like the majority of contestants she saw no way of getting up a dinner for four people, for forty cents, without making the meat purchased serve a double purpose. It is interesting to notice that she provided two pounds and a half of boneless meat for the two dishes. This is a large allowance as compared with that in most forty cent menus, but no more than is ordinarily provided for a hearty meat eating family of this size. For very light meat eaters one and a quarter pounds of steak—no soup provided for—may be quite sufficient for four people. For a pot roast or similar dish, at least four pounds would be purchased for the sake of getting better meat than when getting a smaller amount, with the expectation of having some left over for a second, even a third meal.

This sort of management the author of the following menu is equal to. She says: "I find it quite a task to produce a dinner for forty cents, sufficient to serve four properly, since the average cost of a dinner served upon my table is $1.60. This recipe can be successfully carried out by a careful economical person. However, with the addition of ten cents to the meat order, three cents to the bread, three cents to the potatoes, two cents to the butter and seasoning, making an addiion of twenty cents there will be enough for breakfast the following morning. By mincing the leftover roast and adding plain boiled potatoes, run through a potato sieve, and one cup of milk with a few cracker crumbs, baking the combination brown in the oven, serving it with hot toast, two meals for four people can be provided for sixty cents."

JURY IS BAFFLED BY DEIMEL DEATH

INQUIRY WILL CONTINUE.

Attorney for Estate Says $447,000 Life Insurance Policies Will Be Paid.

Special agents of interested insurance companies continued to work yesterday in conjunction with J. H. Mather, general claim agent of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railway, in an effort to learn the exact conditions surrounding the death of Joseph Deimel, treasurer of the National Parlor Furniture company, under the wheels of a train at Blue Island Monday evening.

The coroner's jury returned an open verdict, the only finding possible, Coroner Hoffman said, in the absence of witnesses, and the insurance companies which hold his policies for an aggregate of $447,000, most of which was taken out this year, want something more definite before paying over the money. The railroad company, employés of the claim department said, also is dissatisfied because under that form of verdict the Deimel heirs are unhampered in bringing a damage action.

The insurance companies made it plain that the whole affair would be sifted before the policies were honored. However, they also said no significance could be attached to the fact that the claims had not been paid already, and pointed out that it takes time to procure the proper proofs of death.

Says Policies Will Be Paid.

Attorney Joseph Weissenbach, representing the estate, after a long conference with Theodore Weil, agent for the New York Life Insurance company, who wrote or procured most of the insurance, said there would be no hitch and the amount of the policies would be paid to the heirs as soon as the proofs were had. Mr. Weissenbach ordered ten certified copies of the coroner's verdict. When Mr Weissenbach heard of the railroad company's investigation he said:

"The company will be lucky if it is let alone."

The coroner's verdict reads:

"Deimel came to his death in the Rock Island railway depot at Blue Island, Ill., from shock and injuries due to being struck, knocked down, and run over by engine No. —, or by one of the four passenger coaches of the northbound train said engine was drawing, fifty feet from the depot."

The body was discovered on the far side of the track from the depot after the train had gone. Deimel was unconscious, his amputated legs on the track and his head clear of the rails. The train was still in sight and the presumption of Deimel's friends is that he missed his footing in trying to board the moving train.

Private Reports to Company.

Engineer Joseph McKevitt, in a private report to his superiors, stated he found evidence that Deimel was on the track when the train pulled out for Chicago. In the same manner Conductor David White reported he jumped on the front platform of the third car as it started and that if his train killed Deimel it must have been the third or fourth car that ran over him.

On Nov. 27, 1894, Judge Grosscup sent Deimel to jail on a fraud charge. Deimel was prosecuted by the Strobeln Furniture company. On Deimel's proof that he was unable to turn over certain goods in compliance with the court's order he was released after serving a few days.

Deimel was insured as follows:

INQUIRY YIELDS SURPRISES IN LAKE AND LAND TUNNEL?

Investigators Said to Have Made Interesting Discoveries in Structure Built by Three Contractors.

Interesting discoveries were reported yesterday to have been made by Merriam commission investigators who have been working for two months in the $3,000,000 Southwestern Lake and Land tunnel, running sixteen miles from the intake at Sixty-eighth street.

A. J. Hammond, who was formerly city engineer of Terre Haute, Ind., has been in charge of the task.

The tunnel was built in three sections, by as many contractors. One section was built by the M. H. McGovern company, which also built the Lawrence avenue sewer. George W. Jackson Inc., built the lake section, the remainder having been constructed by the Parker-Washington company. Especial attention has been given the McGovern section, but inquiries did not elicit specifications as to the findings.

Superintendent of Streets Frank T. Fowler wrote Chairman Merriam of the commission that he had suspended Superintendent of Dumps Edward R. Le Gere.

DISGUISED DETECTIVE GETS DISGUISED ALLEGED SLAYER.

The captured man is Joseph Welcome, 27 years old, charged with having shot and killed Mrs. Marian McLean, 1144 West Monroe street, on March 21, and with having shot and seriously wounded his wife at the same time. He had grown a full beard and was wearing glasses in order to escape recognition.

Detective Sergeant Daniel O'Hara, who arrested Welcome, was disguised as an engineer. The arrest was made in the Illinois Central yards at Twelfth street, where Welcome planned to meet his brother. The prisoner, it is said, made a full confession.

Welcome committed the murder and wounded his wife, it is alleged, at the home of Mrs. McLean, where Mrs. Welcome was living following her separation from her husband. After an argument with his wife Welcome drew a revolver and shot her. Mrs. McLean ran to the scene and Welcome shot her through the head. She died the next morning.

WIDOW OF DEAN WANTS RICHES

Clause in Ante-Nuptial Agreement May Set Aside $25,000 Contract.

TWINS ARE IN COURT.

Plaintiff's Mother Called to Tell of Daughter's Signing Disputed Document.

One clause in an ante-nuptial agreement may set that contract aside and enable Mrs. Suzanne Ella Dean to take the third or dower share of the $1,000,000 estate of her late husband, John E. Dean.

The agreement provided that Mrs. Dean should be given $25,000 at her husband's death, but another clause—termed by her attorneys "inhuman"—stated that should the couple be separated the widow should receive only $7,000.

The first day of the suit to break the will had its spectacular settings, though the interesting part of the legal battle had not been reached. Just outside the rail in Judge Ball's courtroom sat the Dean children by a former marriage, five in number and four of them women.

There was Mrs. Grace F. D. Jackson, Mrs. Blanche Isabel Blackman, and the noted twins—Miss Evelyn and Mrs. Marian Dean Hughes, and their brother, Morris Rowland Dean.

Mother Called Against Mrs. Dean.

Inside the railing sat the widow, and behind her was her aged mother, Mrs. Samuel E. Wood, the most important witness of the day for the side opposed to her daughter, as her testimony is expected to settle the legality of the agreement and the alleged willing acceptance of the ante-nuptial contract by the plaintiff.

The mother, who is 76 years of age, showed strong emotion while on the stand, and after adjournment was led to the corridor, where she broke down and wept on Mrs. Dean's shoulder, saying: "I can't tell anything but the truth."

The attorneys for the Northern Trust company, trustee of the estate, and the Dean heirs, however, had not reached the contract when court adjourned. A strong array of legal talent fought lustily over every bit of testimony. Judah, Willard, Wolz & Reichmann represented the trust company, and Stephen H. Keating of New York and James Jay Sheridan the Dean children, while Mrs. Dean had Samuel Adams and Albert M. Kales.

Put Estate Value at $1,000,000.

William Hoyerman, confidential man to Mr. Dean when he was general agent for the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company and later in his realty dealings, testified to the accuracy of a schedule of his property totaling a little more than $1,000,000 and the real estate was then appraised by Louis A. Seeberger.

These valuations later will be disputed by realty experts for the plaintiff, it is understood, and the estate total placed at $400,000 additional. Particularly was the appraisement of $23,000 for the Dean homestead at 3250 Indiana avenue objected to.

Mrs. Wood knew she would be called to oppose her daughter, but she went through the ordeal bravely. Her testimony went from the birth of Mrs. Dean in 1863, her education at Dearborn seminary, the accomplishments she learned there and abroad, her verses and a novel, "Shibboleth," which had been published prior to her marriage, March 21, 1900, when the bridegroom was 59 and the bride 37. Mrs. Dean's father was Samuel E. Wood, once a physician, but later senior member of Wood Bros., live stock commission men, and residing at 3934 Michigan avenue.

NAB ABEEL ON CHECK CHARGE

Son of Wealthy Texan Also Fails to Pay Alimony.

MAN SUED BY TWO WIVES.

Joseph Dewitt Accused as Bigamist in Divorce Pleas.

James N. Abeel, bond salesman, son of Alfred Abeel, millionaire ice manufacturer of Waco, Tex., who is said to receive $500 a month "spending money," yesterday was released from the Harrison street police station and now is awaiting trial on the charge of having obtained money under false pretenses.

He also is threatened with legal action for having failed to pay the last monthly installment of $100 a month alimony ordered by Judge Dupuy when Mrs. Abeel was granted a divorce in February. Cruelty and nonsupport were the charges. Mrs. Abeel is a daughter of E. L. De Forest of Kalamazoo, Mich., interested in the De Forest Wireless Telegraph company.

In 1904 he obtained notoriety in New York by signing the name of Robert Goelet to a register in a lodging house. This was said to be the cause of breaking off Goelet's engagement to Miss Elsie Whalen of Philadelphia.

In 1907 the Abeels came to Chicago and set up pretentious apartments in Evanston. Later they moved to Rogers Park, where many expensive dinners were given. The charge on which Abeel was arrested is for cashing a draft with the Briggs house on which the Waco iceman's name was forged.

Sued by Two Women for Divorce.

Two women appealed to the Circuit court for divorces from Joseph Dewitt, also known as De Watt, who is charged with bigamy. The first suit was filed by Ella De Witt, who says she was married to De Witt in 1908 at Lincoln, Neb. Last February she learned he had a wife, Ellen Cohen De Watt, living in Chicago.

Mrs. De Watt in her bill, filed a few minuter later, declares she was married to De Watt on Feb. 1, 1908, and lived with him until March 30, 1908, when, she avers, he left her and married under the name of De Witt.

BY R. W. LARDNER.

The Rosedale rescuer, otherwise Mordecai Brown, was called in consultation yesterday afternoon just in time to assure the Cubs a 2 to 1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

King Cole, who trimmed this same St. Louis club last fall in his first big league tryout, tried it again and was so effective when he did manage to get the ball over the plate or near it that Mr. Chance and almost every one else thought he surely would go through. The Cubs had scored twice, thanks to Frank Corridon and Arnold Hauser, and the gang was about ready to go home when something broke loose in the eighth.

King was still wild and he showed it by handing a pass to little Miller Huggins. Rube Ellis, who was taking a speaking part in the play, drove a single into center field. It was a single, but it enabled Huggins to get to third and Rube to second because Artie Hofman couldn't pick it up. In this bad situation Rebel Oakes combed one over Steiny's head for a base, and Huggins, not being a paralytic, scored. There still were men on third and first with none out and one run needed to tie.

Rescuer on the Scene.

Enter the rescuer. The first Card to face him was Konetchy, who never could be called an easy mark. What Brownie sent up met Koney's bat, but with nothing resembling a loud crash. The ball hopped down to Joe Tinker, and Joe, who had been doing nothing else through the game, grabbed it. He took a careful squint at Rube Ellis, who was hanging on to third base for dear life, then wheeled and threw to second in time to force Oakes. Evers did some more rapid wheeling and the ball reached Chance before Koney arrived at first. After that, it was a simple matter for Brownie to take care of Chick Evans, whose fly to Hofman was pie for that agile youth. Thus was an almost certain draw averted and the only tie to result was that between the old rivals, Cubs and Pirates, for first place.

Yes, it begins to look like old times with Chicago and Pittsburg on top of the heap and the Giants on the next floor. Chance has no intention of letting his Cubs drop a notch for any long stay again this year. That victory was the sixth in succession and there is no visible reason for the streak to be broken there.

The Chicago boys didn't exactly murder Corridon. It was his own fault that they scored in the first inning and it was Johnny Evers' fault that they didn't score more than once. John usually does his sleeping at night, but he dozed long enough right after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon to help the Cardinal pitcher make the best of a bad situation.

Two Hits in Opener.

Two hits were gathered in that round and only three scattered ones thereafter. An awful throw by a former Chicago boy, A. Hauser, gave the Cubs their second opening, and the fact that they added a tally in the fourth, and the winning one at that, wasn't the fault of F. Corridon.

Although his error was so costly, this same Hauser lad looked like a ball player. He is not much bigger than a yard stick, and he gets over the ground in a way that reminds one of Owen Bush of Detroit, Mich. His throwing all through was slightly inaccurate, but this may be because he hasn't been accustomed to pegging at anything as large as Koney.

Hauser played with the old Whitings a few seasons ago. His friends from the Thirtieth ward sent him a large horseshoe of flowers—or a floral horseshoe—just before the game started, and then encouraged him all through with some concerted rooting from boxes near the visitors' bench.

Corridon walked Evers, who, of course, was the first man up against him. He didn't fool much with Beaumont until he had succeeded in catching John off first. With that burden off his mind, he got one over for Beau, and it would have been a single if any one slower than Huggins had been playing second base. Miller made a nice stop and Ginger was gone.

Schulte Is Given Pass.

Frank Schulte gazed thoughtfully at four bad ones and walked and the manager drove him to second with a hot shot to left. Harry Steinfeldt, who is thinking about that automobile himself, punched another one across second and Schulte came in. Mowrey kicked Hofman's fast grounder for just a second, but got it over in time to beat Artie.

Hauser's pretty stop and recovery robbed Schulte of a hit in the third and helped Corridon a great deal. At the start of the fourth Steiny went all the way to second when the youngster heaved his grounder into the first base boxes. Hofman sacrificed him to third and Tinker walked and stole. Tom Needham's long lift to Oakes allowed Steinfeldt to romp home with what proved the winner.

The Cubs didn't have any opening to speak of thereafter, but the Cardinals had a couple of good ones. Evans walked in the fifth and Bresnahan forced him. Hauser's single sent his manager to second, but Mowrey forced Hauser and Evers threw out Corridon.

In the sixth Huggins beat out a hit to Tinker. Ellis flied to Schulte and Oakes popped to Evers. Then Cole threw wild in an attempt to get Huggins off first and the little one scooted to second, where he was left when Cole fanned Konetchy. With one out in the seventh, two passes and a passed ball put Cards on second and third. Mowrey struck out and Chance took care of Corridon all alone.

Then came the eighth and the hurry call for Mordecai. The visitors became fresh again late in the ninth, when Mowrey doubled to left with two out. Phelps was sent up to hit for Corridon and O'Hara was put on to run for Mike, but he didn't have to run, as Brown himself tossed out Phelps. Score:

NOTES OF THE CUBS.

The Cardinals once more today.

John Kling was out practicing again in the morning and Ed Reulbach also worked for awhile.

The Cubs will leave tonight for Pittsburg for a single game tomorrow. They will be back on the west side with the Pirates Sunday.

Manager Chance still is anxious to save his veterans for the coming Pittsburg series and may work Pfeffer or Carson this afternoon.

Umpire O'Day suspected that Chance was stalling when he went in to dismiss Cole in the eighth, and Hank was about to order a quick resumption of play, but the manager convinced him that he really, truly intended to change pitchers.

In the fourth inning, with no Cardinal on base, Cole's feet had a quarrel while he was trying to pitch. When he finally did manage to get the ball away from him, it cut the plate in two, but Mr. O'Day had to call it a ball. King's cap came off with his next effort.

The Cubs will hurry away from here Sunday afternoon for Pittsburg to play Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday. The Monday game will be witnessed by President Taft and probably will be played in the morning to allow the president to keep another engagement in the afternoon.

Artie Hofman's error made it a horse apiece for the three present outfielders. Schulte muffed a fly ball in St. Louis and Beaumont dropped one in Wednesday's game with Pittsburg. James T. Sheckard, who has a batting average of 1,000, has escaped error making, not having been really in the game since the season started.

FLYNN'S HOME RUN IN THE EIGHTH BEATS THE REDS

New Pittsburg First Baseman Hits for Circuit with Two Men on Bases, and Pirates Win, 5 to 2.

Pittsburg, Pa., April 28.—The Cincinnati team made its first appearance here today and was beaten by Pittsburg by the score of 5 to 2. A home run by Flynn in the eighth inning with two men on bases settled the game in favor of the home team. The fielding feature was a sensational onehand catch by Bescher, which cut off two prospective runs. Score:

KLING'S CHECK STILL MISSING.

Commission Fails to Receive $700 in Payment of Fine—Mailed from Chicago on Wednesday.

Cincinnati, O., April 28.—[Special.]—Although it has been reported at various times that Catcher John Kling had paid his $700 fine to the national commission the remittance had not been received by Chairman Herrmann nor Secretary Bruce this evening. Until it is in possession of the commission he cannot play ball.

Chairman Herrmann shows that he is much displeased with Kling's procrastination. Waiting until the last moment to pay his fine is losing him the friendship of the members of the commission according to those in close touch with the situation here.

It was announced yesterday by Col. Thompson of the local theater at which Kling is appearing this week that the $700 check to cover the catcher's fine had been mailed in a special delivery letter to the national commission on Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The check was photographed as evidence and the theater people are certain that it should be in Chairman Herrmann's possession.

Father Says Baseball Has No Element of Sport in It and Forbids Son to Join Cubs.

Sardis, Miss., April 28.—The Rev. Dr. Mitchell, Methodist minister and father of Robert Mitchell, the state university pitcher who has agreed to a trial offered by the Chicago Cubs, says baseball is a "cold blooded money making business and that no element of sport lies in the game of today." For that reason he will forbid his son to enter the professional field. "Bob" is touring the varsity squad and it is not known whether he will abide by his father's decision. He is over 21 years.

Games Today.

Chicago at Cleveland. | Philadelphia at New York.
Boston at Washington.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

Cleveland, O., April 28.—[Special.]—Just why today's game here was called off is known only to Manager McGuire, and he has not told anybody who will tell the public. "Too cold," was the laconic answer posted on the bulletin boards throughout the village, but conditions were a lot better than on Monday, when a game was played.

It was warmer than it was yesterday, although the sun did not shine to make it look like baseball weather. It certainly was no kind of a day to play ball, but it was better than on some of the days the Sox have played. So the question is: "Why differentiate between bad days?" Either call off everything except in good weather or play whenever possible.

Postponements Help Sox, Too.

Possibly McGuire figures his team will be going better later, or the club owners think it will be drawing better. In either case the McGuires will have nothing on the Sox. In fact, postponements are a help rather than otherwise to the Sox. Each day's delay means one day nearer the time when Billy Sullivan will be in the harness once more, and it also gives the youngsters a chance to learn something of inside baseball as she is taught in the American league.

When the double header season arrives there will not be any team better equipped to tackle it than Comiskey's team, for it has the youngsters with the stamina to stand the additional strain, and no team in this league has the string of pitchers for double header sieges possessed by Manager Duffy in Smith, Walsh, White, Olmstead, Scott, Burns, Young, Suter, and Lange. Six of these already are tried material and there are others under suspicion of being able to go the route.

Eighth Game Prevented.

This is the eighth postponement for the Sox and they have played only seven games, so that their record of loafing more often than playing still is intact. Tomorrow is an open date and the Sox will be compelled by law to remain here on a chance that one of the postponements may be played off. McGuire may decide to call it off again tomorrow, and then a lot of unnecessary expense will have been entailed on Comiskey.

In order to reduce this as much as possible Manager Duffy tonight sent five of his players back to Chicago. Walsh, Scott, Suter, Young, and Barrows were the lucky ones who boarded the 7 o'clock train bound for the big city. They will not be needed in case McGuire decides to take a chance with the Sox tomorrow, for Smith is back from Pittsburg ready to pitch the final game here, and White and Olmstead will be held in reserve.

Smith spent his vacation at home, helping his father's force of furniture movers handle the spring rush. He says he carried pianos up three flights of stairs, with the help of three other men, and feels ready for pitching a game a day hereafter. The rest of the team will depart for home tomorrow night anyway to meet Detroit for the first time this year in a series of four games on the south side grounds.

Maroon Relay Team to Go East. Pugilism.

MAROON MILE MEN TO RACE IN EAST

Stagg Decides to Send Team When Davenport Wires He Will Join Squad.

COACH TALKS OF RULES.

Declares He Will Stick to His Forward Pass Suggestions in Committee Meetings.

University of Chicago relay runners will compete in the one mile national championships at Philadelphia tomorrow. This was the eleventh hour decision of Director Stagg. A telegram from Davenport yesterday announcing that he would arrive in Chicago this morning in time to accompany Menaul, Straube, and Earle caused Stagg to change his plans.

Stagg does not expect to win the event on account of the enforced idleness of his athletes during the last week. The condition of Marshall field has prevented work, and in time trials Menaul, Straube, and Earle showed the effects of the layoff.

Team Leaves for East Today.

The quartet, reinforced by Crawley, who will compete in the high hurdles, will leave this afternoon, arriving in Philadelphia early tomorrow. The custom has been to get in a day ahead of the races, but the uncertainty over entering a team will prevent. Oak Park's team, consisting of Martin, Phelps, Fairfield, and Goelitz, left last night.

Before leaving for Philadelphia Director Stagg said he still favors the abolition of the fifteen yard penalty for incompleted forward passes and the continuous motion rule for the forward pass when the ball strikes the ground.

"In my opinion, much will be accomplished at the meetings," said Stagg, "but I am in the dark as to what will be done with the forward pass. There are two widely divergent plans. One tends to open up the game as never before, at the same time doing away with the dangerous elements, by virtue of cutting out hard body checking, crawling, and pushing and pulling the runner. I favor that style.

Opposes Plan of Camp.

"Walter Camp has another style which he will introduce. It calls for keeping the opposing teams within a limit of ten yards from end to end, and favors making the defense equal to the offense. This will make a great running game out of football, but will not provide as open and spectacular feats as the other style.

"Whatever rules are put through, it is certain that football will be safer than ever before, as everybody on the committee is in favor of cutting out the dangerous features."

ILLINOIS TEAMS OFF FOR EAST.

Varsity and Freshman Squads and Three Individuals to Compete in Penn Games on Saturday.

Champaign, Ill., April 28.—[Special.]—The Illinois varsity and freshman relay teams, Washburn, high jumper; Graham, broad jumper; and Murphy, pole vaulter, left for Philadelphia today to compete in the Pennsylvania games on Saturday. Graham won the right to go by jumping 22 feet. The Illinois freshmen will play Danville at Danville tomorrow.

Two Notre Dame Men Go East.

Notre Dame, Ind., April 28.—[Special.]—Only two Notre Dame track men were considered fast enough to be sent to the carnival at Philadelphia on Saturday. These were Wasson, who will compete in the broad jump and hundred yard dash, and Philbrook, who is entered in the discus throw and shotput.

HOLD FOOTBALL CLINIC TODAY.

Third Session of the National Intercollegiate Rules Committee to Be Held at Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 28.—The national intercollegiate football rules committee will hold its third meeting of the year in this city tomorrow. The purpose of this meeting is to complete the legislation begun at the New York session and to hear the reports on the results of the spring practice, and finally to determine definitely what is to be done with the forward pass, and whether the suggestion for the restriction of the defense is advisable.

After receiving the reports of the delegates the committee will consider these two distinct propositions:

First, the unrestricted forward pass and defense. Second, the restricted forward pass and a restricted defense.

The approval of the first proposition means the retention of the game as now played, with the changes made at the last meeting. If the second proposition is favored, it means revolutionary football.

In addition to settling the points already referred to the committee will put into definite shape the new rules agreed upon at the New York meeting.

Fletcher to Lead Purdue Eleven.

Lafayette, Ind., April 28.—[Special.]—Glenn Horace Fletcher of Newark, Ill., today was elected captain of the 1910 Purdue football team. Fletcher will be a junior in the school of civil engineering next year. He has played one season on the team, being a start at the quarter back position last year. Purdue held its first spring practice today, under Coach Hear, the newly appointed tutor.

Manager Raidy Reports Case of Pitcher Hagerman, Now with Denver, to Secretary Farrell.

South Bend, Ind., April 28.—[Special.]—Manager Raidy of the Grand Rapids Central league team has reported to Secretary Farrell of the National association the alleged kidnaping of Pitcher Hagerman of the Grand Rapids club by Denver of the Western league. Hagerman reported to Denver and now is playing with that team. In an effort to settle the matter Manager Hendricks of Denver, it is said, has offered Grand Rapids $600 for the player's release. The offer has been rejected.

DR. ROLLER OUT OF MAT BOUT.

Suffers Attack of Blood Poisoning, and Westergard Will Be Substituted to Meet the Pole Tonight.

Owing to an attack of blood poisoning, which necessitated an operation yesterday at Mercy hospital, Dr. B. F. Roller, the physician wrestler of Seattle, will be unable to meet Stanislaus Zbyszko tonight at the Coliseum in their scheduled finish match. While training at the C. A. A. Wednesday, Roller bruised one of his elbows. He did not pay much attention to the injury and yesterday the elbow was badly swollen. Dr. Murphy performed the operation. The Empire A. C. will stage the show tonight, another opponent having been found for the Pole in Jesse Westergard of Des Moines, Ia.

IN THE WAKE OF THE NEWS.

BY HEK.

THE WEATHERPROOF SPRING SONG.

The fool-killer season is open,
  When rocking the boat is in style,
When waders wade out to deep water,
  When defaulters live high for a while.
Some see if the old gun is loaded
  By looking right down in the muzzle,
  And die while they're doing the guzzle.
Girls take a boat bound for St. Joseph,
  Telling home folks they visit a friend,
Then marry kids nobody knows of—
  'Tis fool time, beginning to end.

E. P. S.

Mr. Kling appears to be suffering as much as the audience. It's hard money when you get it that way.

We have it in a letter from Joy Choynski that his tranquil spirit now broods over the camp at Rowardennan. "Instead of all the disquieting side talk the boys are now diverting themselves with simple and childish pastimes having nothing in common with sordid prizefighting. Why, even as I write they are shooting craps on the floor at my feet." Thus Joe puts it in writing.

Strong blood runs in the same channel also. Both Jeffries and Dr. Roller are suffering from boils.

Our great wrestlers are indulging in luxurious thoughts. Gotch and Zbyszko sniff at a guarantee of $30,000. About this time a year ago it was figured that it would not take much more than that to land the Jeffries-Johnson match and to mention such an amount in connection with a wrestling match would have been the signal for the foolish wagon. These wrestlers, however, should know the hold they have on the producing populace and, to use the expression in such cases made and provided, you can't blame them for getting all they can get.

Now you know what a raw guess Kling or Jeffries was in connection with "Who's Coming Back?"

"Appreciative Reader."—Defending the Jeffries-Johnson match against the imputation of prearrangement would be shooting at nothing. Where the incentive of crookedness does not exist honesty should be accepted as an axiom. Honesty is the only feasible policy in an affair as stupendous as this is.

THE REAL DEVIL.

With weather such as this around and Cubs a-playing ball,
  And every show much better than the rest,
Would you ask me if I'm lonesome? I can answer, not at all;
  No woebegoneness weighs upon this chest.
All to the fine and daisy and the fair and merry, too,
  I'm not moping in a corner, never fear.
I'm getting all that's coming and I'm throwing in a few.
  Just rest yourself contented, that's a dear.

R. P.

Although it is constitutionally provided that there can be no winner and no loser in the absence of an official decision, persons will persist in tying themselves up in arguments and wagers on indefinable points and then going forth and seeking some supposed authority to decide in their favor.

Eph.—We expect T. Hellyer Seigh to come across presently. He was at last accounts chasing the grouse or some other varmint in Shropshire. Mr. Hawsbury has not cooled out after the last tea interval.

IN SOLITARY GRANDEUR.

You can see the curl on Ed. Walsh's lip,
  The frown on Ed. Walsh's brow,
  With the wilt of a pensive cow.
You can see him look with a mute appeal
  That should get to a heart of stone,
As much to say, "It's a rotten deal;
  I can't win it all alone."

Dear Sir: Will you please tell the society editor that the Jack Melvilles have given up their flat and moved into a furnished room? Getting back to nature.

J. M.

This is the open season for bass and elephants in Illinois and one is as plentiful as the other. Will somebody come in with a story of how that last bass was hooked in Illinois, and where?

The very latest reports from the Jeffries camp are to the very same effect and purpose.

JEFFRIES GETS EIGHTY TROUT

Operation Causes Fighter to Quit Gymnasium Toil.

TRAINERS PLEASED AT REST.

Berger Says Boil May Prevent Overwork and Prove Blessing.

Rowardennan, Cal., April 28.—To recover from the slight operation on his back, in which a small eruption was lanced, Jeffries rested from training today. He spent the day fishing and returned to camp late in the afternoon with a string of eighty trout.

Jeffries says he slept soundly last night and has suffered no ill effects from the operation. Manager Berger will be on the sidelines as far as the training work of the camp is concerned, for the next week. Several days ago he strained a knee tendon, and he aggravated the injury by playing handball with Jeffries yesterday. Jeffries says he will be hard at work again Monday.

According to Berger, the boil on Jeffries' back may prove a blessing in disguise. Thus is philosophy added to the esthetic curriculum recently proposed by Joe Choynski as a mentally stimulating adjunct of Jeffries' training.

But Jeffries did not accept his trouble with the calm resignation displayed by his manager. He inclines to the opinion that it's easy enough for Berger to philosophize over the matter for the obvious reason that Berger does not own the boil. The big fighter finds himself in a minority on the question, however, as the other trainers agree with Berger that the boil will compel Jeffries to ease up on his work and prevent any possibility just now of over training.

JOHNSON AT LAST ON COAST.

SAY NEGRO STALLED IN SIXTH.

Judges Believe Langford Allowed Ketchel to Stay the Limit in Recent Philadelphia Fight.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 28.—[Special.]—Few close judges of boxing who can tell the difference between sincere fighting and shamming, thought that Sam Langford, the Boston negro, did his best in his six round engagement with Stanley Ketchel in this city last night.

If there were parts of the bout that made sharp-eyed spectators skeptical, Langford's conduct in the sixth round convinced them that the negro had no intention of doing anything else except letting Stanley stay the limit. In the sixth, when Ketchel made his theatrical stand, Langford only made a shallow pretense of fighting him back. Several times, especially in the first two rounds, Ketchel hesitated, and then held back swings that might have caused damage.

It probably won't be long before the news reaches here that last night's combatants have been matched to fight a long distance battle on the Pacific coast.

PAPKE AND THOMAS MATCHED.

Coffroth Snares Middleweights for Fight in His Arena in San Mateo County on May 14.

San Francisco, Cal., April 28.—Articles were signed today for a twenty-five round fight between Billy Papke of Illinois and Joe Thomas of San Francisco in Coffroth's arena in San Mateo county Saturday afternoon, May 14. The men agreed to fight at catch weights for 50 per cent of the gate receipts. Jack Welsh was chosen as referee.

The "Illinois thunderbolt" will be a busy fighter for the next two months. In addition to his match with Thomas he is scheduled to meet Frank Klaus of Pittsburg here on June 4 before the Metropolitan Athletic club and will continue to act as one of Jeffries' sparring partners and trainers.

Thomas has elected to cast his lot with the negro champion and will train for his battle with Papke at the Johnson camp.

LANGFORD AND BURNS TO FIGHT.

Battle of Forty-five Rounds Will Be Fought on Sept. 5 Before San Francisco Club.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 28.—Sam Langford and Tommy Burns will meet in a forty-five round fight before the Metropolitan Athletic club of San Francisco on Sept. 5. Langford's manager posted $5,000 here today to assure the colored man's appearance. The men will fight for a $20,000 purse.

Greenwald and White Matched.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 28.—[Special.]—The Badger Athletic club today matched Eddie Greenwald and Charlie White of Chicago for the semi-final to the McGoorty-Kelly match on May 6 at the Auditorium.

CHRISTIE TO RACE ONCE MORE.

Motorist to Come Out of "Retirement" to Meet Bragg in the Mile Event at Atlanta Next Week.

Atlanta, Ga., April 28.—Notwithstanding his announcement at the close of the automobile races at Daytona, Fla., recently that he had quit the game, Walter Christie will drive here next week. Christie arrived yesterday. He probably will race against Caleb Bragg, the amateur, in a one mile road race during the races to be held by the Atlanta Automobile association.

ATTEL AND MURPHY IN DRAW

Champion Is Handicapped, Giving Away Twelve Pounds.

FIGHT FAST AND FURIOUS.

"Abey" Shows Dislocated Right Thumb and Says It Troubled Him.

New York, April 28.—[Special.]—In a rattling ten round bout Abe Attel, the American featherweight champion, and Harlem Tommy Murphy, the local lightweight, boxed what appeared to be a good draw at the Empire A. C. tonight.

Attel was twelve pounds lighter than his opponent, and this disadvantage proved to be a severe handicap, for in the last part of the mill Murphy showed the greater stamina and aggressiveness. On scientific points each man appeared to have the better of four rounds, while two rounds were even.

There were many clinches, but at the same time the fighting was so fast and furious that the ring sharps declared the bout was one of the best ever seen in this city.

Attel showed a dislocated right thumb after the bout and said he sustained the injury in the second round. For this reason he was compelled to favor this mawler in the remaining rounds.

YANGER AND PIET IN A DRAW.

Chicagoan and Frenchman Share Honors in Fast Six Round Fight in New York City.

New York, April 28.—[Special.]—Benny Yanger and Henri Piet, a little Frenchman, fought a fast six round draw tonight at the Longacre Athletic club. Yanger was the aggressor, but the Frenchman cleverly evaded most of his swings and landed many telling hooks.

LOW SCORES IN GOLF TOURNEY.

Gale of Wind in Early Hours Has Much to Do with Poor Showing in Open Play at Atlantic City.

Atlantic City, N. J., April 28.—A gale of wind in the early hours had much to do with the poor scores returned by a majority of the contestants in the open golf tournament which began today at the Country club of Atlantic City.

W. E. Shackelford of the home club led the field with an eighteen hole score of 83. Only four others made the round under 90. There were 140 odd starters. The cards of those who qualified in the first sixteen are as follows:

W. E. Shackelford, Atlantic City, 42—41—83; Dr. C. S. Mills, Riverton, 44—42—86; B. C. Race, Atlantic City, 44—45—89; S. H. Clark, Merchantville, 44—43—80; T. P. Endicott, Atlantic City, 45—44—89; F. Incorporation papers of the new Edgewood Golf club of La Grange were issued at Springfield yesterday. The incorporators are F. M. Richardson, John A. Dillon, and W. D. Ferguson.

BY J. G. DAVIS.

Attacks on the pins in the minor events of the Illinois state bowling tournament yesterday were not productive of high scores in general, although J. Martinek and J. Kasica of the Troy league gathered a total of 1,183 pins and landed in second place, one pin behind the "shrimp" leaders, Williams and Lee. Martinek was responsible for 620 pins, his partner notching 563.

E. Kristufek by the aid of a final count of 266 chalked up a total of 625, giving him a temporary hold on fourth position. His first two efforts netted 201 and 208 respectively.

Two Windy City teams which finished early yesterday morning climbed among the leaders, the Krizeks counting 2,744 and the Jiruskas 2,732.

The South Park league quintet led the night squad in the team event with 2,673, Valentine Seng's Crescents of the north side coming second with 2,618. Scores:

MADMAN SETS TRACK RECORD

New York, April 28.—Madman, carrying 115 pounds, created a new track record at Aqueduct for six furlongs today, when he easily won the third event in 1:12 2-5. These figures beat the best previous time by two-fifths of a second. Madman was the favorite, opening at 2 to 1 and was backed down to 8 to 5. Taplin quickly rushed Madman into the lead and was two lengths in front at the turn into the stretch. Here, however, Campeon challenged and made up considerable ground, but Taplin drew his whip and the favorite pulled away to win by five lengths. Summaries:

LATONIA TO OPEN ON JUNE 6.

Pari-Mutuel Machines Will Supplant "Live Bookmakers" at the Summer Race Meeting.

Cincinnati, O., April 28.—With pari-mutuel machines supplanting the real live bookmakers, Latonia will open its spring meeting on June 6, according to official announcement today by President Harvey Myers. The Kentucky Court of Appeals some months ago ruled adversely to the claim of the Latonia association under which bookmaking flourished at the last two meetings. President Myers said today that the association, while not refusing to pay the assessment of the state racing commission of $1,995 for alleged infringement of the rules governing racing in the state, probably would test the matter in the courts.

TENANTS SHOULD PROTECT THEMSELVES.

The ladder fire escapes should go. They answer the purposes of firemen. They will do passably well for men who keep cool and do not get dizzy. For girls in a factory or office, startled by a sudden alarm of fire and making a headlong rush for safety, they are almost worthless. So are they for the occupants of an apartment building when they are making a hurried exit.

The owners of unprotected buildings ought to be compelled to provide without delay proper means of escape. We know that there are many which have not those means, and we also know that the city is painfully slow about enforcing the fire ordinances we have. Officials do not usually learn that a building is unsafe for occupancy until a fire with attendant loss of life has disclosed the fact.

Why should not tenants help matters along by bringing pressure to bear on landlords? The assumption of risks of employment has been forced on workingmen. They have had to take them or go without work. The man who rents rooms in what he ought to know may be a firetrap assumes voluntarily certain fire hazards. There is no compulsion in his case, for there are more apartments or flats for rent than there are renters. Hitherto, with few exceptions, the women, who usually select the family quarters for the year, have paid no attention to the question of personal safety in case of fires. They have been concerned about ice boxes, the kind of wall paper they would be allowed, and other equally momentous matters, but have not asked to see the fire escape.

Suppose they were to pay attention to this neglected point, and give as a reason for refusing to make a lease the lack of proper facilities for getting out in the event of fire. Then the upper floors of many apartment houses would be tenantless. That would be an argument which would convince the dullest minded landlord that he must do something whether the ordinances required it or not.

WILL MR. CANNON COMPROMISE?

Up to a short time ago the most effective epithet which the standpatters could hurl at an insurgent was to say that he was a "Chautauqua orator." Mr. Aldrich when asked a year ago to speak to Chautauqua audiences became indignant, and about the same time Mr. Speaker Cannon sternly refused the same invitation.

Now, however, the speaker has given the matter a second thought, and has accepted the offer of a date at Ottawa, Kas., the hotbed of insurgency. We presume that the management at Ottawa has had an understanding with Mr. Cannon as to the "Chautauqua manner." Any one who knows the audiences which gather at such places and also is familiar with the peculiar oratory of the speaker may well wonder how the two will suit each other.

When Uncle Joe unbuttons his vest in the heat of argument he unbuttons his manners and his vocabulary as well. Is the compromise, which seems inevitable, to come from Mr. Cannon or from the audience?

A STATUE TO BLACK MAMMY.

Whenever a southerner discusses the race question he never fails to differentiate the negro of today from those he knew before the war. The affection which middle aged southerners feel for their old retainers is deep and unfeigned and it is never deeper than when it relates to their former nurses.

Between the "old black mammy" and the children she held on her capacious lap and to whom she sang songs and told stories was a lasting attachment that nothing could break. It is therefore a touching sentimentality which fosters the plan to erect in Washington by popular subscription a statue to this familiar figure, and it may perhaps do something to soften the race hatred which has sprung from newer and less happy conditions.

PROGRESS AND THE PARTIES.

The debate in the senate on Wednesday was significant, if not conclusive. It was especially satisfactory from the Republican point of view. The wit was supplied by Senator Rayner and the telling candor by Senator Dolliver. Humorous and picturesque metaphors are in more esteem with bored senators whose minds are already made up than they are with the people, whose only interest is to get at the truth of the political puzzle. A chuckle in the senate is far from meaning a vote in the country.

> We believe that the tariff as levied under the present legislation is an iniquity—so do the insurgents. We are opposed to monopoly plundering the American people—so are they. We are arrayed against governmental extravagance—so are they. We believe in keeping separate the legislative and executive branches of the government—so do they. Wherein, then, do we differ? We have voted with them on almost every roll call upon every one of their amendments on every bill, but we do not appear to be making much headway, because when the final vote is taken upon the bill itself they seem leisurely to stray away from us.

This sounded better, doubtless, than it reads. Divorced from the pretty fire of wit which Senator Rayner played about them, his generalizations are mockeries, and the whole structure built on his confident "we" comes down when the "we" is analyzed. Senator Dolliver accomplished that in answering Senator Rayner's taunting invitation to join the Democratic party. He explained that even if he felt it necessary to leave his own party he would think twice before he joined the Democrats.

> I say that in all kindness, because I know, and there are a good many Democratic senators in this chamber who know, that there is as much discontent in the Democratic party with its management and leadership as there is in the Republican party, and I know and every Democratic senator knows that it has been as difficult to use the Democratic party to promote progressive government in the United States as it has been to use the Republican party.

This piece of intelligent candor is worth all the oratory that politicians expend to cover up the truth it expresses. That truth is the controlling factor in the party situation today. The public understands it, and the politicians know they understand it. But for the sake of the minority who may not realize its force, a great beating of party tom-toms is kept up on issues that are not party issues and on issues that are not issues at all.

When Senator Rayner rises to excoriate the tariff and talks of "we" as if his party were a unit on the tariff, he is, and knows he is, talking partisan nonsense with the facts against him and a larger number of voters every year aware of the facts. The difference between the authorized positions of the parties upon the tariff is academic. There are high tariff Democrats as well as high tariff Republicans, and the actual tariff is the result of a complex of nonpartisan forces.

When the Democratic party had a chance to put the tariff down it put the tariff up, thereby performing a great service to the plain people, who ever since have realized that the devotion of the Democratic party to a low tariff is purely platonic.

Respecting legislation against privilege, the situation is virtually the same. Senator Bailey thrusts his left hand into the bosom of his "Prince Albert," waves his right hand toward the press gallery, and thunders: "Upon great questions which underlie the structure and determine the character of this government all men who think one way must necessarily be Republicans and all men who think the other way must necessarily be Democrats." This out of the mouth of a man whose plutocratic associations and sympathies have been notorious will make no impression except to remind us of the fact that throughout the battle for progressive legislation Democratic leaders, as representatives of privilege, fought shoulder to shoulder with reactionaries and obstructionists among the Republicans.

THE TRIBUNE apologizes for reiterating these truisms. But if they are ignored in congress they must be emphasized elsewhere. The same struggle is going on in both parties—the struggle against privilege, the struggle to make the party organization responsive to the party membership, the struggle to make representative government representative in fact as well as in form, the struggle to broaden and deepen the foundations of political power, the struggle to make democracy real. This is the test the American people are learning to apply to public men and to party measures, and it is a test the Republican party can accept with better grace than their opponents. For it can offer the practical progressivism of its real leader, Theodore Roosevelt, as against the unpractical and eccentric liberalism of Bryan. And it can point to the current of tendency in its own ranks which is sweeping Aldrich, Hale, and Cannon out of power and sweeping Roosevelt, Cummins, La Follette, Dolliver, and the active progressives into power, while the tendency of Democracy is in the opposite direction.

BIRDS AND MEN.

The storm has laid waste more than the orchards and gardens. Our false summer had tempted the birds to outfly their usual gradual migration northward, and the treacherous return of winter must have unmated many.

Any one who has heard the note of a bird bereaved of its mate will feel what this tragedy is, how poignant, how real, how like our own suffering through loss. This is the tie that binds us more than any other, perhaps, to one another, and to respond to the heartache of a simple creature of the woods and fields is to touch the deepest of the mysteries.

We assume that birds and beasts have no souls. Yet between this grieving bird and its mate has existed a relation so personal as to be what we proudly call human. The sorrow of bereavement cannot exist without love, and the pain in the note of the bird is a sign that in the greatest experience known to the soul of man the bird is sharer. To realize this is to change one's conception of the universe.

In one of the profoundest writings of De Maupassant he describes the isolation of the soul, the mood in which the human spirit feels too keenly its separateness. Loneliness, the revolt of the heart against this inexorable fact, the hunger of the self for some response from without self, is perhaps the strongest emotion we feel. Yet we share this with the birds of the air and the beasts of the field.

CHANGING STANDARDS.

When the late E. C. Stedman was war correspondent for the New York World, his letter on the battle of Ball's Bluff put both his paper and him in an embarrassing position with the government. Stedman said that it was because he told the truth and the truth was disagreeable. In the narrative which was found offensive at Washington there was a sentence or two pleasing to Gen. James "of rifled cannon notoriety." Stedman had written of the cannon "as having done some service."

It was not praise in the nature of: "I have used your cannon and now will have no other," nor did it include testimonials of effectiveness from the confederates with "before and after" pictures, but it was appreciated by James. How the general showed his pleasure was told by the poet in a letter published with others in the current Harper's Magazine in an article, "A Post in War Time," with an introduction and comment by Laura Stedman.

> Going there, I found that he (James) had been greatly pleased at some little sentence in my Ball's Bluff letter in which his cannon was mentioned as having done some service, and wished to put $50 at my disposal. You may be sure that I never was more surprised in my life—since I had just said, "O, for $50!" but was not aware that we had the slightest claim to the gratitude of anybody. Well, I took his agent's name, and shall next week draw for the amount, and it will materially aid us in moving. Isn't it odd? Of course he expects me to keep a lookout for his guns hereafter, and I believe I can do so with a clear conscience.

To question Mr. Stedman's sincerity or honesty would be worse than injustice. It would be an absurdity. His patriotism, as his wife says, was "inflamed." He saved the colors of the Fifth Massachusetts at Bull Run, and with Villard of the New York Herald tried to rally the panic striken federal troops. His justification of the war which he wrote to his mother may be looked on now as romantic, but no one can doubt that it contained the sentiments of a man of sensitive honor, high courage, and unspotted ideals.

"Men that we once despised as small politicians, loafers, traders, and whatnot," he wrote, "are having all the good and heroic in them developed—are brightly transformed amid these altered scenes and nobler motives."

Gen. James and his $50 do not challenge Stedman, but they do indicate that a standard has been raised. Writers can and probably do take perquisites tainted in a way this cannon money was not, but they do it with consciousness of venality. A man of Stedman's probity now could not make even a slight compromise. Whether it be that there is a keener comprehension of motives, there is at least a different standard for the honest, however much disregarded by the corrupt.

AN AUTHORITY ON THE CATALPA.

We have printed several communications criticising our opposition to the catalpa as a street tree. We maintain that it is backed by good authority. There has just appeared "The Care of Trees in Lawn, Street, and Park" by B. E. Fernow, professor of forestry in the University of Toronto, and a man of continental reputation for his knowledge of trees. Turning to page 278 we find this about the catalpa:

> It is mainly of interest because of its large tropical looking and rather ungainly foliage, which is among the latest to appear and the earliest to fall. . . . It has not much claim for beauty, with its ungainly sprawling limbs and unsymmetrical outline. The successive fall of its flowers, leaves, and fruit makes it uncleanly. . . . Its commercial value has been lately much overrated.

The catalpa is nothing more than an ungraceful giant shrub. It gives no shade and to line city streets with them is to make a grave error, as the future will prove.

ST. LOUIS is raising a howl because its season of grand opera is limited to four nights. The howl might be louder still if it could have a month or six weeks of it.

IN the case of Dr. Morlan the lesson is that if the city can not afford to have signs at the street corners it should station map peddlers in convenient localities for the use of physicians who are trying to find their way to the homes of their patients.

IN addition to the cost of living, which is high enough to be almost prohibitory, the country is now about to learn something more concerning the cost of moving.

THIS ought to be a great year for maple sap. The forests are emerging from their second winter.

More Zeal than Knowledge.

Owing to the sickness of one of the regular attendants in the menagerie department of the big show the canvasman with the scar on his cheek had been detailed to take his place.

WHO'S COMING BACK?

GRANVILLE FARQUHAR, who is almost as well known in this country as in England, having married some fourteen years ago Miss Helen Livingston, daughter of the late Edward L. Livingston of New York, has just rented on a long lease the beautiful country seat of Lord Redesdale, known as Batsford Park, which Lord Redesdale declared himself some months ago as unable to retain, owing to the increased taxes imposed upon everything in the shape of landed property. Granville Farquhar is a cousin of Gilbert Farquhar, the actor, and also of Lord Farquhar, the permanent lord in waiting of the king, and for a number of years the master of the royal household, which he entirely reorganized.

The Farquhars are descended from Sir Robert Farquhar of Gilmilnscroft, in Ayrshire, a place which has been in the possession of the family for some 500 years. Sir Robert was deputy receiver of Scotland in the reign of Charles I., his great-great-grandson Walter was physician to the prince regent, and was by him created a baronet in 1796. Sir Walter's second son, Robert, was first governor and commander-in-chief of the Mauritius, after its conquest in 1811, and, exercising a species of suzerainty in the name of the English crown over Madagascar, placed the Radama dynasty on the throne of that island, a dynasty of which the now exiled queen of Madagascar, a captive in Algeria, is the last representative.

He in turn was made a baronet for his services in 1826, and four of his sons held his baronetcy in turn, the eldest dying as secretary of legation at Peking, while the fifth son, Horace, received a baronetcy of his own, the third in the family, some twenty-three years ago, being subsequently advanced to the peerage as Lord Farquhar.

The present chief of the house of Farquhar is Sir Henry Farquhar of Gilmilnscroft, who makes his home in the ancestral mansion at Gilmilnscroft. His brother Granville, who is a member of the London stock exchange and rich, has a house in London, in Park street, rents the Glenlivet moors in Banffshire from the duke of Richmond and Gordon, along with the shooting lodge pertaining thereto, and has now taken Batsford park from Lord Redesdale.

The mansion, which is quite modern, is roomy and most comfortable, with a large hall and spacious dining room. The great feature, however, of the place, is the grounds, and especially the so-called wild garden, which, laid out by skilled Japanese gardeners under the personal direction of Lord Redesdale, is a triumph of landscape gardening and without a rival in England in its alliance of art and nature.

Indeed, it was the beauty of the gardens at Batsford park, with its medley of running streams and pools, dotted with rare water lilies, its small waterfalls, its rocks and bowlders, its mosses, its bamboos of every species, its Japanese wild roses, clumps of beautiful azaleas, Japanese anemones, Austrian briars, crimson ramblers, white clematis, all blended together so harmoniously, that led the king to entrust Lord Redesdale with the complete transformation of the gardens and grounds at Balmoral, at Sandringham, and around Windsor.

To many Americans Lord Redesdale will be more familiar under his former name of Algernon Bertram Mitford, better known as "Bartie" Mitford, which figures as that of the author on the title page of "Tales of Old Japan," a country in which he spent several years as secretary of the British legation.

Sir John Dickson-Poynder, who has just been appointed to the governorship and command-in-chief of the dominion of New Zealand, with a salary of $35,000 a year and allowances of half as much more, in succession to Lord Plunket, has, in spite of his 44 years, seen quite a good deal of life, having won the Order for Distinguished Service, for conspicuous gallantry in the Boer war, where he was A. D. C. to Gen. Lord Methuen, and having represented the Northwestern division of Wiltshire in the house of commons for some eighteen years.

He comes of fighting stock, for of the five previous holders of his baronetcy four were distinguished officers of the navy and the other a veteran of the Indian army, the baronetcy, indeed, having been conferred in the first place upon Admiral Sir Archibald Dickson in recognition of his services afloat under Nelson.

Sir John owes his additional name of Poynder to the fact that he inherited the Poynder property and the Hillmarton manor estates in Wiltshire from his mother's brother in 1887, the bequest being rendered conditional on his assumption of the Poynder name and arms, in addition to those of Dickson. He is married to a daughter of Henry Dundas of Glenesk, in Scotland, and Lady Dickson-Poynder is a handsome, smart, and clever woman, who enjoys a considerable amount of popularity in London society.

Sir John started in as a Conservative, but unfortunately was hampered with ideals, and with a conscience. He could not understand why a mere question of loyalty to party should cause him to refrain from condemning the foolish mistakes made by Lord Midleton, first as secretary of war and afterwards as secretary for India. Moreover, he held progressive views on the subject of education, which were quite offensive to Lord Hugh Cecil and his friends, and when, at the last general election, the Conservative party went to the length of putting up a candidate against him in his own constituency, and the Liberals of that locality accepted him as their candidate and returned him by an overwhelming majority, he naturally became, ipso facto, a Liberal, and ceased to be a Conservative.

He is, however, so insubordinate to party discipline and objects so strongly to accepting, at the dictation of the party leaders, views of which he at heart disapproves, that the government has found him something of an enfant terrible, and has accordingly persuaded him that his talents were wasted in parliament and would be turned to much more advantageous account by his administration on behalf of the crown of one of its great colonial dependencies. That is why he is about to expatriate himself, with Lady Dickson-Poynder, for a term of five and possibly seven years.

Of course, New Zealand is one of the most delightful of the great satrapies in the gift of the government, for New Zealand enjoys the distinction of not only possessing the most salubrious climate on the face of the globe, but also of being the one particular country in the world where the Anglo-Saxon race improves mentally, and above all physically, the average height of the Britons born there being six feet on reaching manhood.

Sir John ought to do well as governor and commander-in-chief of New Zealand, for he is rich, popular, and possesses a practical idea of administration, which he has shown to advantage in his work as a member of the London county council, as chairman of several of the great metropolitan hospitals, and as leader of a movement for the regular employment of time expired soldiers. He has been several times in America with Lady Dickson-Poynder, on the last occasion in connection with his work as a member of the royal commission on the regulation of the street traffic of London.

Edward Charles Dimsdale of the Rifle brigade, whose engagement to Catherine Barclay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Barclay of Pelham hall, Hertfordshire, has just been announced, is one of those comparatively rare Englishmen who can boast of the possession of a foreign title, borne with the consent of the English crown.

It was bestowed upon an ancestor of his, an eminent medical man of the eighteenth century, who was specially invited by Empress Catherine of Russia to the court of St. Petersburg for the purpose of inoculating herself and the grand duke, her son, against smallpox, and in order to introduce the art of inoculation into Russia. He acquitted himself so much to the satisfaction of his imperial patients that he was rewarded with the hereditary title of baron of the Russian empire, with the prefix of "Honorable."

In addition to this she created him a councilor of state, presented him with $100,000, and the right of adding to his armorial bearings a wing of the Russian black eagle. Dr. Dimsdale was a grandson of that Robert Dimsdale who accompanied William Penn to America in 1682.

A LINE-O'-TYPE OR TWO.

YEO-HO! YEO-HO!

I'm a bo'sun on a moving van,
And I sail the stony pave;

Of a lamp or a tall pier glass,
Awakens a song that echoes long
As I gaze on the shivering mass.

Yet higher mounts the gleeful lay
When I come to the grand piano,
And I press my knees to its trembling keys

Yo-ho! while the breakers break. R. P.

THE opera game getting a trifle too swift for Hammerstein, he has cashed in what chips remained in his famous hat. He is a good sport, but there is no chance of breaking even. Opera is subsidized, in one form or another, in Paris, Berlin, Munich, St. Petersburg, New York, and in every other city in which it is sung. In this town the size of the annual deficit will determine the permanency of "permanent" grand opera. Here's hoping it won't run into six figures.

IT WAS APPRECIATION.

[From the Washington, Ia., Democrat.]

Dad burn his old picture, if we had him where we could lay our hands on him we would "whoop" him within an inch of his life. Dumgast him and dad burn him and also doggone him! We reckon that will hold him for a while. Last week one day he took a fall out of the Democrat's musical critic again and we can whip him for it. Every time the musical critic of the Democrat gets off something unusually fine he has to butt in and poke fun at it and we are tired of it, so now.

AN eastern odist is put forward by the New York Sun as a rival to Charles Rozell Alloway, dean of the Lake Poets. He is not bad, but he does not approach the bard who made Milwaukee famous. Alloway has no rival, unless it be the eminent author, J. F. Dorgan. But they are so unlike that comparisons are as odious as in the case of Slezak and Caruso.

STILL another voice is our new poet, Quintus Horatius Flaccus. Mr. Flaccus writes indifferent English, but his Latin is excellent. We hope to hear from him again.

WHO'S AFRAID? CONFESS!

[From the Atchison Globe.]

The Globe declared that it did not admire Maud Adams, the actress. Mrs. John J. Ingalls confesses today that she does not. We suppose there are many others who do not admire Maud Adams, but are afraid to say so. We have noticed that many people say to us: "WHAT! You don't admire Maud Adams!" (As though it were a penitentiary offense.) And inquiry develops that these indignant admirers of Miss Adams have never seen her!

FOR cards of thanks, the Laidlaw (Ore.) Chronicle charges $1; for resolutions of condolence, $2; and for original poetry, 10 cents a line. We hope that the Line-o'-Type poets appreciate our liberality.

Washington, D. C., April 28.—[Special.]—Health Commissioner Evans' campaign for the protection of Chicago's milk supply by means of measures imposing the tuberculin test and pasteurization is upheld in every detail by a bulletin issued tonight by the department of agriculture.

While not mentioning Chicago and its health officer by name, the bulletin commends the adoption by all large cities of the regulations devised by Dr. Evans. The findings of the department are based on an investigation which in part was conducted in and around Chicago.

The recommendations of the department made as a basis for regulations by the public health officers follow:

That all dairy farm cows producing milk for market purposes be tagged, tattooed, or otherwise marked for identification.

That all milk produced on such dairy farms shall either come from tuberculin tested cattle, which shall be retested at least once a year, or be subjected to pasteurization under the supervision of the health authorities in case the herd is not tuberculin tested.

That no additions to any herd, whether the herd has been tested or not, shall be made in the future without subjecting the additional cattle to the tuberculin test.

That no license for the sale of milk shall in future be granted except to applicants having herds free of tuberculosis.

That the milk of cattle showing any of the udder affections above mentioned, or anthrax, rabies, gastro-enteritis, septic conditions, or clinical symptoms of tuberculosis, shall not be utilized as human food, even though the milk be pasteurized. Milk from cows fifteen days before and five days after pasteurization shall likewise be excluded.

That veterinary inspectors of the health department make frequent visits to dairies having untested herds in order that they may discover all advanced cases of tuberculosis, or udder tuberculosis, as early as possible.

That the various states pass laws granting an appropriate indemnity to all owners of tuberculous cattle which come under their respective jurisdiction, the said animals to be slaughtered in abattoirs having federal or other efficient inspection.

The objections to the Evans regulations of the tuberculin test and pasteurization which brought about the reactionary movement in the Chicago city council and caused the investigation now being carried on by the Shurtleff commission of the Illinois legislature are answered by G. Lloyd Magruder, who presents this conclusion:

"It can no longer be doubted that dairy products—and this term includes milk, cream, ice cream, butter, and cheese—are excellent culture media for pathogenic bacteria. Outbreaks of typhoid fever, scarlet fever, diphtheria, sore throat, and intestinal disorders of children have been definitely traced to contaminated milk. The proofs of the danger from tubercular infection of these products are accumulating daily. The opportunities for such infection are manifold. With the greatest vigilance on the part of trained inspectors and the greatest care on the part of the householder this infection cannot be entirely prevented.

"Of course the carrying out of the regulations for the production and delivery of more sanitary milk entails additional expense at the farm and the city depot. But the receipt of a single additional cent for a quart of milk would justify many improvements by the producer and the seller. A single case of illness or a funeral resulting from contaminated milk would cost far more than the slight additional price of better milk for a long period.

"Under these circumstances there should be no question about demanding that milk should be produced under conditions which would entitle it to be entered under class 1 (certified milk) or class 2 (inspected milk), as prescribed by the Washington milk conference, or, in case it does not conform to the requirements for these classes, that it should be efficiently pasteurized (class 3). To produce milk under any of these classes rigid inspection is required.

"The prices that must be charged for the first class make it almost impossible for the man of moderate means to avail himself of such milk. Class 2 milk can be produced at a lower price, but still would cost more than ordinary milk. Hence the masses must resort to the milk of class 3. With the precautions suggested, they would reasonably be assured in the use of this milk of a safe and wholesome supply at but a trifling advance in the price."

ATTACKS MANAGEMENT OF OCEAN STEAMSHIPS.

Boston, Mass., April 28.—[Special.]—In an article entitled "The Man On the Bridge," which the Atlantic Monthly declares was written by an officer of a transatlantic liner, the author declares passengers are in great danger from the overworked man on the bridge and that record runs are often faked. He says:

"I have been left in charge of a liner carrying about thirty-three hundred persons, when I have been from thirty to forty hours on my feet and without sleep or rest. The safety of all has depended upon my vigilance at a time when soul, mind and body long have been worn out.

"All this in waters crowded with shipping and where vessels are subjected to the whims of tides.

"Some years ago elaborate plans were drawn up for the safety of liners when clear of the land. I refer to the tracks agreed upon by the leading steamship companies. But the gravest and most unwarrantable risks are taken in the worst place in the world—the English channel—and under the worst possible conditions.

"Sailors upon leaving port, often muddled through drink, are of no assistance to the officer in keeping a lookout. The officers, though not through drink, are worse than muddled.

"Their faculties are impaired, their eyes are almost closed, their bodies are worn out; all this through false economy, or ignorance and bad management on somebody's part."

Referring to records, he says navigators for the sake of making a record take a northern course of their own after leaving Sandy Hook instead of the straight course they are supposed to take.

AN OBJECTOR TO HUGHES.

[Rockford Register-Gazette.]

Mr. Bryan is about the only objector to the nomination of Gov. Hughes to the Supreme bench, basing his position on the fact that the governor was not for an income tax and that he preferred that the question of 2 cent fares be left to the public utilities commission rather than that it be disposed of by act of the legislature. The people of New York, however, have seemed disposed to take the governor's judgment on the passenger rate, which is now under the power of the public commission. The latter form of administration of transportation issues, under the board chosen by Gov. Hughes, has commended itself to the general public as impartial and just to both the general public and the investing public.

CUTTING DOWN COST OF LIVING.

[St. Paul Pioneer Press.]

The proprietor of a meat shop in Sioux Falls, S. D., has done something that promises real results in the way of reducing the cost of living. He advertises that he has "no telephones, no deliveries, and no bookkeepers." He invites his prospective customers to call, pick out what they want, pay for it, and do their own delivering. He promises to sell them meat at prices that will save to them the cost of the service furnished by other dealers. It is a sort of coöperative scheme in which the purchaser earns what he saves.

SUCCESS IN THE GRASP OF "4,000" CAMPAIGN.

Success in the "4,000" membership campaign of the Association of Commerce is within its grasp. One hundred new names were recorded yesterday. Two hundred more are needed to complete the total. The leaders are confident that these will be ready to crown with triumph the banquet of the association at the La Salle hotel tonight, which will close the campaign.

"I expect to receive one hundred applications at the banquet," said General Manager Walter D. Moody last night. "Of the other hundred that we need I am positive that the greater number already are in the pockets of canvassing members. A great many of them have been working hard this week and I know of many applications which have not yet been turned in. Up to now I have been charry of predictions, but on the eve of the finish I don't hesitate to say that we will make the 4,000 and a comfortable margin over."

"An effort to bring about conditions which can be transmitted to our children as a legacy of infinitely more value than the accumulation of property." This was the brand placed upon the association's work by E. S. Conway, former president, at yesterday's "booster" luncheon in the Great Northern hotel.

C. A. Eastman, W. D. Moody, and R. H. Pitkin were the other speakers, but Mr. Conway's address was the keynote, calling upon Chicago business men to join the association as a patriotic duty. He denounced political graft but without specific reference.

"As citizens," he said, "the question comes to each of us, What are we working for? I think I have your answer—namely: that our ambition in life is to acquire and leave a competency for those who are to follow us; first, our own offspring, and, secondly, society as a whole.

"Personally, I would much prefer to start my children in life with a good education, good health, and well balanced morals, with a healthy, clean city, county, state, and national government, and without any other assets, than to leave to each of them $1,000,000 in gold, but with our governments honeycombed with vice and dishonesty.

"The prevalence of graft is becoming so universal that it is alarming, and when we consider that no man can sell himself without a buyer it of necessity links organized capital closely to organized graft and gives unmistakable evidence of the existence of a low standard of public ethics in our business life. Civic bodies, like our association, are the agencies by means of which the standard of business morals and ethics must be raised."

In conclusion, urging the increase of membership, Mr. Conway said:

"The desire to accumulate wealth along honored lines is most commendable, for it lies at the basis of all prosperity. But duties to the family and the community in which we live and of which we are a part should never be secondary to the accumulation of wealth. No instrumentality for the advancement of the general welfare was ever invented that is so directly effective as the Chicago Association of Commerce."

MOTHERS PROMISE AID TO PLAN FOR "THEIR DAY."

Coöperation in the "mothers' day" program suggested by Gov. Deneen in his proclamation of Wednesday, naming Sunday, May 8, is promised by the Illinois Congress of Mothers, 10,000 strong, and similar celebrations in other states are being urged by the 500,000 women connected with the national congress.

"By a general observance of a special day we hope to start a general uplift movement," said Mrs. Edgar A. Hall, publicity chairman of the national organization, yesterday. "We now publish a monthly magazine, called the Child's Welfare, and in the coming issue there is to be an appeal to all mothers to urge special sermons in all the churches.

"The union of mothers of every race and creed is growing closer constantly. Even in Texas I find that no less than 800 clubs have sprung up during the last two years, and the numbers of women interested in some of the states far pass Illinois' 10,000."

Mrs. Hall says that the national organization has associated with it the societies in Mexico, Bolivia, Cuba, and other foreign countries, and that greater expansion probably will be announced at the Denver convention in June. An international convention is to be held at Washington next year. The Illinois congress is to hold its annual meeting at Rockford on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of next week.

The women are interested particularly in the better education of children to fit them for family responsibilities. One method is that outlined in Gov. Deneen's proclamation—sermons from the church pulpits directed at the parents and also giving suggestions to the children. The other is a course in the public schools, compulsory for all, teaching the boys and girls the demands and responsibilities of parenthood. It is urged also that every church organize a motherhood society.

DO POPLARS DROP CATKINS?

Chicago, April 28.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—In defense of your editorial on the catalpa attacked by a contributor who objects to the Carolina poplar for "an adept at carelessness, beginning with the dropping of its catkins" allow me to say that the Carolina poplar doesn't drop catkins. The contributor confounds the poplar with the cottonwood.

TOBACCO CHEWERS, TOO.

Chicago, April 25.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Here is another who would like to congratulate THE TRIBUNE on its timely article in the issue of April 17 on the subject "Smoking in Public Places." If the discussion of this matter will have any weight in bringing about a realization of the nuisance of this evil on the part of the offenders, by all means let us keep it before the public. The writer would like to go farther and protest against the disgusting tobacco chewing that is permitted in many business offices. One would think, with the invasion of women into the business world, common courtesy on the part of men would prompt a cessation of this filthy habit, during office hours, at least.

EDWARD B. HAYWARD.

OPERA SALARIES IN ENGLAND.

Chicago, April 27.—[Editor of the Tribune.]—"Melba and Tetrazzini are the only great stars engaged for the Covent Garden opera season, as the London syndicate did not feel that it could pay the large salaries that many of the opera singers have received in the United States."

I notice the foregoing in a London cablegram, printed in Tuesday's papers. That great center of opera—the world's metropolis—limited to two "great stars" because of expense!

And here in Chicago we have heard within the month Caruso, Farrar, Fremstad, Gadski, Homer, Scotti, Jörn, Nielsen, De Pasquali, Slezak, and Bonci; not to mention Miss Gluck, Mrs. Osborn-Hannah, Campanari, Destinn, De Hidalgo, Martin, Fornia, and others.

Not all to be classed with Melba, of course, yet artists of varied, and, some of them, of supreme gifts. The mere enumeration should answer detractors of Chicago's opera season. Will there be such a wealth of music for various tastes heard in Covent Garden?

A. R. G.

WOES OF THE INVENTORS.

Chicago, April 26.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The headlines of this morning's TRIBUNE, "Patent Frauds," will appeal as a fact to more than 500,000 inventors and thinkers in the United States. Mr. Fetzer's article is correct, I am sure, viewed by a great many of inventors. The question is: What would we have without them, and why should the United States government issue letters patent intended to protect an inventor against all comers, yet put the burden of legality upon the inventor, to fight the issue with his money and alone, should occasion require it?

If the government has missed anything the patent attorneys certainly have not. When the proper remedy is applied with a hard jolt a long felt want will have been reached.

BREWERS PLAN TO CORNER LICENSES?

"Cut throat leases" by means of which the breweries were said to be trying to corner all the city saloon licenses have been heard of frequently in recent years, but not until yesterday did one of them become public.

In a hearing of contests for the reissuance of licenses, City Collector Magerstadt was given possession of documents which proved to his satisfaction at least that the breweries were campaigning to put the small, independent saloonkeeper out of business.

The papers in the case were the lease from a brewery to a saloonkeeper in which the latter signed away rights to his license and to his leasehold to such an extent that he could be ousted at any moment the brewery saw fit, and an agreement which again swore away all claim to the license on the part of the saloonkeeper.

The contest in question was that of the United States Brewing company against Joseph M. Lacks, 1903 Elston avenue, and the men acting as judges in the case—Collector Magerstadt and two assistants to the corporation counsel, John J. Bellman and William D. Barge—intimated that their decision today will be against the brewery.

Text of Iron Bound Lease.

Said party of the second part hereby covenants that he will on the first day of November and the first day of May of each and every year hereafter during the term of this lease procure a license from the city of Chicago to maintain a saloon on said premises for the then next ensuing six months period, and that said second party shall immediately after the issuance of each such license assign the same to such person as the party of the first part herein may designate.

Then follows another section in which Lacks agreed to waive his right to a formal demand for rent before he could be evicted and his right to a notice from the brewery of its decision or intention to declare the lease at an end.

The agreement signed by Lacks and by Edwin Bluthardt for the brewery prescribed that Lacks "knows and understands that the said license belongs to the person designated in said license assignment [to the United States Brewing company] and that the said Joseph M. Lacks has no right of any nature in or to the said license or its renewal and agrees that the same is the sole and exclusive property of said assignee."

Sees Plan to Corner Licenses.

"To me the evidence so far," said Mr. Magerstadt, "clearly indicates that the breweries are endeavoring to put the small saloonkeeper out of business and to corner the licenses, which since the number has been limited have become valuable."

As evidence of the pursuance of such a policy a number of "friendly" acts performed by the brewers for saloonkeepers are as follows:

Loaning money in periods of financial difficulty.
Lending financial and legal aid when saloonkeepers are arrested.

The position of the examiners was that where a saloonkeeper had been loaned money by a brewery and had assigned his license as security, he had the right to repay the loan and reclaim full title to his license.

The license of Charles Deyo, 437 South Hoyne avenue, was contested by the Seipp Brewing company, but when the saloonkeeper showed that the license had been unquestionably his own until 1906, when he borrowed from the brewery to help pay his license fee and gave an assignment in return, the examiners told the brewery agent, E. J. Evans, that if Deyo owed his company any money it could be collected without a seizure of the license.

CLAIM ON BREWERIES AND ROAD

City Prosecutor May Require Big Force to Remove Property on Smoke Judgments.

City Prosecutor White obtained executions yesterday against thirteen violators of the anti-smoke ordinance who had failed to pay fines previously imposed. The offenders will now either have to pay or their property will be levied on. Those against whom the bailiff will proceed today are: George A. Keiser, 317 North Clark street; Colonial Leather company, 306 Elston avenue; Cooke Brewing company; A. J. Flynn, 44 North Clark street; Stenson brewery; Vincennes Hotel company; Hartford Deposit company, 140 Dearborn street; Fulton Street Market, Rose Bros., Lorraine F. Boyer, Eugene Pike, Monadnock building, Maurice Rothschild, John F. Mayer, New York, Cincinnati and St. Louis railroad company.

CITY WARNS MAY 1 MOVERS.

Hearing Van Men Plan to Charge $3 an Hour, the Legal Rates Are Cited.

The city law department informally issued a warning to May 1 movers to be careful about the rates paid for the use of vans, trucks, and other vehicles.

Learning that the moving men were planning to charge $3 or more an hour for their services, Howard W. Hayes, assistant corporation counsel, made public the rates permitted under the ordinances.

The legal provision for charges is as follows: Furniture wagon with one horse and driver, $1.25 an hour; with two horses and driver, $1.50 an hour; with two horses and two men, $2 an hour; each additional man, 50 cents an hour.

MURDER CASE TO JURY TODAY.

Final Plea for Conviction of Mrs. Baker of Killing Constable to Be Made This Morning.

The final plea that Mrs. Blanche Baker be convicted of the killing of Constable Joseph Slais in March, 1906, will be made by Assistant State's Attorney Benedict J. Short before Judge Kersten this morning and the case will be given to the jury. Attorney Joseph R. Burres in the closing address for the defense yesterday afternoon appealed for freedom for Mrs. Baker and denounced the "justice shop system" which indirectly caused the shooting. Constable Slais was serving a justices' order on Mrs. Baker when he was killed.

FREIGHT MEN GET INCREASE

DISCUSS BRICK WAGE SCALE.

Employers and Workers Try to Agree on Rate of Pay.

An offer of an increase of 1 cent an hour was received yesterday by freight handlers employed on twenty-three railroads in Chicago. The offer followed a demand for a raise of 3 cents an hour. Freight handlers on the Santa Fé system accepted the offer and a committee signed an agreement on that basis. Further course of the men who did not accept will be decided soon.

Wage negotiations between brick manufacturers and their employés opened during the day at the office of the Illinois Brick company in the Chamber of Commerce building. The men demand an increase of 5 cents an hour over the present scale, which will expire tomorrow evening, and a proportionate increase for piece workers.

About 3,000 men are involved. The present agreement was made three years ago. One of the difficult questions up for adjustment relates to the new automatic loading devices installed in the brickyards and the number of men displaced by the machines.

It is predicted that more than 1,000 men will be dispensed with, and the officers of the union insist that as a result the men should be compensated in a measure by an increase in wages. The conferences probably will continue several days.

POSTAL WILL RAISE WAGES.

New York, April 28.—[Special.]—E. J. Nally, vice president and general manager of the Postal Telegraph company, made a statement today in which he said:

"The Postal Telegraph Cable company announces that on June 1 it will make substantial increases in the wages of its telegraph operators in all the important offices of its system. These offices are to be classified according to their comparative importance.

"The increases will be selective and will run from 5 to in some cases as high as 25 per cent.

"Careful examination and full inquiry will be made as to the merits of each individual operator; ability to be the first requisite. Experience and other special fitness will count in each man's favor and all will be graded accordingly."

GRAND JURY HEARS COAL FIRM'S MEN

James P. Connery Contracts Under Scrutiny; One Indictment Agreed Upon.

With an indictment practically agreed upon against one man in connection with city coal graft the grand jury yesterday directed its inquiry into the affairs of the Miami Coal company and the Chicago Fire Appliance company.

James P. Connery, whose contracts to furnish coal to the Chicago fire department and through which, it is alleged, the city has lost $55,000, is an officer in both of the companies. Besides hearing testimony from four witnesses connected with the two concerns, the grand jury asked for certain books and papers of the City Fuel company and a subpœna duces tecum was issued in the state's attorney's office in the afternoon.

Study Connery Contracts.

The contracts made with Connery by the city came in for scrutiny at the hands of the jury during the day. Surprise was expressed by the grand jurors when John Nordstrom of the Fire Appliance company testified that the company kept no records and made out no invoices. Subpœnas for other officials of the company are reported to have been issued.

Further disclosures concerning the alleged graft from substitution of cheap coal in place of that called for in the fire department contracts were made before the grand jury by investigators for the Merriam commission. Herbert Fleming, chief investigator, was in the grand jury room for more than an hour. He is said to have given data as to the cost of the various grades of coal, and declared that the coal named in the city contracts was worth from $3.60 to $4.50 a ton, while the fuel substituted for it was sold on the market as low as $2.25 a ton.

Busy Day for Jury.

W. L. Hart, another investigator, who traced a number of cars of the alleged substitute coal from the mines in Illinois, was a witness during the final minutes of the afternoon session, which was extended to 6:30 o'clock. Earlier in the day Charles R. Carpenter gave testimony concerning the substitution charges.

Fire Marshal James Horan was a visitor at the Criminal court building during the afternoon, but did not go before the investigating body. He held a lengthy conference with Assistant State's Attorney Marshall.

More rumors of dissension among the grand jurors in connection with the coal graft were heard during the day. The reports were laughed at in the state's attorney's office, where preparations to subpœna more witnesses for today's inquiry were under way.

PURPLE INK RAIN RUINS HATS.

Women's Garments Suffer When Bottle of Ink Falls, and One, Struck by It, Is Injured.

A rain of purple ink in front of 101 State street yesterday afternoon stained the hats and garments of a number of women and resulted in bruises to Miss May Flanagan, a stenographer residing at 3227 West Polk street. The rain came from a bottle of ink which fell or was thrown from a window. The bottle struck Miss Flanagan on the hat, completely ruining it and bruising her head and right shoulder and spotting her coat in many places.

A Word About Selecting Wall Paper

Always see your wall paper in the roll before you purchase. Go to a show room and get the effect of two or three widths placed side by side. In no other way can you accurately tell how the paper will look in your home. Designs selected from a small sample are often fatal when hung. Patterns and colorings may look exquisitely beautiful in a small piece and yet be harshly unsuitable when viewed in the mass.

BANK STILL HOLDS OLD HEINZE NOTES

POINT FOR DEFENDANT.

$500,000 Loan Shown to Have Been Secured by $2,000,000 Securities.

New York, April 28.—Demand notes given years ago by Otto Heinze & Co. as the only collateral for loans aggregating $431,000 still are held by the Mercantile National bank of this city, according to testimony introduced today at the trial of F. Augustus Heinze.

He is charged with misappropriating the funds of the institution and with overcertification of the checks of Otto Heinze & Co. and is being tried in the criminal branch of the United States Circuit court.

Testimony to Heinze's Advantage.

Emil Klein, the bank's cashier, was the only witness of the day. Under the examination of United States District Attorney Wise he told of loans to Otto Heinze & Co., but under the questioning of John B. Stanchfield, counsel for the defendant, he gave testimony of decided advantage to Heinze.

It developed under Stanchfield's cross examination that the $500,000 loan of Oct. 14, made so much of by Mr. Wise in the direct examination, was amply secured by over $2,000,000 worth of stocks and bonds. Mr. Wise made it appear that there was no collateral put up by Heinze.

Morse Brought Into Case.

Mr. Wise in his redirect examination brought out that Charles W. Morse, now serving a fifteen year sentence at Atlanta, was chairman of the bank's board of directors when the loan was made and that the ample collateral put up by Heinze was not obtained by the bank until two days after the loan was made.

John H. Batten and Charles J. O'Connor are the two opposing candidates for president of the Hamilton club under the new election law, just passed by the club, which is said to eliminate the advantage formerly held by the "Regular" candidates as against the "Members'" candidates.

CHARGES RAIL POOL IN OHIO.

Attorney General Says Fourteen Roads Maintain Illegal Combination to Keep Up Coal Rates.

Columbus, O., April 28.—Attorney General Denman in a report filed with the legislature today charged that fourteen railroads, united under the name of the Ohio Coal Traffic association, maintain an illegal combination to keep up coal rates in Ohio. This, he says, is in contempt of the Valentine anti-trust law.

The attorney general says he has been in possession of the association's minutes and continues:

"These records show there has been no real competition between those roads for the transportation of coal, but, on the contrary, the competition which otherwise would prevail to the benefit of the public was completely and entirely suppressed."

The report says coal is transported for railroads at rates 25 per cent lower than those charged the general public.

ASK AID FOR COLLEGE CHURCH.

Presbyterians Will Lose $50,000 Pledged for Illinois University Fund Unless Remainder Is Secured.

Fifty thousand dollars of conditional donations to the endowment fund of the Presbyterian church at the University of Illinois will be lost to the institution unless enough more to bring the fund to $60,000 is subscribed before midnight tomorrow.

The church is intended to be built in Champaign to furnish a place of worship for Presbyterian students at the university. Ground for the edifice has been purchased.

The Rev. W. S. P. Bryan, pastor of the Church of the Covenant, the Rev. Martin E. Anderson, and the Rev. R. C. Hughes, secretary for university work of the board of education of the Presbyterian church, are in charge of raising the fund. Subscriptions by telegraph and by telephone will be received by them up to midnight tomorrow.

COY COMET SHOWS ITSELF.

Becomes Visible for Only Fifteen Minutes to Astronomers—May Soon Become More Bold.

Halley's comet appeared for fifteen minutes yesterday morning. The entire staff of Yerkes observatory was in waiting and the whole broadside of telescopes, big and little, were trained on the wanderer. Its appearance was too brief to admit of photographs being made, however.

"We are losing precious time every day now," said Prof. Frost yesterday. "We ought to be making observations which would be the most solid addition ever made to the lore of comets. The cloudy weather is disheartening.

"We expect a clear sky this morning. If we are not disappointed we will know exactly what changes have taken place in the last ten days. If the sky is clear the comet can be plainly seen by the naked eye."

NEW INSURANCE CONCERN HERE

The capital stock of $100,000 has been subscribed and the legal requirement deposited with the state insurance department. Richard A. Napier, formerly of R. A. Napier & Co., insurance brokers, is one of the heavies stockholders, among whom are John P. Tansey, former secretary of the Democratic county committee; Leslie R. Bain, Attorney H. V. Shepard, Attorney Frank L. Shepard, John Laurie, E. E. Jaycox, and George B. Abbott. Mr. Abbott is the president.

FIRE LOSSES OF A DAY.

ALBANY, Mo.—Four stores burned here, causing a loss of $100,000, partly insured. The townspeople formed a bucket brigade and it was with difficulty that the destruction of the entire business district was prevented.

MANCHESTER, N. H.—George Putney, janitor of the Oddfellows building in this city, and his wife are believed to have lost their lives in a fire which burned out the building. The financial loss is estimated at $125,000.

BULLS TIRE OF HEAVY LOAD

BUYING POWER IS LIMITED.

Cash Inquiry Slow for Both Wheat and Corn; Hog Products Lower.

The wheat market was heavy all through the early part of the session yesterday, losing about all of the late advance of Monday, but in the last hour there was a little firmer tone, with a modest rally in values. Closing figures were ⅝c lower. General trade was not any more active than recently, but there was some increased pressure from liquidation, tired and discouraged holders being inclined to part with their lines. The same bearish influences were effective in depressing prices as recently, cables coming lower, the cash demand being slow, and outside buying orders in a hopeless minority for a time. The bull leaders sold a world of July early, but bought the September on the break. Armour was a seller of wheat on the bulge and there was also selling by Rankin, Barrett, Chapin, and Snydacker.

Fair Trade in May Future.

Trade in May wheat was quite active and there was scattered liquidation. Knight-McDougal started the selling of the nearby month and there were traders who believed this to be Waterman's wheat, but others were of the opinion Waterman is standing pat on his line, and operating through different houses than earlier in the season. There was nothing particularly to indicate that he was unloading any May. The demand for this month was light and prices broke on moderate selling. The crop news was bullish in the main, but, although traders were more inclined to place confidence in the sensational advices since the Coburn report on Kansas conditions, there was no new outside buying of importance. Kansas and Nebraska conditions are bad, but the bears claim much damage is discounted by the price.

Farm Sales Are Decreasing.

Primary receipts were small at 230,000 bu, but were still a little larger than for the same time a year ago. Local receipts were 8 cars, with the same number inspected yesterday. Minneapolis wheat stocks decreased 375,000 bu for five days. The milling demand for wheat is only fair in the northwest and dead here, No. 2 red selling at 1c over the May in the local market. Liverpool closed ⅛@⅜d lower. Antwerp was ⅜c off; Budapest, ⅝c up; Berlin, ⅜c off, and Paris, unchanged to ⅛c up.

May Corn Holders Are Sellers.

Liquidation continues in May corn and the general news was not of a tenor to make the bulls hold out any longer. The cash market was heavy, with prices ½@1c off, and while receipts are running light, the demand for shipment does not improve much. Stocks are so large, moreover, that until the May is out of the way new buying doubtless will be light. Primary receipts were only 182,000 bu, against 242,000 bu a year ago. Receipts here were 48 cars, with 28 cars expected today. The run here is small, and arrivals are not expected to increase much until after corn planting. Cables were ½d higher on bullish reports from the Argentine and the continued small shipments from that country. Final prices for futures were ⅝@¾c off. Cash sales were 95,000 bu.

Heavy Tone in Oats Market.

In oats the weakness in other grains was the main factor. Prices weakened materially, and there was not much active buying even on the break. Commission houses bought a few oats on the dip, but trade was without particular feature. Receipts here were small at 105 cars, with 118 cars expected today. Sample prices were ¼@½c lower. Primary arrivals were 429,000 bu, against 364,000 bu a year ago. Crop news was much more encouraging. Closing figures were ¼@⅝c lower.

Big Decline in Provisions.

Provisions closed sharply lower, after ruling steady at the start. The Cudahy buying that has been a factor in two or three recent sessions was withdrawn and liquidation started unimpeded by any important buying support. The result was a big slump. The hog situation does not become any more bearish, but the packers appear determined to buy the hogs cheaper and this is affecting the speculative trade. Receipts here were only 10,000, with that number expected today. Western hog receipts were 35,300, against 63,500 a year ago. The packing for the week was estimated at 350,000, against 415,000 a year ago. The cash trade is quiet.

Quiet Market in Rye.

Rye futures were neglected; car lots held steady. May was offered at 78c and July at 80c. No. 2 was quoted 78c, No. 3 65@75c, and No. 4 55@65c. Receipts estimated at 1 car.

Barley was steady. Malting was quoted 52@64c, mixing 42@48c, and screenings 30@47c. Receipts were estimated at 44 cars.

Timothy seed was quiet. April closed at $4.40 asked and October $4.00 nominal. Country lots, $2.75@4.00.

INTERESTING TRADE GOSSIP ON CHANGE.

Wheat bulls are relying more and more on the dry weather conditions in the Kansas and Nebraska district. The confirmation of early reports of damage from winter killing by Secretary Coburn and the bullish reports from reliable grain men in Nebraska and Kansas in regard to present conditions have changed the views of some of the traders. There were more reports of Hessian fly from this state and there were numerous reports from Missouri and Illinois to the effect that the wheat outlook was poor. In some sections of the northwest and also in Alberta and Saskatchewan there are complaints of dry weather. The heavy spring rains usually experienced throughout the belt this year have skipped the territory from southern Kansas north through Nebraska and the Dakotas as far as the Canadian line, and the drought in this belt promises to be a serious matter unless rains come soon.

Omaha wired: "A prominent representative of the International Harvester company, just returned from a trip through Nebraska, says last week was the worst weather this spring on winter wheat, and unless rain comes in few days the winter wheat crop in Nebraska will be practical failure. Says practically every order they have on binders is being held up, and claims present outlook is that they will not be able to place any new orders for binders this season. Says not selling any twine, and is afraid the early orders for twine will be canceled."

Shearson-Hammill had the following from St. Louis: "Believe the bears are overdoing the selling of wheat. The crop news is the worst yet. Many reports of Hessian fly damage, and in some instances severe damage is already reported." W. P. Anderson had several messages from St. Louis and Kansas reporting bad conditions.

Price Current: "Doubtful if winter wheat has been hurt materially, but evidently quite considerable damage to crops from extreme cold. Probably not much permanent injury to spring grains. Corn planting has suffered, and oats to some extent. Hog packing, 350,000, against 415,000 a year ago."

Cash corn was heavy and prices in the sample crowd were ½@1c lower. The demand from the east is not so good as earlier in the week, and offerings while light are not readily taken. No. 3 corn sold at 1c under the May, which is an unusually low price at this season.

Clement-Curtis estimate the total wheat acreage abandoned in the four states of Illinois, Missouri, Kansas, and Nebraska at 3,026,000 bu, and the crop promises as the wheat now stands at 146,700,000 bu, or 27,700,000 bu less than the government April figures.

No. 2 red winter wheat sold here at 1c over the May, but there was little doing in the cash market of any consequence. Offerings were light, and there was also an utter lack of demand. Northwest there was a fair inquiry, and also at St. Louis.

Closing prices of wheat in foreign markets: Liverpool, spot, unchanged to ½d lower; futures, ⅜@⅝d lower. Paris, unchanged to ⅛c higher. Antwerp, ⅜c lower. Berlin, ⅜c lower. Budapest, ⅝c higher.

John Inglis, in a report to Logan-Bryan, said conditions in southwestern Illinois and northern Missouri were not indicative of much damage to wheat. No frost damage, and reports in regard to damage of cereals and fruits exaggerated.

Le Count wired from Bradley, S. D., to Barrell & Co. that the wheat and other cereals had not suffered materially from the frost and that the general outlook in South Dakota was fine.

Minneapolis stocks of wheat decreased 375,000 bu for five days, compared with a decrease of 650,000 bu the corresponding five days a year ago.

Wheat near Ashland, Ill., has not been damaged by the cold weather, but has thin stand, according to a message to C. H. Re Qua.

Bids on the call for wheat to arrive were ⅜c lower, corn 1@2c lower, oats ½@1c lower, and rye ½c lower.

Estimated receipts are: Wheat, 8 cars; corn, 28 cars; oats, 118 cars; rye, 1 car; barley, 44 cars; hogs, 10,000.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK MARKET.

CHICAGO, April 28.—Shippers and speculators paid 5@10c higher for hogs at the outset, while packers held out, fought for steady figures, and then acknowledged defeat and amassed packing droves at an upturn of 7c from the preceding day's average. Cattle trade was dull and weak, and instances of 10c decline were noted in the late sales, although sellers made strenuous efforts to keep values from sinking. Butcher stock values were lowered 10@25c, but bulls continued brisk sale at firm figures, and an advance of 25c was made in the price of calves. Sheep held steady to weak, while lambs closed at a decline of 25c.

CATTLE.

Receipts of 6,000 head came up to expectations, but competition from outside buyers was indifferent and packers made an attempt to get their steer supplies at a further reduction in prices. Salesmen, having shaded values 10@15c Wednesday, were not in a mood to make further concessions, however, and they fought the packers all the way through. This served to retard business and until late in the afternoon there were still many loads of stock unsold, while the market was slowly giving away under the bearish pressure exerted by the killers. Buyers had less difficulty in attaining their end in the market for butcher stock and few loads of cows or heifers escaped a 10c decline, while there were many to show as much as a 25c loss. The fact that bull prices were the highest known in years did not attract any heavier marketings and salesmen had no difficulty in disposing of their holdings on a firm market. Calves were in urgent demand and sold briskly at $8.25@8.50 for the bulk of the choice vealers, with tops at $8.65. Stockers and feeders were given a severe jolt and sold at a decline of 50c from the recent high time. Quotations:

Beef steers, good to choice	$7.00@8.50
Beef cows, good to choice	5.50@6.85

Cattle at six western markets 18,100, against 23,300 a week ago, 12,700 a year ago, 14,400 two years ago. Total for 1910 to date 2,633,000, against 2,818,000 the same period in 1909.

HOGS.

Early trade indicated that shippers were liberally supplied with orders, but this was not borne out by later transactions, as outsiders withdrew from the trade soon after prices had been established at an advance of 5@10c. Packers took advantage of the exodus of outside buyers to work for a reaction to a steady level, and they were aided in this by an increase of 2,000 head in estimated receipts, which had been posted at 10,000 head at the start. The market weakened under the pressure, but packers were too quick to drop their bearish pressure, and the late trade found prices working steadily higher, while closing sales were made at figures that looked fully as high as at any time in the day. Best hogs topped at $9.65, but $9.60 was the legitimate zenith for prime butcher grades and the bulk of the supply cleared at $9.45@9.55. Pigs continued in moderate supply and active demand at firm figures. Quotations:

SHEEP.

Receipts of 11,000 head placed the market at the mercy of the buyers, and salesmen found it almost impossible to dispose of any but the choice fat grades of sheep and lambs. Sheep made up a small part of the supply and showed little actual loss in value, but the choicest fat lambs at hand cleared at a decline of 10c, while other strictly good killers sold at a reduction of 15c and the remainder of the supply cleared at a full 25c drop from the preceding day's quotations. Salesmen at first tried to check the downward trend of values, but when they found that they would have to carry most of the stock over for another day if they did not shade prices they cut loose with everything and left the buyers to place their own valuations on the stock. Best shorn lambs topped at $9.50, but only one double reached the top, and $9.00@9.35 secured the bulk of the strictly fancy offerings. Wooled lambs made $9.75, while shorn sheep topped at $8.25. Quotations:

Native ewes, shorn	4.50@6.00

Chicago Horse Market.

Prime heavy drafters were sustained at a firm level, but all other classes of horses met with a narrower demand than at the opening of the week, and sales were made at a decline of largely $5@10. The trade lacked the snap which featured dealings at this time a week ago, and stables were not cleared so satisfactorily, many plain and medium work horses remaining in the stalls without buyers. Receipts for four days this week were placed at 1,501 head, against 1,662 a week ago and 1,022 a year ago. A big falling off in the standard of quality was chiefly responsible for the depressed condition of the market.

INVESTIGATE COAL RATE PLAN

Roads Are Asked by State Board About Present Tariff.

SHIPPERS FIGHT RAISE.

Offices of Two Lines Moved from the La Salle Street Station.

The Illinois railroad and warehouse commission has decided to make an investigation of the reasonableness of the proposed advance in coal rates from southern Illinois and Indiana mines averaging from 8 to 12 cents a ton, which is to be placed in effect soon by the coal carrying roads entering Chicago.

The commission has served notice on the railroad officials and interested shippers of a public hearing to be held in Chicago on May 5, when the roads will be called upon to show cause why the present schedule of maximum rates should not be reduced and at which the first active opposition on the part of the shippers to the railroad program of advancing freight rates will be brought to the front.

The commission decided upon the investigation as the result of petitions from members of the Illinois Manufacturers' association. The Chicago Association of Commerce also will appear in protest against any advance in rates to Chicago not applied to other markets, but the brunt of the opposition is expected to be borne by the Illinois and Indiana coal operators' associations.

Frisco Line Changes Offices.

The general offices of the Frisco and Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroads are to be removed tomorrow from the La Salle street station to the seventh and eighth floors of the new McCormick building on Michigan avenue. The removal will affect the offices of the president, two vice presidents, general freight and passenger, and auditing and legal departments.

The space on the sixth floor of the La Salle street station will be occupied by the Lake Shore and the Rock Island, which will remove its mining and coal offices from the Old Colony building. It is understood that the trains of the Frisco road, which now use the La Salle street terminal, will be transferred to the Western Indiana, in which the Eastern Illinois is a part owner, when the latter builds a new terminal.

Rock Island Branch to Open.

The new cutoff of the Rock Island road from Amarillo, Tex., to Tucumcari, N. M., about 110 miles in length, is to be opened for traffic next week. The line will form a direct route from Memphis to El Paso. Originally it was intended that in connection with the Frisco line to Oklahoma City it would form a short route from Chicago to St. Louis, but on account of the separation of the two roads, it is believed this plan will be abandoned.

HARAHAN BACK; TALKS CROPS.

I. C. President Reassured by Southern Inspection Trip—Silent Regarding Graft Inquiry.

President Harahan of the Illinois Central returned yesterday morning from an inspection trip over the southern lines reassured as to the prospects for the cotton crop, but with no information he cared to make public regarding the car repair graft investigation. He had been absent from Chicago since Monday night. In regard to the investigation he said:

"The entire matter is in the hands of the legal department, and whatever they advise will be done.

"I went south because I became alarmed on account of the sudden return of winter weather. I found the cotton and corn crops have been badly damaged. Luckily it is not too late for replanting."

U. S. IS AFTER BUCKETSHOPS.

H. S. Robbins of Chicago Is Engaged as Special Counsel to Aid Government.

Washington, D. C., April 18.—[Special.]—The administration has decided to wage unrelenting war upon the bucketshops. In a statement issued by the department of justice today it was made known that Henry S. Robbins, counsel for the Chicago board of trade, has been retained by the government as special counsel in bucketshop cases.

While the department officials are reticent on the question of future campaigns against bucket operators, it is believed here the preliminary steps a few weeks ago against operators in this city, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Jersey City are not the only ones the government may take.

Mr. Robbins, it is pointed out in the formal statement, has had much experience in the prosecution of bucketshops in Illinois.

The 18-Hour Schedule Doesn't Tax "The Pennsylvania Special"

Many people wonder at its smooth, apparently effortless, run to New York in 18 hours. Of course the most faultless roadbed that mechanical skill can construct, combined with a perfectly trained operating force, help to account for that utter absence of jar and jolt which pleasantly surprises the traveler.

But the run to New York over the Chicago-New York Short Line in 18 hours does not require so high a speed so long sustained as if the line were indirect. The running time could be materially shortened, were it necessary, without the slightest difficulty.

REALTY MEN URGE ONE BROKER PLAN

Sheridan Road Property of Expressman Is Disposed Of for $32,000.

The advantage of exclusive agency, a matter which has been agitated by real estate men for a number of years, was the topic of discussion at yesterday's weekly luncheon of the Chicago real estate board.

The speakers were Marvin A. Farr and Callistus S. Ennis. Mr. Farr said that while the success of exclusive agency was dependent on the broker, it really underlies the ethics of the real estate business. He declared that central business is and ought to be, and subdivision property must be, handled by exclusive agency if the best results are to be secured. Residence property was abused, he said, more than any other by being hawked about by half a dozen or more brokers, all bidding against each other. He said the question must be considered from the viewpoint of the owner, broker, and buyer.

Benefit to Owner and Broker.

Mr. Ennis asserted that exclusive agency benefits both owner and broker and expressed the opinion that the owner is best served where he gives the exclusive agency with a fixed per cent to the agent for his services. The naming of a net price by which the agent or broker is to derive his conpensation over the net amount in lieu of commission resulted, he said, in the broker serving his principal to a certain extent, but giving an undue preference to his own interest.

He asserted that the principle of exclusive agency held as good in renting as in selling and that under present conditions the owner, instead of having one responsible, loyal agent, is likely to have several, not conserving his interest but bidding for the prospective purchaser to get the lowest price so that they can make a deal.

President Wallace announced that since the first of the year the board had admitted thirteen class A members, three class B, eight class C, and twelve class D, from whom $1,350 was derived in initiation fees.

Brink Sells His Residence.

Arthur P. Brink of Brink's Express has sold his residence at the southeast corner of Sheridan road and Montrose avenue, a fourteen room brick house on 120x192 feet of ground, for $32,000, with incumbrance of $18,000. Young & Johnson were the brokers.

Robert C. Haskins has acquired by quitclaim from the estate of Adolf E. Mayer 127x150 feet, with residence, at the northwest corner of Sheridan road and Sherwin avenue, for $33,000.

Anna B. Miller of South Bend, Ind., has bought from Arthur G. Meserve the flat property at the southwest corner of Michigan avenue and Fifty-ninth street, 70x187 feet, for $90,000, with incumbrance of $60,000.

Exercising the right to purchase in a lease made in 1905, Straus & Schram, furniture manufacturers, have acquired from John A. Spoor and A. G. Lemard 100x627 feet in Thirty-fifth street, 708 feet west of Morgan street, for $18,930, plus cost of four story warehouse, 80x200 feet.

Otto C. Jarmuth, who recently leased the ground at 9118-9120 Commercial avenue for fifty years from Lois B. Clark, has leased the store and basement of the two story building in course of construction to S. H. Knox & Co. for twenty years. Knox & Co. are to contribute toward cost of building and to pay the annual ground rent of $1,625 to Lois Clark, and to pay Jarmuth $250 in addition for the first year and $50 more during each of the twenty years, making the rent for the last year $1,200. Knox & Co. are also to pay taxes and special assessments.

Deal in Flat Property.

George J. Williams has quitclaimed to Blanche Krall 100x159 feet in State street, 150 feet north of Seventieth street, with brick improvements, for $35,000.

Samuel R. Barnett conveyed to Willis L. Simpson 25x125 feet, with store and flat building, at the southeast corner of Milwaukee avenue and Division street, for $17,000, with incumbrance of $7,000. Simpson then conveyed to Lorens H. Thalsen for $18,000.

GIVES WARNING TO FIRMS.

Government Will Examine Books of Corporations That Fail to Turn in Reports.

Corporations that have failed to make a report to the office of Internal Revenue Collector Henry L. Hertz as to their earnings and financial status under the corporation tax law are being warned by the treasury department.

Unless prompt steps are taken to furnish the collector the requested information the department will send its own experts to examine the books of these corporations and determine for themselves the standing of the organizations.

Something like 150 or 200 notices have been sent out by Collector Hertz. In addition to the tax the delinquent corporations will be charged for the services of the government in making up the report.

LOWER VALUES IN STOCKS

MONEY RATE IS A FACTOR.

Seven Per Cent for Call Funds Highest Since January.

[NEW YORK TIMES FINANCIAL LEADER.]

NEW YORK, April 28.—[Special.]—Under the influence of the same factors which brought about Wednesday's fall, prices on the exchange fell still further today, a score or more of the most prominent issues making new low records for the year as a result of declines running from 2 to 4 points or so.

Local banks again pursued the policy of calling loans in order to build up reserves depleted by large gold withdrawals and losses to the government on routine transactions. The advance in call money rates early in the day to 5 per cent and later to the maximum figure of 7 per cent provoked liquidation on the part of bewildered holders of stocks, whose offerings, reaching the market at the same moment with shares dislodged from slenderly margined speculative accounts, forced quotations steadily downward.

Volume of Business Large.

Transactions amounted to at least 1,250,000 shares. A fair sample of the pressure brought to bear on the market from speculative sources was offered by circumstsances attending the announcement of the usual dividend declaration upon Norfolk and Western shares. Without the least particle of official encouragement hopes had been aroused that the Norfolk dividend would be advanced at today's meeting of the directors to 6 per cent, and that this action could be construed as foreshadowing an increase in the dividend of Pennsylvania, which controls the Norfolk and Western. Upon news of the making of the usual declaration Norfolk and Western sold down from 102¼ to 99 and Pennsylvania was subjected to simultaneous pressure.

Late in the day moderate buying by larger interests of the financial community and a slight short covering movement rallied prices sharply, but in the absence of any widespread movement on the part of speculators for a fall to cover their sales the advance was short lived, and final quotations, therefore, were only slightly above the low of the day and much below those of Wednesday night.

Other Factors of Little Interest.

In developments other than those directly connected with the stock market the financial community appeared to have slight interest, but in due time presumably the significance of the day's cotton market will come to be understood. On the eve of the May 1 deliveries with talk insistent of something like a corner, and in spite of the most alarming reports of crop damage, cotton broke sharply. At their closing quotations present crop prices are from $1 to $1.50 below the figures at which they ruled before the south was visited by storms and frost. Certainly no undue anxiety in cotton circles is reflected in this showing.

At 7 per cent, the rate for call money is the maximum since the first week of January and reflects the determination of local banks to offset gold and other drains of the week. In addition to the liquidation of loans which such a rate at this time denotes, the position of the banks should be bettered by receipts of interior money, attracted by the high return and by the withdrawals of deposits for direct placement in the money market.

Incidentally the foreign exchange market has been affected, demand sterling rates falling to a mark at least 40 points under the figure at which exports could be profitably undertaken. The Bank of England's weekly return disclosed no change in its percentage of reserve to deposit, but the showing has been confused by the complicated government finances.

Money on call strong and higher, 3½@7 per cent; ruling rate, 4; closing bid, 6; no offer. Time loans firm; sixty days, 4@4¼ per cent, and ninety days, 4¾; six months, 4¾. Prime mercantile paper, 4¾@5 per cent. Sterling exchange weaker, with actual business in bankers' bills at 4.8425@4.8440 for sixty day bills and at 4.8780 for demand. Commercial bills, 4.83½@4.84½. Bar silver, 54¼. Mexican dollars, 44. Government bonds steady. Railroad bonds easy.

IN THE FOREIGN STOCK MARKET.

LONDON, April 28.—Money was in good demand and fair supply today. Discount rates were easy. Trading was generally quiet on the stock exchange. American rails and copper and diamond shares were weak, but Rhodesian mines and foreign bonds were fairly strong. Gilt edged securities eased in the afternoon on the disappointing statement of the Bank of England.

STREET'S STOCK DIPS LOWER

Closes, However, at 15¼; Selling Pressure Over for Time?

ILLINOIS BRICK ALSO DOWN.

Chesapeake & Ohio Stockholders Increase Stock to $100,000,000.

Street's Western Stable Car common stock touched the low point yesterday, at 13¼, and then moved up at the close to 15¼. For a number of reasons the market for the shares is now the most interesting one on the exchange. The selling pressure is believed to be over, temporarily at least. Unless the company is absolutely devoid of merit the shares should have a market value at least as good as the quotations now ruling. The old management had made an audit of the books, and this was presented about two weeks ago.

If the new interests in the company desire to know what they have on their hands it would seem that a fresh audit under their own direction would be desirable. It might coincide with the one just rendered, but no one without access to the books has any good reason to believe such to be the case. There are all kinds of audits, as records of all kinds of companies show. There is probably not a "busted" corporation in the country that has not had a certificate of soundness attached by some auditing concern. The stock exchange itself has had experience with a few of them.

Brick Shares Melt.

Illinois Brick shares sold off rapidly. The market for this stock has been for weeks an artificial one and there has been no secret of the fact. The pool has the most of its shares carried at one of the banks. The members of the pool themselves are not overburdened with wealth. They get along well enough in a quiet market, but with the tendency to contract credits such as now obtains the Brick pool has its troubles.

Boxboard in Poor Way.

United Boxboard worked still lower, but closed at 6. One advantage about speculating in Boxboard at these prices is that the loss is limited at $6 a share. Unfortunately, as matters stand, the stock does not appear to be worth much more than that amount. It might be thought that in a good market the price should advance. The stock, however, has gradually gone lower through various stages of market conditions, some of which conditions were good.

Chesapeake and Ohio Stock.

The stockholders of the Chesapeake and Ohio railway, in special session at Richmond, Va., authorized an increase of the capital stock to $100,000,000. This is an increase of $36,739,700 in the capital. The stockholders also authorized an issue of $37,200,000 twenty year 4½ per cent convertible bonds.

The bonds are issued, it was stated, to provide funds for the acquisition of a majority of the common capital stock of the Hocking Valley railway and of a substantial interest in the capital stock of the Kanawha and Michigan railway and for general improvement purposes.

Profits in Piano Making.

Some idea of the profits in piano making can be gathered from the appended official statement of Steinway & Sons, showing an average of 27½ per cent earnings on the capital covering the last ten years:

"Steinway & Sons is capitalized at 20,000 shares of the par value of $100 each, all of which was originally fully paid in. Besides this, we carry a surplus fund and undivided profit account amounting to $1,350,000. Our earnings for the last ten years have been $5,500,000 and we have paid to our share holders in cash dividends during those ten years $4,040,000. Our annual output in pianos amounts to about $3,250,000.

"As the shares of our corporation are closely held, there have not been any sales of large blocks of the stock for years past. But recently one shareholder bought a block of six shares from another shareholder and paid for it $300 a share."

Public Securities Corporation.

Albert B. Dick has been elected a director of the Farwell Trust company to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of R. W. Chapin. Mr. Chapin is the London correspondent of the Farwell Trust company. He becomes a member of the advisory board.

The McCoy Public Securities company with its $20,000,000 capital ought to make matters lively in the local field. It is the fourth concern of its kind with headquarters in this territory, there being besides it the Farwell Trust company, Stone & Webster, and H. M. Byllesby & Co. While the McCoy company has a total capital of $20,000,000 authorized, only $10,000,000 is to be paid for, according to the prospectus. The other $10,000,000 will be divided up into $4,000,000 bonus and $6,000,000 for the promoters, of which latter $2,000,000 of second preferred carries control of the board of directors. By this arrangement the organizers of the company are sure to control, regardless of what the remaining $18,000,000 of stock may vote. However, the fact that $2,000,000 carries control is plainly stated in the prospectus and the blank applications for subscriptions which have been mailed to prospective subscribers. Mr. McCoy, as the organizer of the company, has only protected himself against future contingencies.

Boston and Montana Annual.

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Boston and Montana Consolidated Copper and Silver Mining company in Butte, Mont., the following were elected directors:

Sidney Chase, Boston; Frederick P. Addicks, New York; John D. Ryan, Butte; Benjamin B. Thayer, New Rochelle, N. Y.; David B. Hennessy, Belleport, N. Y. All the old directors were reëlected except A. B. Grafius, New York, who retired, Mr. Addicks taking his place on the board.

Of 150,000 shares of stock of the company 149,470 were voted at the meeting.

Dividends Declared.

The Consolidated Gas company declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1 per cent, payable June 15 to stock of record May 18.

The Norfolk and Western railway company declared the usual quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent on its common stock, payable June 7 to stock of record May 31.

The American Steel Foundries company has declared an initial quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent, payable May 14. Books close May 7 and reopen May 16.

No Money for Markets.

Henry C. Hackney has returned from New York.

"I talked with a good many bankers and brokers there," he said, "and they did not see where the money was to come from to run a bull market."

General Financial News.

It is announced from Pittsburg that negotiations will be closed within a few days whereby the Oklahoma Natural Gas company and the Kansas Natural Gas company have agreed to enter into a deal by which the Oklahoma company will sell to the Kansas company from 40,000,000 to 50,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day for 3½ cents per 1,000 cubic feet at the well during a period of five years.

Wall street began talking of 7 per cent on the common stock of the steel corporation. Nevertheless the shares went off with the rest of the market. The stock lost about five points on the actual increase in the rate from 4 to 5 per cent. The 7 per cent gossip was regarded as being largely for market purposes.

The board of directors of the Norfolk and Western elected J. B. Thayer of the Pennsylvania railroad company as director, to succeed Levi C. Weir, deceased.

SALARY LOANS.

NO RED TAPE.
NO EMBARRASSING INQUIRIES.
CONFIDENTIAL.
NO INDORSER OR MORTGAGE.
PAYMENTS TO SUIT.

We do a straight, legitimate loan business, dealing only with the BETTER CLASS OF MEN and WOMEN, and can afford to make the LOWEST and BEST TERMS. No "banking," "merchandising," "insurance," or other scheme tacked on to swell the cost to borrowers.

We state from the start just what a loan will cost, and there are no notary's fees, charges for papers, or investigating, interest added or deducted, or other extras twisted in on customers when they come to the point of getting their money. They get the full amount they ask for, too.

While we prefer the large loans, we treat the applicant for a small loan with the same consideration accorded to those who borrow $500 or more.

Our facilities for dealing with the class we cater to are ideal. Our money is no better than that of others, but there's a difference; you'll see it.

of honest intentions are entitled to the same consideration [in accordance with their ability to repay] as the big bank customers. This was the idea of the financial promoters in establishing this ASSOCIATION.

You will find a marked difference in our system and rates and those of the LOAN COMPANIES.

NO MORTGAGE—NO DELAY.

You can get this money ANY DAY YOU WANT IT. We are here to ACCOMMODATE.

You can repay us at any time, and YOU ARE CHARGED ONLY FOR THE ACTUAL TIME YOU HAVE THE MONEY.

Phone Central 3436.

I APPRECIATE ACCOUNTS OF HONORABLE people [men employed or in business, ladies with allowances from their husbands, or incomes from other sources] who want large or small sums, confidentially, with or without security. My location [30 min. from loop district], and my being the president of a large wholesale vehicle establishment [Bradstreet's and other agencies show its standing], and not a professional money lender, assures a privacy not possible to those who deal with brokers in downtown office buildings where money lenders congregate. My customer's name and address are known only to me; my employes know accounts only by serial number. Professional lenders demand high rates, usually asking so much that the average straightforward citizen realizes that exorbitant charges for any time are burdensome. My average price, all charges positively included, is never more than 1, 2, or 3 per cent monthly, often less, depending on risk and amount loaned. Individual waiting rooms. Ask for WILLCOXE, care the Englewood Co., 1101-1103 E. 63d-st., corner Greenwood-av. Telephone Hyde Park 4333.

BANKERS TO THE PEOPLE—
YOU CAN borrow money of us in small sums as well as large. Men and women employed—business men, too—we give you the fairest terms in Chicago. LADIES of reputable family may EASILY BORROW on their own name and promise. Twelve years established. Close to State-st. stores. Our interest is 6 per cent per year. All our charges included are within the very MINIMUM WHICH YOUR PERSONALITY FIXES and consistent with justice. Straightforward and courteously we offer money to any MAN or WOMAN of honorable intention of repayment, with or without security. Tel. Central 7054 or call. Private office [also ladies' room] connected with banking room.
